RED CHINA BRANDS TITO TRAITOR AND TURNCOAT

BEIJING (Reuters) — Communist China today lashed out at President Tito of Yugoslavia as a "traitor" and "turncoat."

The People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, said Tito's claim that Yugoslavia wants to avoid splitting the world into two camps sounds like "the voice of a traitor."

THE DROOP LOOK

Lackadaisical Balloons Set Fashion Trend

Interest in Victoria's centennial balloons is ballooning... even if the balloons aren't.

Wednesday the Times launched a contest asking for suggestions from citizens on what to do with the mainly-deflated street decorations which were purchased through B.C. house in London for $6,000 plus cost of transportation here, and of putting, and keeping, them up.

City merchants footed the bill. First entry in the Times contest was from Lorne Elves, 737 Bank Street, who has a keen eye for current fashions, and believes one picture does the work of 10,000 words—as his drawing above indicates.

MEETING TONIGHT

On the more serious side of the ledger, Greater Victoria centennial committee will meet tonight to decide the fate of the decorations, which are often down even when they are up.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today he favored selling them, because repairs would cost too much money.

He said city engineer J. C. Garnett informed him it would cost $5,000 to buy new bladders to keep them inflated, and that it would take 45 days to deliver them here.

"They would get here too late for the visit of Princess Margaret," the mayor said.

"I'm told there is a party interested in buying the balloons," he added. "More suitable decorations could be bought with the money."

Mr. Garnett said the present bladders are too thin to stand the heat of the sun.

But Cyril Cliff, 1561 Burnside Road, believes he has a constructive solution to the problem.

"If they are inflated with helium gas instead of air, the balloons won't go down," he said today.

"Helium is taken from the sun, and the sun, in some mysterious manner, can't have any effect on itself."

The Times Contest, incidentally, is still open.

It is hoped the first prize for the best balloon suggestion will be, of course, a balloon—if the committee can donate one.

NEW LEBANON BATTLE

Rebels May Hit Before UN Acts

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Cairo Radio reported today that "strong" rebel forces were marching on the port city of Tripoli and the Lebanese government braced itself for fierce new attacks before the United Nations can act in the current crisis.

The Associated Press reported today that hard fighting raged for four hours in Tripoli and at least six persons were killed and 20 injured.

Shooting broke out late Wednesday between the rebels and the army on the edges of Beirut's rebel-held Basta quarter just a few hours after UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld took off for New York and meetings with the Security Council.

Government sources expressed fear the rebel attacks were simply a test of army strength, perhaps for larger attacks later. They said the rebel offensive against pro-Western President Camille Chamoun could come today, start of the Moslem feast of Abha.

Cairo broadcasts said two anti-government units were on the move toward Tripoli—where the anti-government movement began nearly two months ago—and that they were meeting with no resistance. It quoted rebel leader Rashid Karami in Tripoli as saying "final victory is at hand."

Rebel forces in Tripoli have demanded the surrender of the American hospital there, but George Azar, a Lebanese doctor on duty there, said it would not be given up. All Americans have left but 15 soldiers are on guard.

The rebels tried to take the hospital in a brief fight Wednesday night. No one was hurt.

UN ACTION AWAITED

Other major Lebanese developments:

● The U.S. Sixth Fleet, fully manned and 50 per cent above normal strength, was believed poised to supply the initial American portion of any UN military force sent into Lebanon. The fleet, which now has three aircraft carriers, has an amphibious force of 3,500 marines.

● The Soviet Union stepped up its propaganda campaign against U.S. "intervention" and called it "part of a broad plan for complicating the international situation by interfering in the internal affairs of other countries and attacking the national liberation movements of the Afro-Asian peoples."

● The British government was reported keeping open the possibility of British military intervention in Lebanon if the Chamoun government requests it. Such help would be given only under the United Nations charter. Britain has 6,000 paratroops on Cyprus.

● The U.S. state department said it expected the United Nations to succeed in preserving Lebanon's independence but refused to say what would happen if the UN failed. A spokesman brushed aside suggestions that sending in a UN police force would amount to "aggression."

Boats Hunt Lost Diver

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of three skin divers searching the scene of the June 17 collapse of the new Second Narrows Bridge was missing today and feared drowned. Identity of the man was not disclosed.

The frogmen were searching for the bodies of two of the 18 victims of the collapse of the partially completed bridge when one of them failed to surface on schedule at 11:30 a.m.

Tugs and other boats immediately began a search of the water east of the bridge, and an RCAF search-and-rescue unit dispatched an Otter aircraft to the scene.

82 Per Cent Of Loggers Vote Strike

A strike that would tie up B.C.'s big coast forest industry moved a step closer today when it was announced International Woodworkers of America members have voted 82 per cent in favor of strike action in a union-taken vote.

Next step will be a government-supervised strike vote under the Labor Relations Act which will start Friday.

The union vote empowers the executive to call a strike if negotiations with the lumber operators are not reopened.

The IWA has rejected a conciliation board majority report recommending against any wage increase this year.

The vote in the Victoria local 1-118 was 92 per cent in favor of striking if necessary.

FIR GIVES WARNING

Forest-Industrial Relations Ltd., bargaining body for the employers, today warned it would not back down.

An FIR bulletin issued to all workers states:

"Not in any way as a threat, but as a simple statement of fact to which you as an employee are entitled, the industry wants you to know that if it will stand by the recommendations of the board."

"Therefore a strike vote this year will not strengthen your negotiating committee to carry on last-minute bargaining."

The bulletin was released today by J. M. Billings, FIR president, at Vancouver.

The forest operators' letter was described today by Fred Fieber, secretary of the union's district policy committee, as an attempt to "stampede" the woodworkers into refusing to strike.

Mr. Fieber said it indicated the employers are "shaking a big stick" at the IWA.

Strike action would mean work stoppage by 28,000 coast lumber workers. The union has asked a 10 per cent wage increase. Basic rate now is $1.72 an hour.

Bank Bandits Get $12,000 At Terrace

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Two young men held up a Royal Bank of Canada branch here today and escaped with an estimated $12,000.

RCMP said they believed the bandits were hiding out in a heavily wooded area about three-quarters of a mile south of this northern B.C. city.

A posse was searching the area and a private airplane flew overhead in hopes of spotting the wanted men.

The men were reported to have smashed a rear window to escape from the bank after obtaining the money. They then fled on foot down an alley and across the Canadian National Railway tracks to the wooded area.

Citizens and members of the Terrace volunteer fire department joined RCMP in forming a posse which quickly went in pursuit of the holdup men. They were reported to have found a revolver in the area being searched.

CYPRUS PLAN 'LAST CHANCE'

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today described her new Cyprus plan as possibly the last chance to "heal a wound impoverishing the free world."

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd offered this description at the start of a debate in the House of Commons.

Atom Parley On Russians or Not

(From Times News Service)

WASHINGTON—The United States informed Russia today that so far as the Western allies are concerned the projected July 1 conference at Geneva on nuclear tests detection problems "will proceed as agreed."

A note delivered on orders of President Eisenhower also advised the Soviet government—following Wednesday's Russian turnabout—that "the United States considers the aims of the conference" to be precisely what Moscow and Washington already have agreed on.

The U.S. note was delivered by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow today.

Releasing the text here, state department spokesman Lincoln White announced that the U.S. delegates for the Geneva conference were leaving from New York for Geneva in mid-afternoon.

Britain, too, will continue preparations for East-West talks in Geneva next week on policing a nuclear-test ban despite Soviet threats to withdraw, a foreign office spokesman said in London.

The spokesman said the talks are "necessary and we want them to be successful."

And Gen. Charles de Gaulle's to send technical experts to the talks.

Meanwhile, informed diplomats believed today that objections by Red China may have forced Russia's sudden withdrawal from the conference.

Today, the Soviet Union loosed a new blast, accusing the United Nations of being a tool in the hands of the United States and an organization that merely recorded passive events.

The attack strengthened Western fears the cold war had entered a new phase with the tactics of the late Josef Stalin taking over again in international diplomacy.

Speculation that Red China had objected strenuously to the Geneva meeting arose partly because Red China had not been invited to participate in the conference.

Forest Travel Ban Likely Lifted Today

It is almost certain a travel ban in the Vancouver Forest District will be lifted later today or Friday, a government forestry official said today.

"The situation looks hopeful. If the overcast continues, travel restrictions will almost certainly be removed. Restricted industrial closure is expected to remain in effect, however," he stated.

The industrial restrictions require that men may only be employed in forest industries in the woods between midnight and 1 p.m. daily.

Vancouver Island and Vancouver Forest District generally has had 48 hours of scattered rain. Both Comox Logging Company and MacMillan and Bloedel have returned all but a few of their logging crews back to work on the early shift.

There are still eight fires burning in the Vancouver Forest District, including a new one in the Fraser Valley which was started by lightning, but all are under control. The largest fire, at Gold River on the island, is reported "quiet" and the sky overcast in the vicinity.

Prince George Fire District, most seriously hit by forest fires this year, received a slight amount of aid from scattered light rains. Fairly heavy rains fell in the Lower Post region near the Yukon border but the major blaze in that area is still uncontrolled on three sides.

WIRE BRIEFS

Israel-Syria Clash

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—An Israeli patrol and a group of Syrians exchanged fire near the Dan settlement in northeast Israel, an Israeli spokesman said today. One Israeli was reported slightly wounded.

Little Rock Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today was asked to hold a special session to rule on a lower court order delaying school integration in Little Rock, Ark., for 2½ years.

Huge Halibut Haul

VANCOUVER (CP)—The biggest catch of halibut since the schooner days was being unloaded here Thursday from the hold of the Silver Viking II. The nine-man crew will get $3,000 each for the 172,000-pound haul.

Death Sentence

BARRINGTON, N.S. (UPI)—Robert Boudreau, 16, today was convicted and sentenced to be hanged Sept. 4 for the murder of Wilfred Crouse Jr., March 14. Saturday, 17-year-old Eugene Blades was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on the same date for his part in the slaying.

TWO TOWNS DAMAGED

Baby Twisters Slap Ontario

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two pocket tornadoes crashed into two towns in the Windsor district Wednesday. There were no injuries, but damage was counted in the hundreds of thousands.

The first hit La Salle, eight miles southwest of here, in early afternoon. Hundreds watched it tear up trees, toss roofs about and damage greenhouses.

The second struck later at Leamington, 34 miles southeast of here, and caused damage of more than $50,000 to one of the largest groups of greenhouses in Canada.

Torrential rains and 65-mile-an-hour winds that accompanied the twisters were believed to have caused heavy crop damage, but no official estimates were made.

Sam Shostack, owner of the Leamington greenhouses, said half the roof of a service station smashed through nine of his 21 greenhouses. Others were damaged by hail. The remaining half of the roof landed in a cemetery adjoining his property.

The La Salle tornado capsized several boats, felled trees and threw one boat the equivalent of three city blocks. One resident said the boat was hurled over a house before it crashed down on Highway 18.

The town, despite memories of a tornado which on June 17, 1946, killed 17, injured an equal number and did millions of dollars damage, took the tornado in its stride.

School children were ordered into basements. Those on the streets hurried into shops.

A number of residents in streets and cars fled to ditches when they saw the three-pronged twister, but civil defence authorities said most remained calm.

Only one prong touched the ground. It curved out from the Detroit River and back again, skipping at rooftop level over the town's outskirts.

Defence Lawyers Launch New Bid To Quash Charges

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—"Fire when ready," said Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson at noon today to start four days of legal argument on whether the Sommers case should be thrown out.

The debate, involving two alternative moves by the defence to quash the charges or dismiss the case for want of evidence, started after Judge Wilson ruled that 24 amended counts alleging specific acts of bribery would stand. A count of conspiracy was upheld Wednesday.

Jurors were excused until 11 a.m. Thursday next week as the debate was expected to run through today, Friday, Monday and Wednesday. However, jurors were told they could listen in if they wished. None stayed.

In today's ruling on the amended counts, Judge Wilson held that the switch from the new Criminal Code to the old one, in effect at the time of the alleged offences, was permissible.

The old code carried a two-year time limit which defence counsel argued. Wednesday Judge Wilson barred the Crown from making the amendments because the time already had elapsed.

In a written ruling, Judge Wilson agreed with the prosecution contention that the time limit was a matter of procedure only—that is, it governed the method of presenting the case and had no effect on the substance (or guilt or innocence) of the case.

"I can see no answer to the arguments of crown counsel. Therefore all amendments asked for by the crown are allowed," the ruling said.

Valid Under New Criminal Code

It continued that the transition section of the new code, which carries no time limits, was applicable.

"The procedural law created by the new code shall govern. The substantive law remains intact, the procedural is altered."

In verbal comments, Judge Wilson said he would be willing to reconsider his ruling if necessary at a later time. He also told the jury that the switch made no change in the evidence presented during the trial, now in its 32nd day.

"This is one ruling that I have made in this trial which, though I am compelled by the law, I do not like," he said as the written ruling was distributed among lawyers.

"But I am not afraid to reverse myself and if in the later stages of this trial I see some aspect that affects it and I am wrong I will say so."

"I am not apologizing. I am bound by the law."

Willing to Reconsider Ruling

Judge Wilson said he had no doubts that his ruling was the correct one "but it is the sort of thing that I am willing to reconsider if necessary."

After a 10-minute adjournment, Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer formally closed his case against defendants Robert Sommers, John and H. W. Gray, Charles Schultz, B.C. Forest Products Ltd., C. D. Schultz Ltd., Pacific Coast Services and Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd.

All four accused men read the written ruling avidly and returned to the dock with expressionless faces.

Addressing the jury to explain what happened as a result of a day-long legal debate Wednesday which the jurors missed at their own wish, Judge Wilson said the original charges were "wrongly laid" under the new code.

"The present condition is this: although we are confronted with new charges, all the evidence you have heard so far is still applicable."

"These new charges are like the original charges, substantially charges of corruption and bribery."

"Insofar as you are concerned, it makes little difference because all the evidence you have heard is relevant."

'When Will It Be Over'

Allowing the jurors the option of leaving until Thursday, Judge Wilson told them, "I'm sure you are wondering when this will be over."

"I'm doing my best. I'm sorry for you but you also might be sorry for me because I am not having any holiday."

Turning to defence counsel after the jury filed out, Judge Wilson said "Fire when ready."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Oh Thou in whom history itself must have its final meaning, we pray for a deeper understanding among Thy children of earth. May they discover one another in the light of a fuller understanding of Thyself and Thy purpose. May they come to know the love of God that is greater than the measure of man's mind. May the peoples of this world more and more become concerned for the good of all peoples. And may none demand for himself that which he is unwilling to accord to others; in Christ's name. Amen.

Angelo Branca, counsel for Sommers, was the first to launch a motion to quash the case on the grounds of a defective charge.

Earlier, defence counsel had indicated their stand will be that under the old code section, the bribery charges can only be preferred in the case of a government "official" or employee. Defence lawyers have suggested this did not cover Sommers as the former lands and forests minister.

After disposal of the argument on the motion to quash (if it is rejected by Judge Wilson), the defence lawyers will take another legal tack open to them on closing of the Crown's case.

This is a motion to dismiss all or some of the counts on the grounds of insufficient evidence. In effect, the argument will be that the case should be taken away from the jury and dismissed by the bench because there is no evidence of an offence.

Mediator Consults CPR and Unions

Federal mediator Eric Taylor hoped to meet this afternoon in Vancouver with representatives of both sides in the CPR ship-ping strike.

The meeting was to be the first known conference of the mediator and union and company officials since Mr. Taylor was appointed.

This morning Mr. Taylor met with CPR officials. Outcome of the meeting was not made public at press time.

Monday, Mr. Taylor announced he was returning immediately to Ottawa. His decision to remain for further talks indicates a further step may be taken toward ending the six-week-old strike of Seamen's International Union members.

"FLAT OUT" Prior to the meeting with CPR officials today, Mr. Taylor said he was going "flat out" for settlement.

He reaffirmed July 1 as a target date for steaming-up 10 "Princess" vessels, which are now out of service.

"Any arrangement, no matter how novel, which results in getting the boats running, will be explored," he said. At present the company and unions are far apart. The union has asked a 25 per cent increase over two years, while the company has offered eight per cent.

Mr. Taylor met Wednesday with union officials, including representatives of The Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the National Association of Marine Engineers.

The two professional guilds began a strike against the CPR

Tuesday, the same day they were to strike against Black Ball Ferries.

The latter strike was averted when the B.C. government declared an emergency would result if both major shipping lines serving Vancouver Island were out of operation. To avoid this, under power of the Civil Defence Act, the government took over operations of the Black Ball Line. The striking employees were enlisted to operate the service until settlement of negotiations.

SUPPORT PROMISED The Merchant Service Guild and the Marine Engineers are asking a 15 per cent increase over two years, from both CPR and Black Ball lines. Both companies have offered eight per cent.

Observers believe if any settlement is reached with the CPR, the unions would be willing to settle on the same basis with Black Ball.

Mr. Taylor said Wednesday he would support any move toward a temporary agreement.

"There are various ways of escape open to both parties. It's up to them to decide," he said.

Five Hurt As Plane Crashes In Field

MONTREAL (CP)—Five persons were injured, three seriously, Wednesday night when a twin-engine Grumman Goose amphibian plane plunged into a barren field two miles from Montreal airport.

Names of the injured were not immediately released.

HERE 60 YEARS

Famed Singer Gideon Hicks 90 This Week

Gideon Hicks, for many years an outstanding personality in Victoria's musical community, celebrated his 90th birthday at his home, 1520 Cold Harbor Road, this week.

He was distinguished as teacher, choir conductor and singer.

Born in Cornwall, Eng., Mr. Hicks came to Victoria in 1898 and became choir leader at the Metropolitan Church.

For nine years he conducted the Metropolitan choir as well as the Victoria Choral Society, presenting many fine oratorios and frequently singing the bass solos.

In 1902 he conducted the first Victoria performance of Haydn's "Creation." Many internationally famous soloists sang in oratorios he conducted, including Madame Albani and Watkin Mills.

For more than 40 years Mr. Hicks was in great demand as a soloist, appearing in many cities of western Canada and the United States. One of his last appearances was as soloist in a Red Cross performance of The Messiah in North Vancouver during the Second World War.

In 1920 Mr. Hicks resigned his position as Victoria manager for the Heintzman Piano Co. in Victoria to devote his whole time to teaching and singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks retired to Metehos in 1949.

CANADA'S 'HAPPY WARRIOR' UP FOR SALE BY ROYAL NAVY

OTTAWA (CP)—Warrior, one of six Royal Navy aircraft carriers up for disposal, was known to Canadian sailors as "the happy Warrior."

"She was a happy ship," a navy man recalled today.

The Warrior was commissioned in the Canadian Navy, on loan from the Royal Navy, early in 1946. It was returned to the RN in 1948, to be replaced by HMCS Magnificent.

Canada's first all-Canadian aircraft carrier, the Warrior made training cruises to the Canadian west coast via the Panama Canal and to Hudson Strait. In London Wednesday night, the Warrior was listed as one of six RN aircraft carriers slated to be sold or scrapped as outmoded. The others are the Unicorn, Perseus, Theseus, Ocean and Glory.

Dial Phones, City Rates For Saanich Peninsula

Telephone officials will meet this week and next with municipal and other public bodies in the Sidney and Keating telephone exchange areas to discuss the matter of including the whole Saanich peninsula in Greater Victoria's "free calling" area.

E. L. Mallett, division commercial manager, and J. A. Mackintosh, district commercial manager, will meet with the Sidney Village Commission, the Central Saanich Council and other interested groups, such as chambers of commerce, to outline the telephone company's proposals.

These proposals, briefly, are as follows:

When Sidney and Keating exchanges "go dial" early next year, subscribers in the areas would pay the same rates as subscribers in Victoria, Albion, Belmont and Colquitz, and would be able to dial, free of charge, any number in the whole area. The reverse would also be true, whereby all Victoria telephone subscribers would have free access to all Sidney and Keating telephones.

It would not be necessary to call an operator to complete the call, as the subscriber would dial the number himself.

This arrangement, according to Mr. Mallett, is exactly the same as that which went into effect when Albion, Belmont and Colquitz manual exchanges were converted to automatic operation several years ago.

'Copter Trying Rescue of Hurt, Old Prospector

An RCAF Air-Sea Rescue team from Sea Island today was probing mountainous country west of Zeballos to give aid to Samuel Norman Ray, injured 74-year-old prospector.

With Ray are members of a ground party that went in search of him after he had been reported missing Sunday. At that time it was noted that he had not been at his camp since June 12.

The land rescue party, that includes a doctor, found he had suffered serious but undetermined injuries in a fall into a canyon.

APPEAL SENT

Deciding he was too badly hurt to be moved by land, he was taken from the canyon to a temporary shelter, and word was sent to Zeballos for assistance in flying him out.

Air-Sea Rescue sent a helicopter and Canso flying boat away from Sea Island at 8 a.m. Schedule called for the helicopter to return at Zeballos, then find its way to the injured man and his rescuers.

He will be taken to Zeballos, transferred to the Canso, and then taken to hospital either at Port Alberni or Vancouver, depending on the extent of his injuries and treatment required.

Full Govt. Control Of CNR Urged By Tory

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Canadian National Railways should be brought under full parliamentary control to show "some improvement" in its operations, the House heard Wednesday.

Orville Phillips (PC, Prince P.E.I.) said he was "rather tired" of these stock answers that the CNR was independent.

Complaints from the public passed on to MPs met a "blank wall" when referred to the CNR, he said.

Oil Pipeline to Montreal Under Study

Government experts are studying the economics and the possibilities of a crude oil pipeline to Montreal refineries.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, giving the first official indication of this, said Wednesday the question is always receiving the attention and the consideration of federal and provincial experts.

"When a decision is arrived at, the House of course will be made aware of it," he added in a reply to Hazen Argue, CCF House leader. However, he gave no hint of what the government's decision might be.

Mr. Argue had asked whether the government is planning action in the light of cuts in shipments of Canadian crude to the northwestern United States. Shell Oil and McColl-Frontenac have announced they plan to reduce Canadian imports to

Re-Introduce Humane Slaughtering Bill

A government measure aimed at strengthening the law on humane slaughtering of food animals was re-introduced Wednesday by Justice Minister Fulton.

It is drawn in somewhat stricter terms than a similar bill which was introduced last session and then allowed to stand to permit representations to the government from various interests.

Mr. Fulton said he believes the changes will make the bill "more effective to accomplish its objective."

Like the first bill, it stipulates that animals being slaughtered must be killed instantaneously and must first be "rendered unconscious by a humane method."

The new bill, however, adds that animals which are "prepared for slaughter" must also be rendered unconscious humanely.

Preparation for slaughter includes shackling, hoisting, hanging, cutting, bleeding or scalding.

It specifies one exemption, however: that the bill does not apply where food animals are slaughtered in accordance with religious ritual. Justice department officials have said this provision would cover kosher preparation of meat according to Jewish tradition.

The government intends at "a later date" to refer the Canada Elections Act to a Commons committee for study, State Secretary Courtmanche said Wednesday.

He was replying to Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) who asked whether the government would refer the act to the Commons elections committee, in

Mac—de Gaulle Talks To Cover Wide Field

LONDON (Reuters) — Final arrangements were made Wednesday for Prime Minister Macmillan's personal talks in Paris Sunday with French Premier Charles de Gaulle.

An authoritative source close to Macmillan said the talks will be "an exercise in personal relations."

French Ambassador Jean Chauvel called on Foreign Secretary Lloyd here Wednesday to make the arrangements. Lloyd will fly to Paris with Macmillan.

Later it was learned Macmillan and de Gaulle plan to discuss summit talks, NATO, disarmament, Lebanon's civil war, the North African situation and the proposed European free trade area.

The British prime minister, who worked closely with de Gaulle in North Africa during the war, will be the first important foreign statesman to confer with the general since his investiture at the beginning of this month.

Federal Servants Under Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — Scottish-born Stewart Bates, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, has caused quite a stir with his staff cuts.

In an appearance last week before the Senate finance committee, he said he cut the staff of the Crown-owned company from 2,300 to 1,800 in two years in the interest of "efficiency and economy."

Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur) said Wednesday in the Commons Mr. Bates' statements have raised "serious implications of feather-bedding" in the civil service.

Staff cuts by the agency, which operates outside the civil service, will be the subject of a three-day meeting of the Civil Service Federation's 50-member national council here July 35.

W. K. Easter, press liaison of would top a list of complaints for discussion then.

Mr. Easter said the federation is also worried about defence department staff cuts but the main worry is the CMHC reduction.

The work of federal civil servants also came in for criticism Tuesday at a meeting of the Commons railway committee.

Jack Wratten (PC-Brantford) said he has watched civil servants in their offices and "a lot of them are not working."

Outside the committee, William Bagnato, secretary-treasurer of the federation, commented: "I think Mr. Wratten is being a little facetious. Civil servants are a hard-working, energetic group of employees."

A new abbatoir planned at Capetown, South Africa, in 1958, was estimated to cost more than £1,000,000.

The Changing Map

THE FLUID POLITICAL MAP of Canada has been changed again by the arrival of a Conservative Government in Manitoba under an able young leader, Mr. Duff Roblin.

That leaves the Liberal Party confined in power to two small provinces, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island. The Conservative Party effectively controls five provinces (for the Union Nationale of Quebec is only a native Conservative version) and thus administers the affairs of a large majority of Canadians.

The latest addition to that vast territory was properly conceded by Mr. Campbell, the veteran premier of Manitoba. Apparently he had toyed with the possibility of maintaining a minority government with unreliable CCF support but he was wise to reject that temptation.

Such a government might have survived temporarily, at the constant peril of defeat in the legislature, but it would have been a poor sort of government and it would have denied the obvious will of the electors.

They did not give Mr. Roblin a majority of seats, only the largest group, but they certainly rejected the Campbell Government. If it had continued in office under these conditions the Government might have technically obeyed the constitution but it would have denied the public will.

The future of the Roblin Government, however, is precarious. It cannot continue long as the prisoner of the CCF, which, holding a balance of power, is even more opposed to the Conservative than to the Liberal Party. Hence another election can hardly be avoided in the near future.

The parallel between Mr. Roblin's position today and that of Mr. Mackenzie King, the classic constitutional crisis of 1926, is almost exact, but not quite.

Mr. King had less supporters in Parliament than Mr. Meighen but he had the tacit guarantee of support from the then powerful Progressive Party and, in several votes of confidence, had demonstrated that he could govern.

Mr. Roblin lacks any guarantee of reliable CCF support. Indeed, he will not be entitled even to secure a dissolution and another election from the Lieutenant-Governor until he has received at least one vote of confidence in the legislature and thus is established constitutionally as the Crown's adviser.

Once he has such a vote he can call an election whenever he chooses. Then, if history is any guide—Mr. King's experience in the 1926 election, for example, and Mr. Diefenbaker's in June, 1957—the electors of Manitoba will make sure that the existing Government is given a working majority. Thus it will be strange if Manitoba is not governed by the Conservative Party for the next four or five years.

It is now clear in retrospect that the great Liberal decline began within provincial politics. The signs of decay should have been obvious to the Liberal leaders in Ottawa when the Union Nationale continued to win elections in Quebec, Ontario re-elected the Frost Government, New Brunswick voted Conservative, followed by Nova Scotia. The destruction of the St. Laurent ministry started at the grass roots. And it is at the grass roots that the repair of Liberalism must be undertaken.

This evidently is clear to Mr. Pearson, who expects no miracles or any easy route to power. In a significant decision he agreed to release Mr. Lesage from his scanty front benches to become provincial Liberal leader in Quebec, where a Liberal revival is now under way.

Since Mr. Duplessis is in serious trouble, and characteristically denying it, French Canada is likely to become the next important test of national sentiment.

How powerful is Mr. Diefenbaker's prestige, how durable the coat tails that have now carried Mr. Roblin, by a narrow squeeze, to office? That question will arise not only in Quebec, the second province, but in British Columbia, the third, where Mr. Bennett plans an election in 1960 but no doubt will call it earlier if the chances look good.

The nation faces a series of provincial elections during the next year or two which will have profound effects, one way or the other, on the federal election of 1962. The Liberal Party will need all of the four intervening years to re-build itself, and its work, to be successful, must start at the grass roots.

Easily Recognizable

EAST GERMANY'S DETENTION of nine American Army men whose helicopter was grounded by a storm on the wrong side of the border is an obvious attempt at blackmail. U.S. State Secretary Foster Dulles' description of the incident as a "kidnapping" is very close to the truth.

When the men were reported missing United States authorities immediately appealed to Russian officials for their release. The Russians replied that the matter would have to be taken up with East German officials, and East Germany announced that no release could be contemplated unless the U.S. approached the East German regime as the proper authority.

The men's plight, of course, was being made a lever for American recognition of the East German "government." That administration is still regarded in the West as merely a Russian agency, maintained to govern a country still under Soviet occupation. The regime is headed by Walter Ulbricht, who is a Soviet citizen and a colonel in the Soviet Army.

Washington indicates that it will dicker with the East German regime, but not as a sovereign government. It will negotiate, despite the provocative East German attitude, because in the West men's lives are more important than protocol and ideological manoeuvring. That is a concept difficult for any Communist governing body to understand.

As a result of this latest form of blackmail the East German regime will be recognized, all right—recognized for what it is.

Lifeguard at the Beach

AS A SAFETY MEASURE, THE city parks department is considering a lifeguard for at least one of its beaches.

The plan is one which might arouse the interest of adjacent municipalities whose bays draw hundreds of bathers and children during the hot summer days.

By unusually good fortune, this community has largely avoided accidents at the seashore in recent years. With a larger population, however, and with continually increasing newcomers arriving here and going to the beaches, the possibility of trouble is multiplied.

Reports are not uncommon of small boys being helped from the water when they have fallen off log rafts. Because we have escaped tragedy among youngsters at the seashore we cannot consider ourselves immune from risk.

At the same time, if the city is to engage a lifeguard, it would be wise to hire one who not only keeps an eye on the youngsters, ready to give them assistance if they encounter difficulties, but one who can carry out water-safety education and encourage non-swimmers to learn to swim.

Many years ago the Kiwanis Club of Victoria sponsored an instructor and lifeguard at local beaches. Although the chill of the water discouraged many children, he was able to assist a number to become proficient in that element and added materially to the sense of security enjoyed by parents whose youngsters frequent the bays hereabouts.

Proud of Our Parks

REPORTS OF VANDALISM AT John Dean Park, distressing as they are, serve to emphasize the comparative freedom British Columbia enjoys from such wanton damage.

Inevitably some individuals visiting these recreation spots will cause a certain amount of destruction. Some people are made that way. But, by and large, the people of this province and visitors who join them in trips to the parks respect the work done by provincial employees and the conveniences provided for the public.

By comparison with parks in other sections of the continent the amount of wilful damage is small. It should be non-existent, but authorities see complete freedom from senseless destruction as a utopian ideal only.

What has occurred at John Dean, however, should alert both the officials and the public to a possibly dangerous trend. The quicker it is checked, the better.

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

A Nap in Madrid

IN the Hudson's Bay Company's unique publication, "The Beaver," Mr. B. A. McKelvie, that scholarly historian of the far west, tells a fascinating story which seems somehow to have escaped the other historians. Like so many other adventures that shaped Canada, Mr. McKelvie's episode is pure accident, and a lucky one for us. It deserves to be remembered in a centennial year when, for the first time, British Columbia is suddenly becoming aware of its long-neglected history as the pawn of world-wide imperial pressures, often the victim of chance but usually the beneficiary of luck.

Hutchison

EVERY school boy knows, or should know (if we ever get around to teaching our children their nation's history) that Britain and Spain almost came to war over the possession of Vancouver Island toward the end of the eighteenth century. The island was a great prize then, solely because it contained, on land and water, the animal pelts favored by fashionable classes in Europe and Asia. After the usual excursions and alarms, the ponderous diplomacy of the European chancelleries and the conventional gestures of war, Britain and Spain agreed to occupy the island jointly, both of them being thoroughly engaged at the moment with an alarming young artillery officer from Corsica.

IN 1819, as Mr. McKelvie recalls, the United States bought Florida from Spain and the sale included "all rights, claims and pretensions West of the Mississippi River and North of Latitude 42 degrees."

Obviously, then, Spain's rights on the island were inherited by the young American Republic, which was soon hungering for the whole Pacific coast and, in the remoteness of President Polk, announced the doctrine of "Fifty-Four Forty, or Fight."

Oddly enough, however, the American government completely forgot, in demanding the Oregon Territory, that it actually possessed a title of sorts to Vancouver Island—the right at least to occupy it jointly with Britain.

Mr. McKelvie has gone very deeply into these mysterious affairs and finds that some American officials had done their homework.

In 1843, when the Oregon boundary dispute was pushing Britain and the United States toward war, the American ambassador to London, Mr. Edward Everett, suddenly received an inspiration. Remembering vaguely that Spain had sold its northern assets to the United States, Mr. Everett wrote to the American ambassador in Madrid and asked him to check into these forgotten records.

At that time the ambassador in Madrid was no less a personage than Mr.

Washington Irving, evidently a better author than a diplomat. Mr. Irving, the author of "Rip Van Winkle," that immortal sleeper, also dozed in the genial climate of Spain. He didn't bother to check the records.

As a result, the American secretary of state, Mr. James Buchanan, could not play a trump card in the Oregon negotiations. The card had been lost in the archives.

ONLY one American statesman fully remembered that card. Senator James C. Calhoun (a great political philosopher whose greatness turned in old age to a bitter southern provincialism) warned the Senate, in the middle of the Oregon crisis, that it faced war with Britain, a war which he regarded as suicidal for his country. And out of his sleeve he produced the old Spanish card.

No one paid any attention to Senator Calhoun. The United States had made up its mind at the last moment to accept the boundary of the 49th Parallel and the Strait of Juan de Fuca. It had abandoned its ambition to extend the parallel straight west and thus to possess the southern half of the island. And so the great crisis of the west was amicably settled and "Fifty-Four Forty or Fight" became only a quaint museum piece.

AS a result, the island belonged to the new nation of Canada. Mr. McKelvie is too good a historian, of course, to argue that the discovery of the lost document would have changed this result, for it hung not on any ancient contract but on the realpolitik, the actual balance of imperial forces in the contemporary world.

Nevertheless, it would have been highly embarrassing to Britain if Mr. Washington Irving in Madrid had not fallen officially asleep like his hero, Mr. Van Winkle.

History, especially Canadian history, is full of these might-have-beens and vagrant chances. They may not affect current life on the island (they don't help us to solve a steamship strike, for example) but they are well worth pursuing and in Mr. McKelvie we have a man who can pursue them, a Sherlock-Holmes of local history, a dedicated islander.

'This Is B.C.'s Show'

CALGARY ALBERTAN

Princess Margaret is coming to this country next month at the invitation of the government of British Columbia to participate in the province's centennial celebrations. How she spends her time in British Columbia is a matter for her and the B.C. authorities. Whether she visits any other province, and for how long, are immaterial. She has no obligations to the rest of Canada. If Ontario, for instance, wants a good deal of her time, let it cook up some celebrations of its own some other time. This is B.C.'s show.

As Our Readers See It

Enslaved

The days of slavery and forced labor that may still exist elsewhere are not known in Canada except for good reasons when a group of convicts are led to work at the penitentiary. We should appreciate more and more the liberties we enjoy here and live up to them.

But we may still be willing slaves to habits such as drinking alcoholic liquors and tobacco smoking whether in pipe, cigar or cigar. Our city firemen will confirm the fact that many house fires are caused by people smoking while lying on a lounge or on retiring to bed. These poor individuals have become such slaves to smoking that they can not go to bed without their cigar or cigar. The forest rangers also tell us that many forest fires result from cigarette stubs thrown out of the car window.

Whatever the advertisers of these tobacco or liquor products may say we should be sensible and never touch their wares and thus avoid no end of trouble. R. E. ROBINSON.

'Battle of Elk Lake'

Upon attending the Saanich Council meeting on June 23, 1958, we received the impression that certain council members appeared to have agreed that power boats and aircraft should be banned from making use of Elk Lake.

We take this opportunity of letting the general public know that property owners in the lake area have been asked their opinion on the matter and it was found that many have no objection to boats and aircraft operating on the lake, and those who object have no active interest in either of the sports involved.

We heartily agree that the existing conditions present a certain hazard, but it does not take a great deal of study to realize that a practical solution can be found by sectioning off areas of the water, thereby allowing swimmers, boats and aircraft to operate in harmony with one another and with a maximum of safety to all concerned.

Workable suggestions have been put forward by certain individuals but have met with strong opposition or passive interest.

Although there is an abundance of fine swimming areas around the Victoria area, Elk Lake remains the last hope for boating enthusiasts and float plane operators.

It should be borne in mind that our tourist trade affects greatly our economy and we ask all far-sighted citizens to realize the great possibilities that Elk Lake presents for a convenient base for visiting aviators who each year become more numerous.

In conclusion, we feel that the relatively small cost involved can be borne by the organizations who are at present most concerned and who have shown a willingness to co-operate with the community.

DAVE SMITH and BOB KNAPP.

Answer, Mr. Bennett?

I have followed with interest and mixed feelings the progress of the ship strike and have formed some opinions.

1. The MLA's meeting with the CPR and union suggested the CPR raise the fares to pay an increase.

2. The Chamber of Commerce group in Vancouver on Saturday, among other recommendations, also suggested the fare be raised.

It is therefore very interesting to note that both groups believe and sanction "aiding and abetting" inflation and are actively supporting this "creeping paralysis."

If the Federal Government steps into the picture and offers to subsidize the service, they also would be a party to inflation.

The Chamber of Commerce is not without fault by any means. Why, has it, as a whole, paid so much "lip service" to a Sidney to Mainland ferry while their members at the same time have been trying to defeat such a move?

This is a democracy so let's leave the business of the CPR's ships to the CPR and the union to its business. We have too much interference in business by all governments—let's not run asking for more.

ROBERT FLEMING.

2490 Sinclair Road.

'Throttling the Island'

From The Vancouver Province

THE Vancouver Island Chambers of Commerce have appealed to the federal and provincial governments to intervene, jointly or separately, to end the tie-up of Canadian Pacific's coast ships. There is no doubt that they speak for virtually everybody on the island.

By now it is accepted as proper that the federal government should act where there is a strike, or the threat of a strike, against the railways. Surely this is in some measure a precedent for at least provincial action in the present case.

It may be argued that Vancouver Island is not isolated — that the Black Ball and Washington State ferries are still running, and that stepped-up TCA services have replaced much of Canadian Pacific's passenger-carrying ship capacity. But the fact remains that the island's economy is suffering great harm.

Its money crop is tourism. A good 95 per cent of today's tourists travel in their own cars. And how many will take the chance of transporting those cars across water when a strike threat hangs over one of the remaining two means of getting them back — with the prospect that the other one might then be jammed beyond capacity?

Nor is it the island alone that suffers. A good proportion of American visitors to British Columbia come for a circle tour of Island and Mainland. Remove the Island from the itinerary, and the whole trip may no longer appear worth while.

This is, after all, our centennial year, in which British Columbia is making a determined effort to attract visitors.

It would be odd if it did not make an equally-determined effort to remove a deterrent to them.

FROM BEIRUT, LEBANON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Voices From Afar

THERE is a troubling central mystery in this desperately dangerous Lebanese situation, which rather urgently demands an explanation. There is this unhappy country, torn by a civil war that was started by the flagrant intervention of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser. Here is the American government, only a little more than 18 months after Suez, solidly committed to land troops in Lebanon if the government of President Camille Chamoun asks for the protection of an Anglo-American landing. No one at home seems to realize it as yet; but this certified cheque that the American and British governments have given to President Chamoun is not unlikely to be cashed in the end.

Dag Hammarskjöld and his UN team have not showed much promise, as yet, of solving the problem here. The Lebanese government has not shown much promise of solving the problem on its own, either. Yet President Chamoun is not ready to surrender to the Nasserites; and he is ready to ask for an Anglo-American military intervention if he has no other alternative.

The American Marines and British paratroopers are now waiting in readiness in the Mediterranean. There is at least a strong possibility that they will have to land in Lebanon, unless President Eisenhower chooses to break his recently reiterated promise to President Chamoun.

Moral Pratings

Remember the moral pratings of the White House at the time of Suez. Remember further that the chief beneficiary of those pratings was the same Gamal Abdel Nasser who is the chief author of the trouble here. That would seem to be mystery enough.

But it is not the whole mystery, all the same. The origin of the commitment to President Chamoun is the other half of the mystery.

The impulse to make this inestimably grave commitment did not come from Beirut. No doubt the Lebanese Government was pleased by the evidence of stout Anglo-American support but it is an open secret that neither the British nor the American embassy here advised that the commitment be made.

Both embassies have sought to delay a call for a landing. Other things being equal, both embassies would prefer the Lebanese to settle their quarrel by a compromise.

If the impulse to promise a troop landing did not come from Beirut then where did it come from? The answer to this question is the solution of the entire mystery.

In brief, every government in this area that is friendly to the West has been bombarding both Washington and London with the most urgent pleas and warnings ever since the Lebanese trouble began.

Nuri Pasha in Iraq has been the most insistent. But the messages have volleyed in from the Turks in Ankara, from the Shah of Iran, from the Western diplomats in the little Jordanian capital of Amman, and even from the Government of Greece.

The substance of all these warnings and pleas has been the same, no matter what their place of origin. If Nasser and his allies succeed in subverting Lebanon's pro-Western government, the warnings have run, then no friend of the West will be safe any longer, anywhere in the whole Middle East.

Precarious Position

The other pro-Western Arab Governments will be the first to go, with Iraq probably in the lead. But after Nasser has triumphed in all the Arab lands, the position of Turkey, and even the position of Greece, will become exceedingly precarious if not altogether untenable.

Such have been the warnings. The pleas have called for Anglo-American action, including even the open use of military force, to prevent a Nasser victory here. Use force if you must, the pleas have run, but stop this threatened chain reaction in the Middle East by any and all means.

This is the kind of situation that American policy-makers ought to have foreseen long before Suez. They should surely have foreseen it, before they took their grandiose moral stand during the Suez crisis. Even more surely, they should have foreseen this situation in the rough course of the past 18 months.

But they did not foresee what was coming. They took no adequate preventive action. Now they are squarely confronted with the consequences of their own improvidence.

Power Play

Already, the consequences are bad enough. Only a few months ago, Nasser drew a bead on another Western friend, King Saud of Saudi Arabia. In the upshot, King Saud was virtually forced to abdicate.

A month ago, Nasser drew a bead on President Chamoun. In the upshot, President Chamoun has already been forced to promise not to be a candidate to succeed himself, as he might otherwise have done.

Politics in the Arab lands are highly personal. By showing his power to pick off individual friends of the West in this manner, Nasser has already achieved much. Let him go on to win a total victory in Lebanon. Then all the voices from afar, warning of a catastrophic and final Western defeat in the Middle East, will surely be proven truly prophetic.

The Launching Pad

I'VE never seen Spring Byington, the 60-plus-but-ever-young heroine of CBS-TV's popular show "December Bride."

But, pop-eyed with amazement, I've just been reading a long news story about what she said in a real-life interview.

"Science really jolts a person into living," hobbled Miss B. "When you think about jets and rockets, time takes on a new meaning. It makes you realize you'd better hurry and do something with your life—or get left behind on the launching pad."

Miss Byington even has a little green felt hat, her "moon hat" she calls it, and she designed it herself for her first trip to the moon.

"I know it's much easier to sit back and let the years roll by," she tells her contemporaries. "But why should I be dull? And why should you be dull? I'll never be stale if I keep my imagination whirling."

Well, I have an imagination, too, and with this material to feed it, my imagination has whirled me to the sort of launching pad scene that Miss Byington appears to have in mind.

I can see it all so clearly. The rocket is shimmering and quivering in the heat, and there's a lot of talk about when the count-down starts.

Naturally, the launching pad area is fenced off. But outside the fence there's plenty of excitement. For this is no ordinary trip. It's a special expedition for "60-plus" women who are determined never to be old or dull. Youthfulness is the watchword, and the atmosphere is one of collective girlish fun. Not a gal among them has ever heard of the dignity or serenity of age. Indeed, their perpetual cry is that they don't feel a day over 20. And, listening to their chatter, it's easy to believe that, mentally, they're not a day over 17.

Miss Byington is there in her little green moon hat, and somehow she makes the whole thing feel as if we were a bunch of girls going off to a convention as delegates from a women's club. Girlish Grannies Inc. Or something of that kind.

"Isn't it fun, girls," she cries. "What could be more stimulating than one's first trip to the moon? Come on, Ruth, if you don't hurry, you'll be left behind on the launching pad."

"I want to be left behind," I mutter. But Spring doesn't hear me.

She's spied the press, and we must all be rounded up to have our pictures taken, and to say something bright for the radio and television boys.

Everyone else is eager to say their bit into the mike. They all sound bright and young and brave and gay.

Only I am glum. "A toin fool idea," I begin to growl, but mercifully the mike is snatched away.

Enough of this, however. It's time we got on the launching pad. You'll see us on the newsreels. Gay, determined, and wonderfully, wonderfully young.

You've no idea what we'll do to the moon. We'll organize it. I can tell you. We'll put some bounce into those moon women. Why, the moon will be just like North America when we've finished with it. Come on, gals. It's the chance of a lifetime. What could be more stimulating?

YOUR HEALTH

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

A while ago, Dr. Wendell Johnson, professor of speech troubles at the University of Iowa, wrote that when he was 30, he still was a hopeless stutterer. Then he overcame his defect so well that, ever since, he has been a good lecturer. Early in his teaching career, he found that, usually, what happened to a stuttering child was that his parents began to fuss because his speech was to some degree halting and repetitious, as is the case with many adults. Few of us speak like a radio announcer. Dr. Johnson thought that if the parents had ignored the child's difficulties, and had not become impatient with him he would gradually have learned to speak more fluently. But the parents fussed, and soon he was stuttering.

Dr. Johnson found that many children between the ages of two and four tend to repeat many sounds or syllables, or whole words or phrases. Primitive peoples commonly do the same thing. For instance, the great King of the Hawaiian Islands was Kamehameha I, and his heir was Liholiho. Dr. Johnson said that school teachers found it hard to distinguish between some children who spoke with normal hesitation and some who were thought by their parents to be stutterers. The youngsters got tense and spoke with more effort when their parents fussed at them.

Dr. Johnson and his associates soon came to the conclusion that it was the parents rather than the child—the listeners rather than the speakers—who were the ones most requiring instruction and exhortation. Whenever a new stutterer came in, the first thing Dr. Johnson did was to make a study of the parents. He made extensive studies of the parents of 250 normal children and of 250 stutterers, asking them hundreds of questions which covered most aspects of family living. The unusual thing about the parents of stutterers was that they demanded more of themselves and their children. They were more inclined to be edgy and dissatisfied; also, they appraised themselves and each other less favorably than the facts seemed to justify. These parents tended to make an issue of the way their child was speaking, and this set off what doctors call a vicious circle—the less pleased they were with their child's talk, the harder it was for him to speak comfortably to them, and the more hesitant his speech became.

AID TO RELAX

It is significant that commonly a stutterer speaks well enough when he is talking to his school-mates, or his dog, or with a person whom he much likes. When he gets home and feels that his parents are anxious about him, he may start stuttering. As I shall show in another column, other experts on stuttering, who admit the truth of what Dr. Johnson says, point to other factors such as heredity, and the "stuttering constitution"—a constitution which gives many stutterers trouble not only with the control of the muscles of speech but, also, with the control of muscles all over the body. Dr. Johnson advises the parents of a stutterer to read to the child, and to talk with him when they can. He asks them to remember that often when a child is talking badly what he is doing is trying to hold the centre of interest in a group of adults—when he cannot think of anything to say. Then the parents might well say, "Junior, wait a bit until you know what you want to say; and then we will listen to you."

The other day, listening over the radio, I heard a prominent man speak very badly, much as a child does when he doesn't know what he is going to say. He kept hesitating and ur-ing and ah-ing. I gained the impression that his thinking and speaking mechanisms were working out of phase with one another.

One thing that may surprise many persons is that in a great university speech clinic only a small percentage of the patients are stutterers. For instance, in Iowa City, out of 1,200 speech patients seen each year, only about 100 are stutterers.

Many stutterers are the better for listening to their speech, recorded on tape. They also are made to talk in front of a mirror. Dr. Johnson says that when people ask him how he cured himself, he has no one pat answer. His advice is to do three things: First, talk to people and then talk some more to people. Don't avoid them. Second, learn all you can about your problem; the more you know about it, the less you'll fear it. Third, practice and keep practicing, using the techniques that have been suggested by an expert. Many stutterers are cured.

Stuttering

there is one of collective girlish fun. Not a gal among them has ever heard of the dignity or serenity of age. Indeed, their perpetual cry is that they don't feel a day over 20. And, listening to their chatter, it's easy to believe that, mentally, they're not a day over 17.

Miss Byington is there in her little green moon hat, and somehow she makes the whole thing feel as if we were a bunch of girls going off to a convention as delegates from a women's club. Girlish Grannies Inc. Or something of that kind.

"Isn't it fun, girls," she cries. "What could be more stimulating than one's first trip to the moon? Come on, Ruth, if you don't hurry, you'll be left behind on the launching pad."

"I want to be left behind," I mutter. But Spring doesn't hear me.

She's spied the press, and we must all be rounded up to have our pictures taken, and to say something bright for the radio and television boys.

Everyone else is eager to say their bit into the mike. They all sound bright and young and brave and gay.

Only I am glum. "A toin fool idea," I begin to growl, but mercifully the mike is snatched away.

Enough of this, however. It's time we got on the launching pad. You'll see us on the newsreels. Gay, determined, and wonderfully, wonderfully young.

You've no idea what we'll do to the moon. We'll organize it. I can tell you. We'll put some bounce into those moon women. Why, the moon will be just like North America when we've finished with it. Come on, gals. It's the chance of a lifetime. What could be more stimulating?

Tory Unity Urged 'Whoever's Boss'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Deane Finlayson and Gowan Guest, contestants for leadership of the provincial Conservative party, met on the same platform Wednesday and both called for party unity "regardless of who wins."

They spoke to about 80 persons at the annual general meeting of the Point Grey Conservative Association here.

A leadership convention will be held in Vancouver in September.

Mr. Finlayson said "there have been people who have disagreed with the leadership of the party for the last 5½ years now those who want to shoot me down can do so. Those who don't want to can support me."

"I'd prefer it if it were a contest in which I didn't like my opponent, but I can't quarrel with him (Guest). We've worked harmoniously and effectively together in the past."

THE CHALLENGE

When the convention is over the party must be ready to meet the challenge it faces, to replace the present government at Victoria, which "lacks political morality . . . is composed of people of personal opportunity."

Mr. Guest, like Mr. Finlayson, made several references to the "disintegration . . . collapse" of the Social Credit government and said the Conservatives must be ready when an election is called.

Ex-Publisher Hits Out At Goldfine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former Boston publisher charged today that his Democratic newspaper was driven out of business by unnamed "extremely powerful forces" high in the Republican administration.

He linked them to textile millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

John Fox, lawyer and financier who published the defunct Boston Post, said that after 1954 he became aware of "the most powerful and malign influences exerted against me" by the federal government.

He told a House subcommittee investigating the relationship between Goldfine and presidential assistant Sherman Adams that "this influence was inexorable, deadly and long-sustained."

"I did not know the source of these pressures nor the reason for them, unless their object was to eliminate the Boston Post which was the only major newspaper in the United States that supported Harry S. Truman in 1948," Fox said.

City Girls Asked To Partner JCs

—Victoria Jaycees are looking for Victoria girls as partners for incoming delegates to the National Jaycee convention at social events here Monday through Wednesday.

About 50 girls have already registered with the organization by phoning 9-5301 or 3-4521 but officials said today that they would like about 25 more girls between 21 and 40.

More Phone Hikes Sought in East

OTTAWA (CP)—Phone rate increases for Ontario and Quebec averaging about 4½ per cent were asked by Bell Telephone Company Wednesday from the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Company officials said that the proposed $16,000,000-a-year boosts would result in local charge increases averaging six per cent on residential service and eight per cent on business charges.

The company asked the rates be made effective at "the earliest possible date." Hearings on the application were set for Sept. 16 here. Bell's last rate basis

WASTE WOOD FUEL URGED FOR POWER

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Electric Company should investigate establishment on the Fraser River of a thermal unit using waste wood as fuel, the Public Utilities Commission was told Wednesday.

J. S. Johannson, president of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers Association, said the lumber manufacturers had approached B.C. Electric about the economics of waste wood unit and were investigating the availability of waste wood supplies on a continuous basis.

PUC Can't Rule On Tax Expenses Says Chairman

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Public Utilities Commission cannot refuse to allow B.C. Electric or any other utility to include provision for deferred income taxes among expenses when applying for rate increases, Dr. Henry F. Angus, PUC chairman, said Wednesday.

The commission cannot refuse, Dr. Angus said, despite the fact the federal cabinet did so in the case of a Bell Telephone Company application.

He said the federal government, as the income tax creditor, was in a position to grant relief if deferred corporation taxes should become payable.

Wednesday was the final day of the B.C. Electric hearings. B.C. Electric is asking that industrial power rates be increased an average of 20 per cent, wholesale commercial power 12 per cent, retail commercial five to 10 per cent, and residential power 12 per cent except for users whose monthly bills are $3 a month or less.

TEMPORARY REFUSAL

The commission heard argument by the City of Vancouver for at least temporary refusal of the application.

Dr. Angus said that some briefs stated no increase in rates would be needed if provision for deferred income tax was disregarded as an expense and the action of the federal government in the Bell Telephone case April 29 was quoted.

Dr. Angus said: "First, the Canadian Privy Council is not bound by the provisions of the B.C. Public Utilities Act, and second, the government of Canada is the creditor in deferred income taxes.

"If the government says 'don't make provision for payment,' then the government presumably can provide for not being too harsh a creditor—it can give extensions or remit the debt."

"The PUC can give no such shelter against a future contingent liability to the government of Canada and can make no provision for it."

The commission will make its decision on the B.C. Electric application at a later date.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

Speed Adds Up To Higher Cost

High boat costs are the subject of many a gripe. Some have the opinion that boat prices in general have not been affected by inflation more than other articles. They have not only held the line but in many instances are proportionately cheaper than they were 15 years ago.

The cost of getting afloat is due to the high cost of boats as much as to the high cost of speed. The high cost of speed in turn is not due to higher cost per horsepower of engines, but is the result of the need for more horsepower to attain the speed that buyers now demand.

More Speed Means Cut In Efficiency

Some fishermen claim they want a fast boat to get them out to the fishing grounds in a hurry. Not only does this extra speed cost money, but at slow trolling speeds the high horsepower motor operates less efficiently than a smaller motor.

If a 10-horsepower motor will drive a certain boat at a speed of 10 miles per hour, approximately 80-horsepower would be needed to attain 20 miles per hour with the same craft. Assuming the small engine burned one gallon of gasoline per hour, the larger motor would use eight gallons. A fishing ground 10 miles away could be reached with the smaller motor in one hour at a cost of about 40 cents. The larger engine would take one there in one-half the time, but at four times the cost. Is that saving of 30 minutes worth $1.20? Further, the smaller engine would burn considerably less fuel while trolling than the larger motor.

The larger engine not only costs more to buy, but needs

A few years ago, a 25-foot boat capable of 10 miles per hour was considered a fairly speedy craft. Newcomers to boating would consider this a slow boat and would insist on one having twice the speed. This demand would increase the needed power by about eight times.

Of course, minimum speeds of about 20 miles per hour are necessary if the boat is to be used for water ski towing. However, not every boat is used for this purpose. Many more boats are used for fishing, where slow trolling speeds are needed, than for ski towing.

HIS DEBUT

Gaglardi Sings Spirituals To Socreds

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's versatile Highways Minister Philip Gaglardi made his debut Wednesday as an open-air singer.

The energetic Mr. Gaglardi, who is both a cabinet minister and minister of a Pentecostal church at Kamloops, gave his performance, complete with two encores, at the B.C. Social Credit League women's auxiliary annual garden party.

Premier Bennett, three other cabinet ministers and six MLAs attended.

Non-singing Premier Bennett said: "A year from this August we will have no debt and we'll have a big bonfire of all our debts."

But the show was Mr. Gaglardi's.

"This may be my singing debut in Vancouver," he said, "but the truth is I've been 'singing' around Vancouver for a long time and you just haven't been listening to me."

Then in a robust tenor voice he sang "The Whole World in His Hands," "How Great Thou Art," and "I've Got a Mansion Just Over the Hilltop."

CHIEF MUNGO MARTIN

Totem Pole Carver to Meet Queen

Chief Mungo Martin will be presented to Queen Elizabeth when he is in England next month for the dedication ceremonies of B.C.'s centennial gift—the 100-foot royal totem pole.

B.C. centennial chairman L. J. Wallace announced today that the 78-year-old chief and his granddaughter, Mrs. Helen Hunt, will depart by air from Victoria July 15 and will arrive in London, England, on July 17.

The totem pole will be presented to the Queen at Windsor Great Park by B.C. Agent-General W. A. McAdam on July 19.

Later the elderly Kwakwaka'wakw chief carver of the pole will be presented to the Queen.

Mr. Martin and Mrs. Hunt will stay in England until July 24. They will arrive back in Victoria at midnight July 25.

The chief and his granddaughter plan to be attired in their full ceremonial robes at the presentation ceremony.

Victoria motel operators Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nordal are flying to England. The B.C. Centennial committee will pay for Mrs. Hunt's trip.

While in England, the chief will be invited to visit Oxford University and the university's museum.

The museum contains a large collection of West Coast Indian relics.

FOLLOWING STEPS OF ILLUSTRIOUS ANCESTORS

Margaret's Visit to Climax Year

Princess Margaret, when she visits Victoria next month, will be following in the footsteps of a long line of royal tourists.

The first to visit this city were the Marquis of Lorne, and his wife, Princess Louise, who came to Government House in 1882, expecting to stay for 10 days.

They were so delighted with the peaceful beauty of the spot, they remained 10 weeks.

"Princess Louise's rock," a flower-covered mound to the south of Government House, was named after her because she was fond of drawing and painting there.

The Marquis of Lorne was equally impressed, and wrote in his journal:

"No words can be too strong to express the charm of this beautiful land, where the climate, softer and more constant than that of the south of England, ensures at all times of year a full enjoyment of the wonderful loveliness of nature around."

Back From Bombay

The next visitor was Prince Arthur, the Duke of Connaught, in 1890, on his return from a term as lieutenant-governor of Bombay.

He was followed in 1901 by the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, who became King George V and Queen Mary of England.

They were modest and unassuming, and this trait created an incident during a state dinner here.

The Duke's dinner partner was Mrs. Cridge, wife of the famous Bishop Cridge, a sweet old lady, who had not caught the Duke's name, nor realized who he was.

During the meal she remarked that she had heard the royal guests were very modest and pleasant, but that she herself was afraid of meeting such important persons.

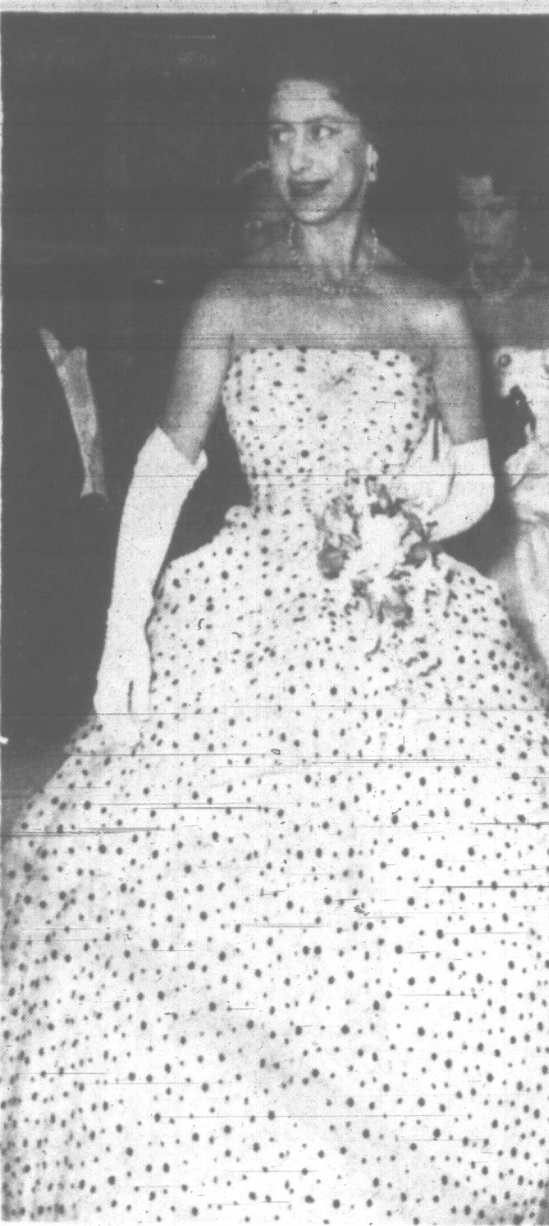

The Duke was amused and did not reveal his identity, but made a suitable answer.

Shocked the Lady

Later in the conversation he mentioned that he was married, whereupon the old lady told him he was far too young to be married. He also said he had four children, but the shocked lady still did not recognize him.

Next morning a messenger arrived at the home of Mrs. Cridge with a parcel containing the signed portraits of the Duke and Duchess and their four children.

In 1912, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught again visited Victoria when he was touring the nation as Governor-General.

HRH PRINCESS MARGARET

The King, in an address here, said: "To travel through so grand a country is a privilege to any man; but to travel through it to the accompaniment of such overwhelming testimony of goodwill from young and old alike is an experience that has, I believe, been granted to few people in this world."

'Rare Experience'

The King's address was carried by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, following a luncheon given by the government of British Columbia.

Later the King presented a color to the Royal Canadian Navy, and it was the first such ceremony to be held outside Britain.

After the outbreak of the Second World War, the late Duke of Kent came for his third and last trip to Vancouver Island, in 1941, on a whirlwind inspection tour of air force, naval and military establishments.

Two important visitors who also arrived in the capital that same year were the Earl of Athlone, then Governor-General, and his wife, Princess Louise.

The Earl had been here 40 years before, in 1901, when he accompanied the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, his brother-in-law and his sister.

The Athlones returned five times or more during the war and viewed the war effort in all its many phases, inspecting both military and civilian groups.

Viscount Lascelles, now the seventh Earl of Harewood, came to Victoria in 1946 on an informal visit.

In 1951, Princess Elizabeth, now Queen, and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, came to Victoria in their Dominion tour.

Crowded Day

Their 24-hour stay was crowded with such events as a luncheon at the Empress Hotel, an Indian ceremony at Thunderbird Park, and tours to Admiral's House and Royal Roads.

The Duke of Edinburgh returned alone in 1954 to open the British Empire Games.

The next year, Mary, the Princess Royal, arrived here in October, and laid a wreath at the Canadian Scottish memorial, and then inspected the regiment, of which she is colonel-in-chief.

Princess Mary, a keen botanist, took home with her cedar, hemlock and fir seeds, to be planted in England as "a little bit of Canada," she said.

The Princess also commented on the "remarkable developments" taking place in B.C.

Royal Navy to Scrap 6 Aircraft Carriers

LONDON (AP)—Britain will dispose of six of the Royal Navy's aircraft carriers because they have become outmoded, the Earl of Selkirk, first lord of the admiralty, told the House of Lords Wednesday.

To be sold or scrapped are the Unicorn, Warrior, Perseus, Theseus, Ocean and Glory. All are in reserve.

The original Oxford House, Hudson's Bay post on the Hayes River in northern Manitoba, was built in 1798.

Prince of Wales paid the provincial capital an informal call on his way to his High River, Alta., ranch.

Prince Just Passes

In 1926 Prince George, who became the Duke of Kent in 1934, passed through Victoria on his way back to England from the Far East, having arrived on the Empress of Russia.

In August, 1927, the Prince of Wales and Prince George both returned to pay a quiet visit to the city before recrossing Canada on a lengthy tour.

He went to the Legislative Buildings and laid the cornerstone of the statue of Queen Victoria on the grounds.

Seaway to Aid Gas Sales---Expert

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—An American gas expert says the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway can boost Canadian industrial development and foster the growth of natural gas as a fuel for industry.

G. S. Stackpole, managing director of the American Gas Association, today told the annual meeting of the Canadian Gas Association that seaway-induced industry growth will be one of the major assets to Canada's natural gas industry.

"There will obviously be major use made of natural gas in such industries as cement, pulp and paper, ore reduction and smelting and other industries which are either regional in their distribution patterns or which are economically immovable because of the natural resources upon which their operations are based.

"I am sure that over the long term, the availability of large volumes of natural gas through the trans-Canada pipeline will greatly enhance the industrial development of the areas north of the Great Lakes."

But a Canadian oil industry executive says the present and future demand for natural gas in Canada, in relation to reserves now available and to be discovered, does not provide an adequate incentive for continued exploration and development.

E. D. Loughney, of Toronto, senior vice-president of the British American Oil Company Limited, said Wednesday that unless substantial export markets for gas are developed soon, the survival of many Canadian oil companies will be placed at stake.

Producers cannot continue to develop gas reserves on an "if, as and when needed" basis, he said.

2 More Ministers Named in Gas Deal

MONTREAL (CP)—Le Devoir today names two additional cabinet ministers as well as a former cabinet member now Quebec's lieutenant-governor and one additional legislative councillor as present or former shareholders of Quebec Natural Gas Corporation which last year took over the household gas-distribution system of Quebec Hydro.

Earlier in a series of articles started June 13 about formation of the privately-owned company, the newspaper named five other members of the Union Nationale cabinet, four party supporters in the legislative council and Premier Duplessis' executive secretary as present or former corporation shareholders.

GAS DEAL HID BY DUPLESSIS, SAYS LIBERAL

QUEBEC (CP)—Hon. Jean Lesage, leader of the Quebec Liberal Party, asked Premier Duplessis Wednesday to make public the government order-in-council authorizing the sale of Quebec Hydro's gas-distribution rights to the Quebec Natural Gas Corporation.

At a one-hour press conference, Mr. Lesage said the law requires such a sale to be ratified by order-in-council "and if there was one (an order-in-council) I ask Mr. Duplessis to make it public."

The Liberal chief charged Mr. Duplessis was trying to camouflage the situation.

Le Devoir says originally it checked a record of the holders of common shares listed from July 15, 1957. It says a check of investors who prior to that date bought stock units made up of one $100 debenture and four common shares at $10 each showed:

Ouesime Gagnon, finance minister at the time and now lieutenant-governor, bought $2,800 worth of units May 2, 1957, and sold them later.

MUNICIPAL MINISTER

Paul Dazois, municipal affairs minister, bought $8,400 worth of units May 2, 1957, and sold them later.

Arthur Leclerc, minister without portfolio, bought $2,800 worth of units July 31, 1957, and at last report still had them.

Gerald Martineau, legislative councillor, bought $5,600 worth of units April 30, 1957, and sold them May 25, 1957.

Le Devoir reported Wednesday that Arsene Morin, electricity board secretary, bought $500 worth of units May 3 and $700 worth Aug. 5, 1957.

The newspaper noted that the gas corporation currently is appearing before the electricity board seeking a rate revision.

Le Devoir has said that a $20,000,000 stock market coup involving shares of the company occurred but a statement by the management of Quebec Natural Gas Corporation Sunday said it had operated from the start "legally, ethically and in the open."

Powell River Seeks Licence For Tree Farm

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Powell River Company gave public notice Wednesday of an application for a tree farm licence on lands held by it in the New Westminster, Sayward Ranges, Rupert and Queen Charlotte land districts as well as some areas along the B.C. coast.

Powell River first applied for a forest management licence in 1947 and it was advertised in 1952.

The application was not granted at the time and was subsequently held up pending the royal commission on forestry led by former Chief Justice Gordon Sloan.

Chief Justice Sloan specifically recommended that the company be granted a forest management licence in his subsequent report.

Some changes have been made in provincial forestry legislation as a result of the royal commission. Powell River now is in the process of re-applying for a tree farm licence.

The licence would be for 20 years if granted. Perpetual forest licences were eliminated in the amended legislation.

Korea Hero Appeals Scar On His Record

OTTAWA (CP)—An army captain who won the Military Cross for bravery in Korea is appealing his court martial conviction of being unfit for duty on the parade square.

The appeal by Capt. George Taylor, MC, 43, of Annapolis County, N.S., will be heard here July 21 by the court martial appeal board. The board has five civilian members.

FOR ADMIRAL

Capt. Taylor was charged last year at Halifax with drunkenness and with being unfit for duty at an army parade Sept. 16, 1957, in honor of Rear-Admiral Hugh Pullen when Admiral Pullen took over as Flag Officer Atlantic Coast.

The parade was arranged by Maj.-Gen. E. C. Plow, then chief of the army's Eastern Command, now lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia. Capt. Taylor was commander of the guard of honor.

The court martial was held last October. Capt. Taylor, now a civilian, was acquitted of the charge of drunkenness but was found guilty of being unfit for duty.

He was sentenced to loss of one year's seniority and fined $75.

Capt. Taylor was a member of the Black Watch at the time. The army charged he saluted incorrectly with a sword and gave incorrect orders to the guard of honor.

His appeal is expected to be public and will probably occupy one day. The board likely will reserve decision.

Helpful Hints for the Hurried Housewife

- 1 Take precautions when storing woollens during the summer months. One of the most important is to store clean garments because food stains and dirt attract moths.
- 2 Pack frozen food in cardboard cartons or wrap in paper when defrosting the home freezer. This prevents as much thawing as possible while the food is in warmer air.
- 3 An easy way to shape hamburger patties is to roll ground beef on a flat surface and cut into rounds with a cookie cutter.

LANE GETS BIG CHANCE FOR LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE

HOUSTON (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown and Kenny Lane, No. 1 challenger from Muskegon, Mich., signed contracts Wednesday for a 15-round title fight in Houston July 23.

The 26-year-old Lane was jubilant as his manager, Jack Kearns, signed the contract with Lou Viscusi, the champion's manager.

"I've been trying for a title fight for two years and finally have made it," Lane said.

The contract calls for Brown to receive 40 per cent of the gate, including television income, and Lane to receive 20 per cent.

The long-talked-about match will be the fifth time Brown has placed his title on the line since winning the championship Aug. 24, 1956, from Wallace (Bud) Smith at New Orleans.

ANOTHER SLANT

By JIMMY BRESLIN

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (NEA)—Sam Snead put it best. "Mah swing?" he drawled. "What about that Bolt? He hits it fluster than any other human being. But he's got a head worse than mine."

This was in April and those in the press tent for the Tournament of Champions over the Desert Inn course at Las Vegas laughed.

But when Tommy Bolt, with that every-swing-the-same game of his, took Tulsa's Southern Hills and the United States Open Championship in stride—and controlled his flashing temper—you saw what Snead meant.

"Don't ever say that Tommy isn't a big player," says Jimmy Demaret. "He has beaten himself often than we've beaten him in the last couple of years."

Bolt's record of broken clubs and snarling walk-offs would seem to back that up. Now, with Bolt the Open champion, the professionals have an idea that it will be considerably different.

"I believe it will," says Doug Ford. "The guy certainly can play golf. He is every bit as good as he showed."

Dugan Aycock, pro at the Lexington, N.C., Country Club, sees it the same way and that's important. At this year's Augusta Masters, the tall, balding Aycock, who ran an Army tournament in Italy in which Bolt, the GI, played, decided to have a talk with Tommy.

"We went over it all," explains Aycock. "and Tommy said to me, 'I'm changing. Do you see any difference?' I told him I did, but wanted to see more of it. He was too fine a player and friend to let go."

A week later, Bolt sat in the locker room of the Starmount Country Club in Greensboro, N.C., watching the rain which knocked out the first day's play in the Greater Greensboro Open.

"You can forget the Thunder Bolt stuff," he said to a couple of people talking to him. "I'm going to do it the right way now."

The "new" Bolt, as they put it, still did not pass the big test until he came up with the big shot of the U.S. Open—a wood from the rough on the 15th hole of the final round. Now it all should be different.

Basically, Bolt is a quick cracking, exuberant fellow who has been through it all, the broke days and the bad breaks, but for some reason he carried a fair-sized chip on his shoulder through the years.

"This is wonderful," says Bolt, at Grand Blanc for the $50,000 Buick Open Invitational over the Warwick Hills course. "The most wonderful feeling," he adds and quietly.

The U.S. Open, then, could turn out to be more than just a victory for Tommy Bolt's magnificent game. It could be the tournament that made his life.

It should, because this is the kind of golfer who belongs at the top.

TOMMY BOLT

By UP International

Dick Farrell, a 24-year-old "Boston strong boy," is the National League's answer to New York Yankee speed king Ryne Duren.

A six-foot, three-inch, 220-pound "femmer" who National Leaguers say throws every bit as hard as Duren, Farrell is working on his second straight year of spectacular relief work for Philadelphia Phillies.

He compiled a 10-2 record and 2.39 earned run average last season and so far this year stands 4-2 with an amazing 1.23 ERA.

Farrell, who was pretty much overlooked while teammate Jack Sanford was voted rookie of the year in 1957, picked up his fourth victory Wednesday when the Phillies shaded Chicago Cubs, 5-4, in 10 innings.

The powerful right-hander took over from fading Ray Semproch in the seventh inning and limited the Cubs to one hit over the last 3½ innings.

The Phillies pushed over the winning run in the 10th when Wally Pate walked with one out, Harry Anderson hit into a force play and Chico Fernandez followed with his second triple of the game. The blow dealt Chicago relief ace Don Elston his fifth defeat against six victories, and prevented the Phillies from dropping "into the cellar."

St. Louis Cardinals moved to within 2½ games of first place when they beat Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1, and the San Francisco Giants clobbered Milwaukee Braves, 10-2, in other National League games. Kansas City Athletics shaded the Washington Senators, 4-3, in the only American League activity.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell pitched a three-hitter for the Cardinals who won their fifth straight game and beat the Pirates for the sixth time in succession. Cardinals scored all their runs in the sixth on three singles, two stolen bases, a walk, two errors and a passed ball.

The Giants unleashed a 13-hit attack, that included a two-run homer by rookie third baseman Jim Davenport, to hand Bob Rush his third defeat. The Giants broke open the game with a five-run sixth-inning rally after errors by Johnny Logan and Joe Adcock kept them "alive."

The Athletics extended their winning streak to five games.

Bob's Finishing Kick Wasn't Hard Enough

CHICAGO (AP)—Rory Calhoun, No. 7 middleweight contender, scored two knockdowns and outlasted a furious finish by Bobby Boyd for a unanimous decision in a televised bout in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Calhoun, who knocked out Boyd in two rounds in New York last Nov. 22, dropped Boyd in the second and in the ninth but had his hands full all the way Wednesday night.

Referee Walter Brightmore called it for Calhoun 48-42 under the Illinois five-point must scoring system. Judge Jim McManus voted for Calhoun 47-43 and judge John Bray had Calhoun winning 45-44.

Calhoun weighed 164 and Boyd 163.

Ex-Champion Beats Jeroski

BELLINGHAM (AP)—Les Leal, 42-year-old shoe merchant who won the state amateur golf championships in 1935 and 1936, took another step Wednesday toward winning the 1958 title as he upset Joe Jeroski of Vancouver, B.C., 4-3.

Leal's win over the man who was co-medalist Monday was considered the upset of the day. Bob Doyle of Marysville, co-medalist with Jeroski, was forced to explode out of a trap on the 19th hole for a birdie four to avoid going by the up-set route to Al Evans, Bellingham.

The best golf of the day was played by Dick Williams, who defeated Oleno Case 4-up in an all-Seattle match. Williams toured the tough par-71 course in a 69.

Howe Sound Swim

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pat Wicks, 19-year-old physical education student at the University of British Columbia, Wednesday swam from Bowen Island at the entrance to Howe Sound to English Bay, in west-end Vancouver.

Now Where's It Going?

All eyes followed bouncing ball after Nanaimo goaltender Fred Fulla (left) made great save on shot by Victoria's Al Gill (15) during crowd-pleasing Inter-City Lacrosse League at Memorial Arena. Philly Fireman's Slants Can Burn 'Em Up, Too!

(interrupted only by Tuesday night's tie) when Bill Tuttle singled home the winning run with the bases filled in the ninth inning. The Athletics had filled the bases against Dick Hyde on a double by Frank House and walks to Bob Martyn and Harry Chitt. Preston Ward homered in the eighth to give Kansas City a 3-2 lead but the Senators tied the score in the ninth on a walk and Albie Pearson's triple.

Los Angeles at Cincinnati in the NL and New York at Chicago, Baltimore at Detroit and Boston at Cleveland in the AL all were rained out.

RUNNING THIRD NOW

It's Time Mounties Arrested That Skid

By Associated Press

Phoenix Giants stepped out to a game and a half lead in the Pacific Coast League pennant chase Wednesday, smothering Spokane with home runs while San Diego belted the Vancouver Mounties for the second straight time.

The powerful Giants smashed out four homers, including Dusty Rhodes' grand slammer, in handing a 16-12 defeat on the Indians.

San Diego's Padres, whipping the Mounties 3-2 on Bud Podbielan's seven-hitter, moved into second place behind Phoenix. The Mounties slipped to third, two full games off the pace. The Salt Lake City Bees used a five-run seventh inning to stop Portland 6-5 and Seattle's Max Surkont gave the Rainiers a 2-1 victory with a four-hit job on Sacramento's last-place Solons.

Rhodes' blast came in the ninth frame. Don Tausig doubled to start the frame and Spokane reliever Bill George, a southpaw, walked the next two men intentionally to get at Rhodes, a left-handed batter.

The strategy backfired when Rhodes sent one of George's offerings over the right-centre-field wall. Bob Jenkins got two homers for Spokane in addition to a double and a single in five trips. He drove in five runs.

The Padres, in winning their 20th game in their last 24 starts, got one run in the first frame and then struck for two in the sixth on Rudy Regalado's double and three singles.

The Mounties got their two runs in the eighth on two singles, Charles White's triple and a wild pitch. Podbielan, in running his record to 4-2, struck out five and walked three.

Surkont had a no-hitter working until the sixth frame, when losing pitcher Joe Stankas tagged him for a two-out, blooper single. Surkont fanned two and walked none in evening his record at 4-4.

Vada Pinson, Seattle's fleet centrefielder, scored both of the Rainiers' runs, the first in the fourth and the second in the sixth.

Portland was coasting along with a 4-0 lead before the roof caved in in the seventh, when the Bees got five big runs. Kenny Toothman's two-run single and Jim McDaniels' three-run, inside-the-park homer did the damage.

CENTURY CLUB

SOLARIUM DERBY

Add Dan Thomas' name to the membership list of the Queen Alexandra Solarium's Century Club.

Dan, who has always provided a helping hand since the derby first started 12 years ago, once again has sold more than a 100 tickets to the July 20 fishing competition.

A veteran member of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, Dan is always eager to sell tickets to the derby because of the worthiness of the cause.

"I like to help the Solarium help the crippled children," he says "and I intend to keep selling tickets as long as possible."

"Another thing," declares Dan, "not only is it a worthy cause, but someone is going to win a 1958 car, and I hope one of the tickets that I have sold turns out to be the lucky one."

Call him at 3-0477 and he'll be glad to sell you a chance at that car.

Single Ingredient All Irish Needed

Solid Team Display Keeps 'Rocks Right on Pils' Tail

Shamrocks 14, Nanaimo 7

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Whitey Severson, a smiling coach today, Wednesday night behaved like a good cook that had just happily stepped away from a feast at which the guests lapped up everything in sight.

The main course was delicious enough, thank you, and the chef was willing to pass out the recipe that, for the first time in this Inter-City Lacrosse League season, seemed to whet the appetites of even the most finicky fans.

Things haven't always been this happy around Victoria Shamrocks' clubhouse. There have been days, by the chef's own admission, when customers scored with wry faces after sampling some lacrosse offerings at Memorial Arena.

Perhaps something was lacking.

It was, according to Severson. But after watching his Shamrocks turn in their top performance of the season on their home floor (Shamrocks 14, Nanaimo Timbermen 7), Severson feels the missing ingredient has been added.

"We've had good harmony

Italian Clown Wasn't Joking

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Nicola Pietrangeli, Italy's clown prince of the court, today turned serious long enough to upset fifth seeded Luis Ayala of Chile 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, and advance to the fourth round of the 72nd Wimbledon tennis championships.

CITY JUNIORS LEAVE FRIDAY FOR WINNIPEG

Five Victoria junior cricket players leave Friday morning by air for the first Canadian under-21 inter-provincial cricket tournament in Winnipeg.

Jeremy Breckon, Clive Bond, John Reid, Malcolm Shanks, and Ian Ogle are members of the 13-man B.C. side that will start play Monday at Winnipeg's Assiniboine Park. Other teams entered in the double-knockout series are Alberta, Manitoba, and Ontario.

Atkins Leads Saanich Tigers To Boxla Win

Brent Atkins turned in a tremendous game in goal for Saanich Tigers as they stopped Combines, 12-5, in a pee-wee division Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association game at Memorial Arena Wednesday.

Atkins kept Tigers in the game after they had been down, 3-0, at the end of the first quarter.

On the offence, Verne Black turned in a five-goal performance to wrap things up for the Saanich squad.

In a bantam game at Stevenson Park, Oak Bay beat Punjabs, 12-7.

Scorers: Oak Bay—Ron Goulet (3), John Allen (4), Al McAllister (2), Rod Nesbitt (3), Total—12. Punjabs—Nirmala Sunda (2), Jasinder Singh (2), Pat Green, Nirmal Dillon, Bangi Dillon, Total—7.

Archers Crack Marks In Convincing Fashion

Two archery records were shattered in convincing style by Victoria Bowmen in the Vancouver Island archery championships.

Brian Usher broke the first in the junior clout shoot, with a score of 216 out of 329 from the 120-yard range. The old mark was 180.

In the men's target shoot, Frank Jones added to his already imposing array of Canadian titles with a 688 score out of a possible 820. This bettered the old mark by a full 28 points.

Jones also won the men's field event while young Usher took first place in the junior field and junior Island flight events.

Lil Jones won the women's Island flight and the women's target shoot while Shirley South

Pietrangeli's stunning victory on Wimbledon's famed centre court, marked the first elimination of a seeded player since play started Monday. The big Italian Davis Cup star thus became the first player to reach the fourth round.

Most of today's matches in the men's singles, delayed by rain and bad weather, were in the second round.

Neale Fraser, seeded fourth behind three of his idle Australian countrymen, toyed with Fou Chi Mei of China, 6-1, 6-1, to move into the third round. Advancing with Fraser were veterans Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt and Gardnar Mulloy of the United States, Jurgen Ulrich of Denmark and Abe Segal of South Africa.

ULRICH EXTENDED Drobny, a one-time Wimbledon champion, had a difficult time with Adrezej Lelis of Poland before winning, 6-4, 8-6, 6-4. Mulloy beat South African John Hurry, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3 and Ulrich, eliminated Australian Bob Howe in a long four-set match, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5, 8-6, while Segal defeated W. Alvarez of Colombia, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

American girls continued to get the same rude treatment as the U.S. male contingent has suffered. Seventh-seeded Janet Hoppes of Seattle became the second ranked U.S. woman player to be eliminated when she bowed to Norma Marsh of Australia, 7-5, 9-7 in a second round match. Wednesday, third seeded Dorothy Head Knode was ousted by Christine Cerreli of Belgium.

But eighth seeded Karol Fageros of the U.S., former Canadian women's champion, beat Silvana Lazzarino of Italy, 6-1, 7-5.

'TWO HEADS BETTER ...'

Heads together, starter Phil Hendry (left) and pit boss Gary Abbott are in familiar pose while ironing out race problem at Western Speedway. Work of pair is prime reason for races running smooth.

AND OFFICIALS KNOW HOW

Iron Runs Better If Drivers Chased

Who are the busiest men at Western Speedway? Stock car racing enthusiasts are liable to suggest the drivers or mechanics, but they would be wrong.

The votes of those who know would go to Phil Hendry and Gary Abbott, two of the biggest but least publicized cogs that keep action moving at a quick but decidedly smooth pace at the Langford track.

The track's starter and pit boss, respectively, Hendry and Abbott alone know how much work and energy is required to keep the iron moving.

"Sometimes the drivers forget," Abbott said, "so I try to explain to them. If they pay a dollar to go to a movie and the screen suddenly goes blank, these guys would be the first to holler."

SAME THING

"It's the same at the Speedway. People pay out good money to see a good show and we try to see that the drivers give it to them."

In order to keep the show rolling, Abbott and Hendry won't hesitate in trying out a new idea. In this department, they shine.

One of their latest ideas was the diagonal introductory start, which gives fans a better chance to view the drivers as well as speed-up racing.

But Hendry has another record to uphold, of a different nature, and he will be seeking to maintain it during this Saturday's meet.

PHIL WINS THESE

One of the most popular features at the track recently has been that excuse for mechanical mayhem known as a crash elimination race.

Hendry comes out of "retirement" and has always managed to win these features.

Abbott, 26, has never driven stock cars. "Since my teens," he declares, "I've been interested in hot rods, so eventually I turned my attention to stock cars."

"One time we went out to old Shearing Speedway. There were no officials to run the races so I volunteered to help. I've been doing it ever since."

"We're always figuring out

Favorite's Role For Mrs. Todd

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Margaret Todd of Victoria Wednesday stamped herself as a top favorite to win the B.C. Women's Closed golf championship at Marine Drive Golf club.

Mrs. Todd, who won the competition three successive years, 1947, 1948, 1949, edged out 1957 defending champion Mrs. Brice Evans of Capilano on the 19th Wednesday to move into the semi-finals.

Mrs. Todd stroked a par four to better Mrs. Evans' five after they had fought a see-saw duel through the first 18 holes.

Also advancing into the semis were Mrs. Margaret Hutton-Potts of Marine Drive, who beat Mrs. Helen Cleat of Point Grey 3 and 1; Miss Colleen Smith of Point Grey, who beat Mrs. D. Patterson of Marine Drive 6 and 5, and Mrs. W. Knox of Marine Drive, who defeated Mrs. G. Garnet of Point Grey 5 and 4. Mrs. Todd met Mrs. Knox, and Mrs. Hutton-Potts played Miss Smith in the 18-hole semi-finals today.

Fraser First Ruler Crowned

John Fraser downed Don McCormick, 6-0, 6-2, to become Jaycee junior tennis champion in the under-15 class Wednesday.

Fraser earned a trip to the provincial championships in Vancouver in July with his win. Play continues in all events today with finals slated for Friday evening.

Pistol-Packin' Island Mountie To World Shoot

Four eastern riflemen and a pistol hotshot from Nanaimo have been selected to represent Canada at the world shooting championships in Moscow in August.

Chosen after weekend trials in Hamilton and Vancouver were riflemen Gilmour Boas of Toronto, current world champion in the "English match"; Gerald Ouellette of Windsor, Ont., Olympic smallbore gold medalist; Edson Warner of Lennoxville, Que., Canadian army champion; and Cpl. John Hedger of Camp Petawawa, Ont.

The pistol representative will be Cpl. J. R. Zavitz of the RCMP, Nanaimo, B.C.

A five-man trapshooting team will be selected, following the Canadian championships at Vancouver next week.

Nanaimo's Best Wasn't Enough

VANCOUVER (CP) New Westminster Royals, advanced to the B.C. final of the Canadian Challenge Soccer Cup Wednesday evening when they defeated Nanaimo 6-2 at Callister Park in a semifinal match.

Nanaimo played better than it has at any other time in Vancouver this season. The half-time score was 2-2. Royals all they had a little edge but they were strongly harrassed at times by the Island team.

Saturday, St. Andrew's meets Halesos in the other semifinal and the winner meets Royals next Tuesday evening at Callister in the final.

First blood went to Royals when Alex McKay scored a penalty kick at the four-minute mark. But the lead didn't last long with Joe Hillhouse turning the same trick for Nanaimo 23 minutes later.

Tony Crisp put Royals into the lead again at the 32-minute mark before Gogi Stewart converted a George Paul pass.

The second half was all New Westminster's with goals coming in succession from Crisp, twice, Art Bennett and Bob Lewis.

BOSTON (AP)—Frank Pro-fact's Alpha surged from fifth place in the stretch and won the fourth race by a nose to return his backers a whopping $247 at Suffolk Downs Tuesday.

Bob Howe, sixth-ranked tennis player in Australia, and Whitney Reed, eighth-ranked in the United States, will play in the Canadian championships at Vancouver July 28 to Aug. 2.

Howe, one of the top doubles players in the world, is currently competing at Wimbledon. He beat R. W. T. Cawthorn of Australia in straight sets Tuesday, but didn't play Wednesday.

Reed is from California and owns an impressive record. Howe won the New Zealand singles championship and men's doubles title in January and made the quarter-finals of the Australian national singles championship before losing to Mervyn Rose (third-seeded at Wimbledon) in five sets.

Besides the international stars, tournament officials have lined up almost all ranking Canadian players, including Bob Bedard of Sherbrook, Que.; Don Fontana, Toronto; Paul Willey,

RCMP Death Boat Overloaded

PEPPERLAW, Ont. (CP)—An inquest jury ruled Wednesday that the 14-foot launch in which five RCMP men were carried to their deaths on wind-swept Lake Simcoe June 7 was overcrowded and overloaded.

The three-day inquest was held specifically in the death of RCMP Cpl. Herbert Smart, 34, of Toronto, whose body was the only one recovered.

The jury said he died by accidental drowning "due to rough seas caused by storm, failure of motor causing boat to swamp."

Drowned with Cpl. Smart were Constables Glen Farough, 21, of Brandon, Man.; Morris Melnychuk, 21, of Foam Lake, Sask.; George Hanson, 36, of Coronach, Sask.; and David Terry, 21, of Vancouver.

Eric Silk, deputy assistant attorney-general of Ontario, called it a splendid verdict.

The jury also found that transport department standard lifejackets and department approved life cushions were unsatisfactory.

A local policeman and four Mounties yesterday re-enacted the boat mishap for the coroner's jury.

Two men in the boat threw life jackets and pillow-type life preservers into the lake, then dived after them.

The men reported they could not tie the life jackets about them while struggling in the water.

Drowned in Bucket

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A one-year-old boy tumbled from his bed into a mop bucket full of water and was drowned Wednesday. Mrs. Albin E. Hurt, 17, was cleaning her house when she decided to rest for a moment. Ten minutes later, she found her son head down in the bucket.

water. The lake was mirror-calm.

There were both kinds of life preservers in the ill-fated boat.

The jury reported the vest-type is more satisfactory. "It also recommended all boats operating at night have compasses, that more common sense be used in operating boats and that a transport department pamphlet, "Safety Afloat," be readily available to the boating public.

In another test the boat slipped a small amount of water each time the 35-horsepower motor was suddenly turned off.

"This is not a safe boat," said Dr. C. S. Noble, coroner, after the test.

Testimony was that five men, their equipment and the motor weighed a total of 1,109 pounds.

Supt. George Ragen of Toronto harbor police testified he believed the boat was "overcrowded."

Canada to Share Jets for NORAD

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF's nine jet interceptor squadrons will be allocated to the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD) as soon as Parliament ratifies the Canada-U.S. agreement establishing the command, Defence Minister Peakes said Wednesday.

One jet squadron involved is located at Comox, B.C.

The Commons has already approved the agreement and the Senate may do so this week.

Mr. Peakes was speaking before the Senate external relations committee which approved the agreement and sent it to the Senate, where quick ratification is expected.

Mr. Peakes made these other points during committee questioning:

1. No decision has been reached on whether the U.S. would make atomic warheads available to Canada.

2. Defence expenditures will remain "very high for a number of years yet."

3. If Canada didn't spend money for North American defence, the U.S. would take over the entire job and Canada would lose its sovereignty and become "no more than a servant" of the U.S.

4. Not a week goes by but that some unidentified plane flies over Canada. No hostile plane had ever actually been found, however.

5. There are only 17 Canadians serving at NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., in contrast to "many hundreds" of American personnel.

6. A "general plan" by NORAD for air defence has been approved but a "tremendous" amount of detailed planning remains to be done.

7. He would like to see some American squadrons use the Canadian-developed Arrow jet interceptor. However, this was a matter for U.S. government decision.

Senator David Croll (L.-Ontario) clashed with Mr. Peakes on the subject of atomic weapons.

He began by asking the minister whether Canada had the same defensive weapons as the U.S.

Mr. Peakes said: "Not at the present time." U.S. squadrons had air-to-air missiles with nuclear warheads but Canada had no atomic weapons of any kind.

NO ATOM ARMS

Mr. Peakes added that no decision has been reached on whether the U.S. will make atomic warheads available to Canada.

Senator Croll said he could not understand this when Canada and the U.S. were supposed to have a common defence.

Mr. Peakes said U.S. squadrons have atomic weapons and would be available to attack hostile planes in Canadian skies in event of war.

Senator Croll said the U.S. "might" turn over atomic warheads to Canada but "you don't learn the use of them overnight."

Senator Norman Lambert (L.-Ontario) asked whether the Arrow, supersonic interceptor being developed by Avro Aircraft Limited, Malton, Ont., might be adopted by NORAD.

Mr. Peakes said he would "like to see" some U.S. squadrons use the Arrow. NORAD might recommend a certain aircraft but the decision would be up to the respective governments.

HIGH HONORS were won by these two pupils at the closing exercises of the Colquitz Junior High School Wednesday. Coralie Fessey, 14, won the Walter P. Jeune trophy for academic achievement, and Delmer Clark, 15, the Colquitz trophy as foremost pupil in all round development.—(Times Photo.)

800 at Annual School Prize Day

A 15-year-old grade nine pupil who wants to become a teacher won one of two most highly prized trophies for academic studies at Colquitz Junior High School awards day Wednesday.

Delmer Clark, 15, 544 Davida Avenue, received the Colquitz Trophy, awarded to the pupil considered foremost in all-round development as exemplified by academic achievement, citizenship and extra curricular participation.

The trophy was presented by Leo Derman, first president of the Colquitz Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association.

The student, who specializes in science, also was awarded the "house activity cup" for outstanding service in House I.

Coralie Fessey, 14, of 581 Baxter Drive, won the Walter P. Jeune Trophy for being the most proficient student in academic studies.

SEEKS LANGUAGES

Coralie, who plans to become an airline stewardess, wants to learn to speak and write at least five languages, such as French, Spanish, German, Italian and Portuguese.

Her teachers described her as a pupil who excels in everything she studies. Last year, in grade eight, she was also at the top of her class.

She also received an award for her participation in plays and the part she played in the drama festival.

Other grade nine pupils who received special academic awards are: M. Adele Jones, 2nd; Marion J. Alexander, 3rd; Elizabeth A. Conway, 4th, and Delmer M. Clark, 5th.

NO QUIBBLING, SAYS VISITING MAYOR

U.K. Education Costs More

By HUMPHRY DAVY
The English spend more money on education than British Columbians, according to Charles J. Life, an alderman for the city of Wembley, who is visiting Victoria.

Mr. Life, who also served as mayor of the English city in 1951-52, is staying at the home of his son, N. W. Life, Saanich municipal engineer, and is studying the council administrative system of B.C.

About one-third of the tax levied in British towns and cities is used for education, he said.

"And the people don't quibble about the rate," he stated. "They would increase the tax rate for education if it was necessary."

He said the British people were specially interested in technical education.

Party politics, he said, have entered municipal level of government in England.

"This is regrettable," he said. "At one time most councillors ran as independents. But today you have to be nominated by a political party to win an election. An independent hasn't a chance."

Mr. Life found the administrative set-up of municipal councils in B.C. widely differed from those in England.

The Wembley council was composed of 42 elected members. They appoint 12 aldermen and the mayor.

Councillors and aldermen serve on various committees and receive no indemnity or allowance. They pay their own expenses.

"It is considered a great honor to serve on the council or as a mayor in England," he said. "The installation of a mayor is carried out with pomp."

"Personally, I think your councils are too small," he added.

MRS. SCURRAH DENIES TITLE OF 'MAYORESS'

Charles J. Life, an alderman and ex-mayor of Wembley, Eng., visiting Victoria, said today he was surprised to learn that the mayor's wife did not carry the title of mayoreess.

In England, a mayoreess is an official title and carries with it special duties.

If a mayor lost his wife, he said, he appointed his daughter or relative as mayoreess.

He said when he was introduced to the Mayor Percy Scurrah's wife, he greeted her as mayoreess.

"I was promptly corrected," he said.

"Your councillors have too much to do and haven't the time to specialize in any one branch of administration."

As mayor, he said, he received an allowance of $650 ($1,820) a year. But it cost him over $1,000 to maintain his office. This came out of his own pocket.

COSTLY BANQUET

Out of his allowance of $650, he had to pay $150 a year to his deputy mayor. Then it cost him about $350 for a banquet on the day of his installation as mayor.

He said a mayor was provided with a car and a chauffeur during his term of office. This was no luxury, he explained, but a necessity.

"As mayor I never worked so hard in my life," he said. "Your duties start at 9 a.m. and you are lucky if you get home at midnight. Apart from routine duties, such as administrative business, opening schools, attending dinners, you also sit as a magistrate."

He said the ceremonial robes and chains worn by mayors on occasions were not paid for out of public funds, but by private subscribers, he said. Even Wembley's costly mace was bought by private subscribers, he said.

"We are not allowed to spend public monies on these things," he said. "So many organizations, such as the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce, donate the money."

CENTENNIAL GROUP PRODUCES PAPER TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

British Columbia Centennial Committee Wednesday marked the 100th anniversary of newspaper publishing in the province by turning out its own four-page news-sheet.

The tabloid-sized paper, named The Western Giant, rolled off presses in Victoria exactly a century after B.C.'s first paper, the Victoria Gazette, went on sale.

The Western Giant, named to honor B.C.'s rapid growth, is devoted to centennial happenings. It lists the complete itinerary for the forthcoming tour of B.C. by Princess Margaret.

The publication will be distributed to all local centennial committees this week.

Kiwanis to Smoke Out Saanich Candidates

The Kiwanis Club of Victoria whose business interests took North has opened a campaign for more candidates in the Saanich July 12 by-election.

Nominations close at noon July 2.

So far three candidates have announced they will seek election to a vacant council seat. The latest entries are Chester (Chet) Dowman, 4021 Shelbourne, and Lionel Speller, 38, of 3416 Bethune. The other is Gregory Cook, 1091 Laburnum, a manual arts instructor.

The council seat was vacated by Coun. George Chatterton, director of Veterans Land Act, Department of Veterans Affairs, who will contest the re-election held by Arthur Ash.

Amputees' Centre Opened By Mayor

The new memorial centre of the Victoria branch of the War Amputations of Canada, 1610 Oak Bay Avenue, was opened by Mayor Percy Scurrah Wednesday.

The building was dedicated by Rev. Sidney E. Lambert of Toronto, life president.

The memorial centre, the mayor said, was the result of lot of thought and work over a long period.

Low Grade of Teachers Criticized

VANCOUVER (CP) — An expert panel summed up the problems of teachers Wednesday night as too much paper work, too many pupils, too little training and not enough prestige.

Dean Neville Scarfe of the University of B.C. education college, one of five speakers taking part in an English Speaking Union forum on education, said the worst problem is inadequate training. He said some teachers in B.C. have only one year of university education.

Professor Malcolm McGregor, head of UBC classics department, said teachers have too much paper work to do and lack of prestige because low pay forces them "to conduct annual brawls with the school boards."

Sir Arthur Binns, former director of education for the English counties of Yorkshire and Lancashire, said teachers are entitled to professional status.

Sir Arthur spoke in favor of "hard work" but said he is opposed to the system of iron discipline used in Russia. He said authorities in Britain are returning to the belief that hard work both by teacher and pupil is essential for "accurate knowledge and concise, clear thinking."

BRUTAL PENALTIES

But he said that the drastic and sometimes brutal penalties used in Russia's system could destroy the present Soviet social system if peace is maintained for one generation.

President W. W. Haggard of the Western Washington College of Education said lack of support from the home has made working conditions for teachers difficult in the United States. But he said respect for scholarship now appears to be growing and it may be that "the day of the egghead is coming."

Moderator for the forum, on the subject "Education at the Crossroads," was Dr. Henry F. Angus, chairman of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission and former UBC dean of graduate studies.

Canada has about 50 species of oak trees, among a total of around 300 varieties in the world.

EXPERTS DUEL

VANCOUVER (CP) — A British educationist crossed words with an American educationist here Wednesday on the subject of co-educational schools.

Sir Arthur Binns, former director of education for Lancashire and Yorkshire, opposed co-education where it could be avoided.

President W. W. Haggard, Western Washington College of Education, was all in favor.

Judge Sets July 9 For Bridge Inquiry

VANCOUVER (CP) — A royal commission investigation into the collapse of two spans of the new Second Narrows Bridge with the loss of 18 lives opens here July 9.

Chief Justice Sherwood Lett of the British Columbia Supreme Court, appointed royal commissioner, announced the date Wednesday and said the opening session will be restricted to formalities and will probably adjourn.

He could not say immediately when the full public inquiry would start.

The collapse of part of the unfinished $16,000,000 bridge is expected to result in at least a six-month delay in completion of the structure and loss estimated at $3,500,000.

Bodies of three of the 18 workmen killed have not been recovered.

Graduating Class Hears Historian

Voices of a century ago were conjured up to counsel 15 graduating students of Mount Newton Junior-Senior High School Wednesday night.

Top Students At Oak Bay Win Trophies

The Manning and Oak Bay Kiwanis trophies for citizenship, main awards of the year at Oak Bay Junior High School, were won Wednesday by Donna Robertson and James Bigsby, respectively.

Chief speaker for the occasion was Stuart Keate, publisher of The Times.

Academic prizes to leading students in each grade were won by Karen Dickson, grade nine; Linda Keen, grade eight; and Barbara Trenholme, grade seven.

Judy Valo was presented with the St. John Ambulance home nursing cup after defeating 125 students in Greater Victoria secondary school competition.

Other awards:

Joanna Dewry, best literary effort; Linda Gilbert, best original poem; Cadboro House, House shield; Division 10 and Wendy Harbord, group and individual century papers; athletic awards: grade nine, Sharon McKay and Dennis Gornall; grade eight, Diana Godfrey and Sandy Brebner; grade seven, Jane Bowering and Dianne McNaught (tied); and Bob McLaren. Class awards: Grade 9, Ron Britton, Div. 1; Beth Boyle, Div. 2; Patsy Loft, Div. 3; Denise Clague, Div. 4; Mary Rimestad, Div. 5; Dave Pollock, Div. 6; Sandra Lindsay, Div. 7; and Jean McKay, Div. 8. Grade 8, Yvonne McCallum, Div. 9; Jennifer Couston, Div. 10; Elizabeth Pinner, Div. 11; Edith Waterhouse, Div. 12; Mary McKay, Div. 13; Gordon Doreville, Div. 14; Gillian Terry, Div. 15; and Gordon Bergstrom, Div. 16. Grade 7, Donna Bladen, Div. 17; Roger Pinfield, Div. 18; Shirley Naylor, Div. 19; Stephanie Sam, Div. 20; Pamela May, Div. 21; David Ziehl, Div. 22; and Karen Bradford, Div. 23.

Pair Share Top Honors At Gymkhana

Jean Dunbar and Dana Thompson shared top riding honors with three firsts each at St. Margaret's School annual gymkhana Monday at Victoria Riding Academy.

A large crowd of parents, friends and students watched the display in brilliant sunshine as eight events were run off.

The show is held at the end of each term among the riding members of the school.

Judge was Mrs. Daphne Barnes, assisted by her daughter Heather Barnes, both of Crofton, and judge's clerk was Roberta Halls. Ringmaster was D. B. Carley, and master of ceremonies Aid. Geoffrey Edgell.

Results were as follows:

Beginners' equitation—Shelley Dorman riding Terry, Div. A; Sherrae on Tango; Muriel Murdoch on Jagger; Patricia Brambley on Royal Plax. Junior equitation—Elizabeth Edgell on Blane; Denise Wilde on Stranger; Lynne Connell on Cricket; Sheila French on Gamellin. Intermediate equitation—Jean Dunbar on Seven Up; Vivian Carley on Felix; Lenore Hansen on General; Anne Love on Golden Jumper. Senior equitation—Dana Thompson on Mr. Roger; Dorothy Edgell on Red; Carol Turner on Miss Behave; Jennifer Lockyer on Grady Gay. Junior jumping—Jean Dunbar on Seven Up; Vivian Carley on Felix; Lenore Hansen on General; Marjorie Day McPherson on Chatter. Senior jumping—Dana Thompson on Mr. Roger; Carol Turner on Lorna; Dorothy Edgell on General. Bareback equitation—Lenore Hansen on General; Dorothy Edgell on Red; Jean Dunbar on Seven Up; Carol Turner on Miss Behave. Double bareback—Jean Dunbar and Vivian Carley on Seven Up; Anne Love and Lenore Hansen on General; Carol Turner and Dana Thompson on Miss Behave; Jennifer Lockyer and Joan Bell on Stranger.

2 New Canadians To Be Inducted In Outdoor Show

Two New Canadians—Mrs. D. Hofstede, 617 Cornwall, and Frank W. Heimbach, 3280 Alder—will repeat their oaths of allegiance in the 12th "I Am a Canadian" ceremony on the steps of the Legislative Buildings Sunday afternoon.

The ceremony is sponsored by the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council.

Mr. Heimbach came to Canada from his native Rumania six years ago. A year later, he was able to bring out his brother Josef.

MINARD'S
LINIMENT

More than 100 parents and guests assembled in the school auditorium on Keating Crossroad for the second senior high school graduation ceremony since Mount Newton resumed instruction in both junior and senior levels.

The ceremony, in which five boys and 10 girls received graduation certificates from School District 63 board chairman James Helps, was preceded by a formal banquet and followed by a dance.

Mr. Nesbitt drew on his wide knowledge of provincial history to remind those present that James Douglas brought the first school teachers to B.C. from England 109 years ago, and so commenced the formal educational system.

Mr. Nesbitt said the wisdom and vision of Douglas' speech 100 years ago holds true today as it did then.

The speaker wished graduating students good luck and fortitude for the life before them and gave one word of advice, quoted from native painter Emily Carr who felt her most important achievement was in "doing the work."

Principal J. W. Lott said his staff was proud of the graduates because they "don't know of a group of grade 12 students who have applied themselves as this group."

Three of the 15 have put in for scholarships and 12 are considering university as their next step, a "surprising figure," Mr. Lott said.

Most of all, they have learned to consider the feelings of others, which Mr. Lott felt is an achievement "considering they will go out into this rather inconsiderate world."

Valedictorian Bill Gilby, winner of a cup for the student ranking highest in citizenship, leadership and sportsmanship, compared graduation to "eating sweet and sour spare ribs—for neither the sweet nor sour predominates."

Doreen Bickford, on behalf of fellow graduates, presented to teacher P. Clarke a sports trophy for the school in memory of the class of 1958.

Rev. H. D. Johnstone, of Brentwood United Church, gave the invocation following Mr. Lott's introductory remarks.

Tag Day Set On Saturday For Retarded

Victoria Association for Retarded Children will hold a tag day Saturday to raise funds for a new classroom on their school, 5575 West Saanich Road, and to meet a teacher's salary.

Volunteer taggers are needed and persons interested may contact Mrs. Kenneth Lowndes at 8-2151.

The school opened a few months ago with two classrooms, and already a third is needed. Ten retarded children per teacher is the allowable maximum if any progress is to be made in training, the association said.

As the $25 per month received for each pupil from the provincial government via the school board does not cover operating or construction costs, public support is vital, officials said.

New Study Urged On Amalgamation

Mayor Scurrah to Recommend Probe By One-Man Board; 'Not Sold Yet'

Appointment of a one-man commission to study amalgamation between the city and Saanich will be recommended by Mayor Percy Scurrah at an inter-municipal amalgamation committee meeting at 4 p.m. Friday.

Mayor Scurrah said he favored a complete investigation by a commission because he was "not sold on amalgamation."

"I've looked into the problem and I don't know if it would be a good thing for Victoria at the present time," he said. "But before making a decision I want to know the facts."

He proposed that an expert be appointed to conduct the investigation.

Coun. George Chatterton, Saanich representative with acting reeve George Austin, said he was not so "keen" on appointing one man to conduct the investigation unless it was certain he was "unbiased."

"It is always possible that one man can be biased," he said.

"What we want is an unbiased report so that the people of Saanich can vote intelligently on the subject," he said.

... HERE
AND THERE ...
With NORMAN CRIBBENS

In a ringing introduction to Health Minister Eric Martin, at the 12th annual meeting of the B.C. Credit Union conference, Erith Edmonds said:

"It is now my great privilege to call on the Honorable Eric Charles Fitzgerald Martin, Minister of Health for the Province of British Columbia, to speak to you."

Answered Mr. Martin:

"After that, I can hardly wait to hear myself speak."

Of all the people born since the dawn of history, those living today represent one-tenth — W. C. Mainwaring, B.C. Electric vice-president in a talk to the B.C. Office Managers' Association in Victoria.

Back from Quebec City comes Pat Dunn, immediate past-president of Victoria's Canadian Club.

Pat flew east to represent Victoria at the biennial conference of the Association of Canadian Clubs and found it "stimulating and informative."

"It was the biggest biennial conference we have ever had," he said.

At the conference, B.C. Electric solicitor Douglas Patterson was elected regional director for Victoria.

Further to my note about Mr. Good Evening, the famous B.C. broadcaster, R. J. Hillyer of Foul Bay Road recalls the night he wished a restful evening to "all those who work with edge tools, AND their families."

Mr. Good Evening died 10 years ago but his radio whimsies are still chuckled over.

When Brigadier General "Shortie" Colquhoun returned to Victoria's Veterans' Hospital last week, he found the alert staff all ready for him.

They had set up the special seven-foot bed required by this towering officer whose six feet four inches belies his popular nickname.

A U.S. visitor now staying at the Empress Hotel says Californians are the most glib people in the world.

He recalls a two-line advertisement published in a Los Angeles paper. It said simply: "Send your dollars to Box 1234."

The dollars rolled in but nothing came back — not even a receipt. The indignant donors called at the newspaper office to inquire what they could expect for their money.

They learned that the advertiser had collected his dollars and skipped the city.

"He only asked you to send your dollars," the advertising manager pointed out. "He did not offer anything."

Bottle baby "Quiz" and Foster "Mother" Roy Sewell

MIXED-UP MAIL BOX BACK AGAIN

Post office crewmen today re-installed a letter box at the corner of Elliott and Douglas and Douglas Building employees are happy again.

For two years homebound stenographers and secretaries have used the box despite a mud puddle that appeared beneath it on wet days.

Last week, works department crews finally built a cement apron to keep the girls' feet dry.

Then Monday the PO moved the letter box "... because of the puddle."

Today it was moved back, this time mounted on its own pole. The post office is progressively moving its boxes from power poles.

BATTLE-FED BABY Colt Foal Arrives Complete Surprise

His mother is a working woman, so Quiz is a bottle-fed baby.

Quiz is a six-week-old colt, gangling, long-legged, frisky, the picture of perfect health.

He thrives on a baby formula similar to that used by human offspring — for more than two weeks, Quiz inhaled three gallons of it daily.

His owner — and foster-feeder — is Roy Sewell, who operates a horse-breaking establishment on Beaver Lake Road, and is one of the few farriers in this district.

Roy acquired Quiz for the simple reason the colt's mother had to go back to work.

PLENTY OF WORK

She is a lead horse, owned by Norman Leaver of Vancouver, and as such has heavy responsibilities. She is used in training, gentling, and generally reassuring high-strung racehorses.

As proof that the colt's mother takes her duties seriously, she worked out with three race horses one afternoon, then returned to the barn and produced Quiz.

When the youngster was a week old, he was given to Roy, who brought him here from the mainland and set Roy Jewell to making up vast quantities of baby formula.

Hint of a bus fare increase was made by the B.C. Electric today in Vancouver, when vice-president A. Bruce Robertson said that if wage costs rise, then the company will consider a fare boost.

HUNTER HURT Elevator Fall Brings Lawsuit To City Hotel

A big game hunter's guide from northern British Columbia claimed damages from the Strathcona Hotel in Victoria today because of injuries he said were sustained in the fall of an elevator from the fourth to the ground floor.

The guide — Ronald John Craker of Houston, B.C. — told the B.C. Supreme Court he was hurled into a corner of the elevator when it fell.

"It was a free fall," he said. "I have been in aircraft many times and I know what a free fall is."

Mr. Craker, now living in Victoria, is represented by W. Berkeley Monteith while George Gregory is appearing for the Strathcona Hotel.

A dark, thick-set man in a grey suit, Mr. Craker said as the result of injuries to his shoulder he suffered pains in the neck and head which prevented him from working as a guide to big game hunters in northern B.C.

The accident occurred on Sept. 8 last when he was staying in Victoria on holiday.

ON FOURTH FLOOR

Answering Mr. Monteith, Mr. Craker said he left his room in the hotel about 10 in the morning and rang for the elevator which came up to the fourth floor.

On the descent something went wrong with the mechanism.

"As the operator moved his lever, the elevator fell. It dropped about two and a half floors, then stopped with a sudden jolt and I was thrown into the corner ..."

"I was just getting up from the corner when the elevator let go again and dropped to the ground floor."

Mr. Craker said he called a doctor and after examination went to bed. He was suffering from a sharp pain in his shoulder, and violent headaches followed.

STRENGTH NEEDED

Describing his work as a guide, Mr. Craker said he operated in the general vicinity of Houston which is about 1,400 miles north of Victoria, near Prince Rupert. He escorted big game hunters by jeep, boat and on foot to a base camp.

Sometimes he carried 100-pound loads on his back for four or five hours at a stretch.

When Mr. Gregory asked if that could be considered a heavy load, Mr. Monteith replied:

"Perhaps my learned friend would like to carry 100 pounds on his back all day."

"It is a nice job," remarked Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, who is hearing the case. "I did a lot of it about 50 years ago."

Dr. John Edgar Harvey of Victoria said he examined Mr. Craker some while after the accident. He complained of pains in the back of his neck extending over the head, and said the pains were aggravated when he moved his head.

Mr. Craker attributed these pains to the elevator accident, since he had never had them before.

"Was this examination within your speciality?" Mr. Gregory asked the doctor.

"Yes it was," he replied.

The hearing continued this afternoon.

Private Prober Assaults Woman, Pays Fine of $25

Private investigator Robert James Adrian, 5229 Cordova Bay, was fined $25 in city police court today for the common assault of a client's wife May 10.

The detective pleaded not guilty to assaulting Mrs. Edith Vera Lanchick, in her room at the Albany Hotel, 1021 Government.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said in view of the evidence and the fact Mrs. Lanchick apparently did not view the matter seriously enough to swear a complaint until May 27, he was not prepared to treat the charge as a serious matter.

Complainant said Adrian had told her at his midnight visit to her hotel room, where, she said, the assault had taken place, that he had been employed by her husband.

The manager of the hotel told the court he had run to Mrs. Lanchick's room when he heard cries for help.

Clothes Damaged In Fire-Blast At City Laundry

Minor explosion in a steam drier at Standard Steam Laundry, 841 View, caused damage to a quantity of clothing at 10.46 a.m. today.

Firemen were unable to ascertain exact cause of the blast, but believe it may have been due to static electricity in the clothing touching off dry cleaning solvent fumes.

At 11.30 a.m. firemen attended at Burnside and Francis where a light delivery truck owned by E. Nixon, 1286 Hastings, sustained about $100 damage when spilled gasoline was touched off by hot metal from a welding job.

ASK The TIMES

Q. I intend to purchase a small sailing vessel in England and sail it to Canada. What costs would be involved in changing the British registry to Canadian?—N.O.

A. Your vessel will be subject to Canadian duty and taxes on arrival, and these change from time to time. Transfer of registry is based on tonnage. Up to a vessel of 10 tons the fee is only 50 cents; up to and including 40 tons the fee is $1.50.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Question and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, sitting in Supreme Court today, declined a request from W. Berkeley Monteith that the court should sit late in order to complete a case.

"No, I can't do that," he said. "I have been sitting every day and working every Sunday for weeks ... It is too much. There isn't time to complete judgments and then there is criticism on that score."

The Victoria Amateur Movie Club will meet Monday at 7.45 p.m. in the Art Gallery, Moss Street.

A conciliation officer was named today to act in a salary contract dispute between Canada Safeway Ltd. and 1,000 retail clerks in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster areas.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks announced appointment of conciliator R. G. Clements of Vancouver. The employees are members of Retail Grocery and Food Clerks' Union, Local No. 1518.

Greater Victoria Lions clubs Wednesday turned over a $2,500 cheque to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, proceeds of the Easter seal campaign.

Campaign chairman was L. K. O'Neill.

Rumors of an outbreak of the highly infectious "strep throat" in the Victoria area were quashed today by city health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffey.

She said that for the week ending June 23 reports showed no cases in Victoria-Esquamalt and only one in Saanich.

"To my knowledge we haven't had any cases," she said, "in the schools or anywhere else."

A Vancouver electrical contractor has been awarded a $67,990 contract for installation in the new Government House. Public Works Minister W. N. Chant today announced the award to Ricketts, Sewell Electric Ltd.

Mrs. Reno Poulsen today reported an oddity.

The housewife, who lives at 533 Cornford, had telephoned a friend in Saanich. The line went dead and she found herself in touch with two other housewives speaking in the Foul Bay area.

"I didn't really mind, because one of them was my sister-in-law," she said.

Annual meeting of the Victoria Symphony Society will be held Thursday, July 3 at 7.30 p.m. in the society's office, Pandora Avenue at Oak Bay Junction.

The executive hopes for a good attendance of all those interested in the welfare and activities of the orchestra.

Ceremony Sunday For Dedication Of New Flagpole

A new flagpole erected beside the southwest tower of Christ Church Cathedral will be dedicated at a special ceremony Sunday, Dean Brian Whitlow announced today.

The regular 11 a.m. service will be a little shorter than usual, he said, to permit the outdoor ceremony to go ahead promptly. The choir will be in attendance, and a public address system will be in operation.

"We will raise the new Anglican Church flag for the first time," Dean Whitlow said. "We are anxious to have the pole properly dedicated in time for Princess Margaret's visit."

Idea of the flagpole was first put forward by Mrs. Harold Sandell, in memory of her husband, Hector Stone of Duncan, president of Hillcrest Lumber Co. Ltd., donated the 80-foot pole, and Cmdr. and Mrs. L. Mansfield-Robinson donated the flag in memory of their son, who was killed abroad.

Ontario, Crescent, Fraser, Skeena, Margaree, Athabaskan return 3 p.m., July 7.

Oshawa returns July 5.

Orlino returns noon Friday.

Fortune, Miramichi leave 8 a.m. Friday, return 4 p.m. Wednesday.

James Bay, Cowichan leave 10 a.m. Friday, return 8.30 a.m. July 8.

PRESERVATION OF OLD LAND CULTURES HIT

Judge Warns Group of New Citizens

Many new Canadians who take the oath of allegiance to Canada do not mean what they say, Judge J. B. Clearhue said here today in administering the oath in the courthouse to 22 persons from 12 countries.

"They are not prepared" to renounce countries of origin, he said, and the oath of allegiance to Canada "is taken too lightly."

Certain things had happened that convinced him of this, he said, such as the recent arrival in Vancouver of a giant Russian plane.

"Russian-Canadians met this plane, clad in national costumes, and bowed to the pilot. These Canadians were expressing loyalty to Russia in no uncertain terms."

Those taking the oath were Mrs. Pauline J. Beauchemin, 1175 Turner; Mrs. Margaret Bohlscheld, 619 Nelson; Mrs. Agnes Bouz, 1014 Park; Svend W. I. Christensen, 462 Goward; Vincent Chu, 1806 Government; Paul Chin, 1051 Queens; Irena Janik, 435 Quebec; Arnold Larsen and Inga Larsen, 1528 Elford; Leonardus and Elizabeth Notenboom, 1957 Fairfield; Mrs. Gemma Simmeoni, 2509 Prior.

For those who took part in this Vancouver ceremony, the oath of allegiance is "worthless," the judge declared.

He added that "only a few months ago" the Dutch settlers in Canada did the same thing in "flocking" to honor Prince Bernhard.

"I wish more of you," he told the group, "would join Canadian societies rather than nationalistic societies which tend to preserve native customs and loyalties to native countries."

COULD BE CALLED UP

Judge Clearhue explained that by taking the oath of allegiance to Canada, those present could be called upon in an emergency to fight even brothers and sisters in the native land.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Colorful Tartan Baby Pants
Perfect for Small Tads

By PENNY SAVER

Wee lassies and laddies look neat and cute as buttons in these tartan baby pants. They're plastic, with smooth elastic at the waist and openings, priced at 89 cents a pair.

Bermuda shorts or kiddies are in town now! In gay and glorious colors for summer, they're trimmed with contrasting checks and stripes. Junior will be a companion piece for father or mother in these "Bermudas"! They're in hardwearing denim that won't fade in the first washing. The price is $2.98!

For a girl baby I've found frilly and oh so adorable sun suits of cotton with wide bib and straps. These play suits are suitable for garden or beach. They're priced at $2.95 each.

Carry baby's gear around in a tartan waterproof utility bag! It's complete with zipper and plastic fittings. This bag makes a wonderful weekend or overnight case, and, as for the beach, it's a blessing, because you can drop wet bathing suits and towels inside and nothing gets harmed! Cases are selling from $1.98 up.

The lassies are toting summery and practical wicker basket purses these days. They look like miniature suitcases and they are just big enough to hold lipstick, comb, wallet, scarf and maybe the odd apple and sandwich. Yes... I've bought one... and for only $1.98.

Searching for something a little bit on the special side? Give me a call. I just might know where you can locate it. My telephone number is 2-3131.

Cancelled

A lawn party planned by the Women's Auxiliary of Court Garden City of the Independent Order of Foresters which was to have been held Friday evening has been cancelled. There will be an auxiliary meeting Thursday, July 3, at 8 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

Plump sweet raisins in boiling water, drain and mold in cool lime-flavored gelatin along with melon balls and tiny cubes of cream cheese for a delicious hot weather salad.

Can You Help Your Child To Be Creative?

Yes, if you go about it the right way! You can encourage or discourage creativity depending on the way you yourself live. Make sure it's your child's enthusiasm—not yours. A persistent parent who expects too much can destroy potential talent.

July Chataine brings you expert advice from Dr. Mary Northway, well-known Canadian psychologist. You'll see how you can develop your child's ability; learn how to handle new areas of creativity; and recognize the pitfalls of guiding too much or too little. LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Dinner seating arrangement: We are giving a dinner party in a restaurant for 12 friends. It will be an oblong shaped table. Where should my husband and I be seated? Our guests will be married couples. Should I seat husbands and wives together?

Louise Davis answers: If the table is wide enough, Louise Davis you and your husband should sit at either end, just as you would in your own home. If the table is too narrow, you should sit at opposite corners. In either case, you can have a better opportunity to survey the table during the dinner. Being at the ends, it would be less awkward for you to give instructions to the waiter or waitress than if you were sitting in the middle. The perfect hostess doesn't seat husbands and wives together. Different faces add interest and zest for table conversation.

Entertaining dining guests: What can a hostess do about dessert when half of her guests are on a reducing diet?

Louise Davis answers: Try collecting recipes with low calorie counts. With imagination and ingenuity, you might experiment by using non-fattening substitutes. Cantaloupe is a good suggestion when in season. With it, you can pass around a bowl of ice cream for those who aren't trying to reduce. Broiled grapefruit is another, but, to make it savory, it should be cooked with a little brown sugar, honey or maple syrup. Sherbet, which is cheating a little, is lower in calories than many desserts. Or you could serve small portions of ice cream and pass sauce for those who wish it.

FUN FAIR AT ESQUIMALT

A merry-go-round for the children will be a feature of the fun fair and garden party Saturday from 2 to 5.30 p.m. at Esquimalt Memorial Park. Fair is sponsored by Esquimalt Chapter, IODE, who will use proceeds for educational and welfare work. Pictured above are Mrs. M. Brenton, Mrs. C. G. McIntosh and Mrs. B. R. Russell, convener, who are working on plans for games, stalls and refreshments. Mrs. H. S. Rayner, wife of the Flag Officer Pacific Coast, will open the party.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Arm Exercises Prevent, Correct Flabby Arms

Our arms are much more in evidence during the warm months. The arm defect which worries most women after their early years is the flabby upper arm. This is practically always a problem from middle age on and often sooner. However, exercise can accomplish wonders in preventing and correcting this condition. Do this one faithfully: Stand erect with the arms at the sides. Bend both elbows and touch the fingertips to the top of the shoulders, raising the elbows as high as you can. Now shoot the arms down and back, reaching as far as possible. As you do this turn the palms outward (the backs of the hands are next to the body). Raise arms and again touch the fingertips to the shoulders.

Nanaimo Woman Heads Press Club

Mrs. Dorothy Plant, Nanaimo, was re-elected president of Vancouver Island Branch, Canadian Women's Press Club in annual meeting last Sunday.

The gathering was held at Silver Bridge Inn in Duncan. Other officers are Mrs. Nona Damaske, Victoria, vice-president; Miss Mildred Marks, Parksville, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Butler, Errington, V.I., treasurer; Miss Dorothy Tupper, Victoria, historian, and Mrs. Kay Jefferies, Victoria, program.

Miss Elizabeth Forbes, immediate past-president, was installing officer. Nominating chairman was Mrs. Muriel Wilson. Following presentation of reports, program chairman, Mrs. Jefferies, presented a panel discussion on craft talks with Mrs. Wilson, Miss Marks and Miss Tupper assisting. Afternoon tea and a buffet supper were enjoyed on the patio beside the swimming pool at the Inn.

FRESH AND COOL

In the Victorian era they didn't believe in night air. So, when they went to bed at night, they firmly closed all the windows and developed interesting pale grey complexions.

Take a tip from this and always have your windows open at night the year around.

Flowers for a Princess In Hands of Nine Men

By ELIZABETH FORBES

"We're working flat out!" Acting head gardener Butterworth looked around Government House grounds as he spoke, his keen eyes taking in every weed that had popped up overnight, every uneven lawn edge and every dead flower.

"We'll be ready," he promised.

As he said these words his eyes lifted to the skies and somehow I gathered that weather is going to play a big part in the fulfilment of this promise.

Elizabeth

You see, Len Butterworth and the eight men working with him are very busy these days. They're grooming the lawns and the flower beds in Government House grounds for the garden party on Monday, July 14.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Margaret, who will be in Victoria then, has graciously consented to attend the garden party and walk informally among the guests.

"We want everything to be at its best," Len Butterworth says and you know from the way he says it that he considers it a great responsibility.

If the weather gets too hot, the choice blooms he has been watching so carefully may fade away before July 14.

On the other hand, if the weather is too cool, the borders may not be as colorful as he wishes.

Right now, consensus of opinion amongst all nine gardeners is that "everything will be all right."

Perennial borders that form a background for the clipped green lawns, should be heavy with bloom. Begonias, snapdragons, fuchsias and rose geraniums will be in the smaller beds. Borders should be laced with perfume for sweet-scented heliotrope will be in flower.

Outlining the rustic summerhouse on the upper lawn will be hanging baskets filled with trailing lobelia, nasturtiums, schizanthus and sweet-scented geraniums.

Tent pegs holding the marquees in place on the lower lawn will be concealed with massed arrangements of gay summer flowers.

Inside the summerhouse and on the long tables under the marquees there will be arrangements of colorful flowers from the cutting beds and from the greenhouses. These will include carnations, stocks and long-stemmed roses.

If the weather is very hot in the next week or so gardener Butterworth may lose some blooms amongst the early-flowering summer flowers. On the other hand warm weather will bring along the perennial scabiosas, the salvia and the zinnias.

Will these late summer flowers be in bloom by then?

"Maybe!" says gardener Butterworth.

His brow wrinkles and his eyes turn again to the skies.

You get the idea that he wishes he had one of those crystal balls fortune tellers use, and that it would give him the "low down" on the weather.

Blossoms for the Royal Suite

When the time comes gardener Butterworth will also have to be prepared to supply flowers for the rooms in the royal suite at the Empress Hotel where the Princess Margaret will live while in Victoria.

Already in one of the greenhouses he has pots of delicately frilled petunias that can be transported easily from place to place. Carnations are in bud (red, white, pink and crimson) and they will be ready for cutting.

Begonias, too, are being grown in pots and the ever-popular coleus, with its splashy red, green and purple leaves, will be ready for background effects in suite decorations.

"They should all be at their peak at the time of the visit," Len Butterworth said, as he ran an exploratory thumb gently over the stems.

There might be orchids, too, for one of the Government House greenhouses has several pots of orchids in green and bronze, white and the beautiful mauve tones.

In the meantime gardener Butterworth and his helpers work "flat out" on the flower borders, and when they are not looking for weeds, faded flowers and uneven lawn edges, they are scanning the skies and praying for "gardener's weather."

An Attractive June Bride

A charming formal gown of white Chantilly lace and net was chosen by Diane Elizabeth McLennan for her marriage to Barry William Youell in Centennial-United Church.

The gown was fashioned with Sabrina neckline on the fitted lace bodice, and a bouffant skirt of net applied with lace over crinolines. A coronet of mother-of-pearl sequins held her chapel veil, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis to complete the attractive ensemble.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLennan, Roseberry Avenue, she was given in marriage by her father. Rev. Douglas Carr officiated at the evening ceremony for which the church was decorated with tall baskets of pink gladioli and white stocks.

Attending the bride was her cousin, Miss Ann Newham, who wore a rose-pink gown of lace and net over taffeta. Her head-dress was in matching pink and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations touched with green.

As flower girl Miss Miriam Coates wore a dress of nylon over taffeta in pale pink, with matching headress and colonial bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Youell, Hunt Road, chose Ronald Youell as best man. Ushers were Lamont Brooks and Duncan McLennan. Logan E. Dunn proposed the toast to the bride at a reception at Dulcie's following the ceremony.

Leaving later on a motor trip to the interior, the bride wore a two-piece duster ensemble in shades of beige and cocoa with cocoa brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Fruit or vegetable combinations can be used with very little work. Canned meats help for tasty Kabobs that perk up picnic menus to make these dainties something to remember.

Kabobs—Mighty Fine Picnic Fare

Picnic days are here and that's easy, and yet a little out of the ordinary. Most of the answer to the "What to eat?" question, since they are so easy to pack and easy to serve. No matter how far you are traveling for your outing, canned meat will work into your plans, as it keeps indefinitely without refrigeration.

Everyone goes for a canned luncheon loaf that features real pork from the juicy pork shoulder and tender beef for distinctive texture and flavor. It's the same combination you select for homemade meat loaves. Choose a brand that's known for quality and you're sure to have the basis for satisfying picnic fare.

If you're planning for a good-sized picnic gathering soon, try serving "Kabobs" for a dish that's easy, and yet a little out of the ordinary. Most of the answer to the "What to eat?" question, since they are so easy to pack and easy to serve. No matter how far you are traveling for your outing, canned meat will work into your plans, as it keeps indefinitely without refrigeration.

TODAY'S RECIPE

HOT DOG 'N' RICE BAKE

Three-quarter cup ripe olives, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup grated American cheese, 4 sliced frankfurters, 2 tablespoons diced pimiento, 2 cups cooked rice, 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs.

Cut olives into large pieces. Melt two tablespoons butter and blend in flour, salt and mustard.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Leftover slices of ham make a tasty entree when they're rolled up with a spicy bread stuffing containing naturally-sweet light or dark raisins. Wrap them in foil, bake and serve with your favorite sauce.

Serve canned green beans in orange-butter with baked ham. Heat the green beans and drain. Reheat a few minutes with two tablespoons each orange juice and butter and half teaspoon grated orange rind.

Refreshing for summer breakfasts are two fruits instead of one. Start with orange juice, serve plump cooked prunes with cornflakes and milk next. Or start with grapefruit juice; end with canned peaches for "dessert."

Gradually blend in milk, and cook and stir until mixture boils and is thickened. Stir in cheese, frankfurters, pimiento, rice and olives, mixing lightly. Turn into shallow baking-dish. Blend crumbs and remaining melted butter, and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes until thoroughly heated. Makes four servings.

Patio Picnic

Eating meals out-of-doors is rapidly becoming a solid Canadian institution. Setting the table in the backyard under the spreading maple tree or on the patio is one of the best ways we can think of for beating the heat and catching whatever breezes happen to be available at the end of a hot summer day. For the hostess planning to entertain a few friends in this informal way this patio fried chicken, as the name implies, is the perfect answer to 'what to serve'. The chicken has a crisp herb-bread crumb-coating to add to the flavor interest. If the herbs which this recipe calls for aren't on your pantry shelf, we suggest you experiment a bit to get your own individual flavor. There's an added advantage in that the chicken is prepared approximately an hour in advance . . . a step which helps the hostess avoid that last-minute fuss.

PATIO FRIED CHICKEN

One small frying chicken, quartered, 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1/2 teaspoon thyme, 1/2 teaspoon marjoram, 1/2 teaspoon rosemary, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, shortening or cooking (salad) oil.

Wipe chicken pieces with a damp cloth. Combine the bread crumbs, thyme, marjoram, rosemary, paprika, salt and pepper in a pie plate. In another pie plate beat egg slightly; stir in water. Dip chicken pieces first in egg, then in crumb-mixture. Let stand 1 hour. Heat shortening or oil to a depth of 1/2 inch in a frying pan. Brown chicken pieces richly on all sides in hot fat. Reduce heat and cook the chicken, covered until tender — 15 to 20 minutes. Yield, four servings.

Give your own touch to canned and ready-prepared foods. Stir a tablespoon of instant minced onion, a dash Worcestershire sauce and a generous handful of ripe olive wedges into canned macaroni and cheese. Slice a tomato over top and sprinkle with cheese. Bake until bubbly and browned.

To make vegetable kabobs: Alternate cubes of meat with tomato pieces on a metal skewer. Top with an onion. There should be 3 cubes of meat and 2 pieces of tomato for each kabob. Kabobs may be broiled over a grill or about 4 inches from heat source in a broiler. Turn several times during cooking. Broil 6 to 8 minutes. Yield: 26 Kabobs.

Stand on Your Head for Beauty

The secret of many a beauty with a glowing, soft skin is one that we all can share: the 45-degree angle. This means simply resting with your feet up in order to give your blood a chance to circulate properly. You can prop your ironing board against a low chair or take a nap with your feet up on the end of a couch and a pillow under your hips. If you use the ironing-board, be sure that it's propped securely. This is a beauty habit to be formed now, whatever your age, and kept the rest of your life. It has something of the same effect on your face as a good facial. It smoothes those downward lines upward and outward and carries the flush of youth back into your face.

TRIAL AND ERROR

About the only way to find beauty preparations that will do the most for you is to experiment. It's a rare thing when one whole line of products proves to be just what you need. You may use this face powder made by one beauty house, rouge by another, lipstick by a third and so on.

But don't judge any product either by packaging or price. If you're concerned about the way your dressing-table looks, buy some pretty and permanent jars and boxes in crystal and keep them filled.

Bear in mind that it's your face that you want to look pretty first, your dressing-table second. And price is no guarantee that a product will work miracles for you. This is a land of absolutely first-rate beauty-products for which you can pay as little or as much as you like. The most expensive is not necessarily the best.

MONTREAL, June 26th—You can't beat home-made jam! I make lots of strawberry and raspberry and my family loves it! It always turns out beautifully because I follow the CERTO method. Certo is pectin, the natural jelling substance found in fruit. The Certo people select the finest pectin-rich fruit, then extract, refine and concentrate it to give you perfect performance. With Certo there's no guesswork. You get up to 50% more glasses because you don't boil the juice away and you keep the true color and flavor of ripe berries. With Certo Liquid and Certo Crystals you get a booklet of recipes tested and approved by General Foods Kitchens. Treat your family to homemade strawberry and raspberry jam—successfully made—with Certo.

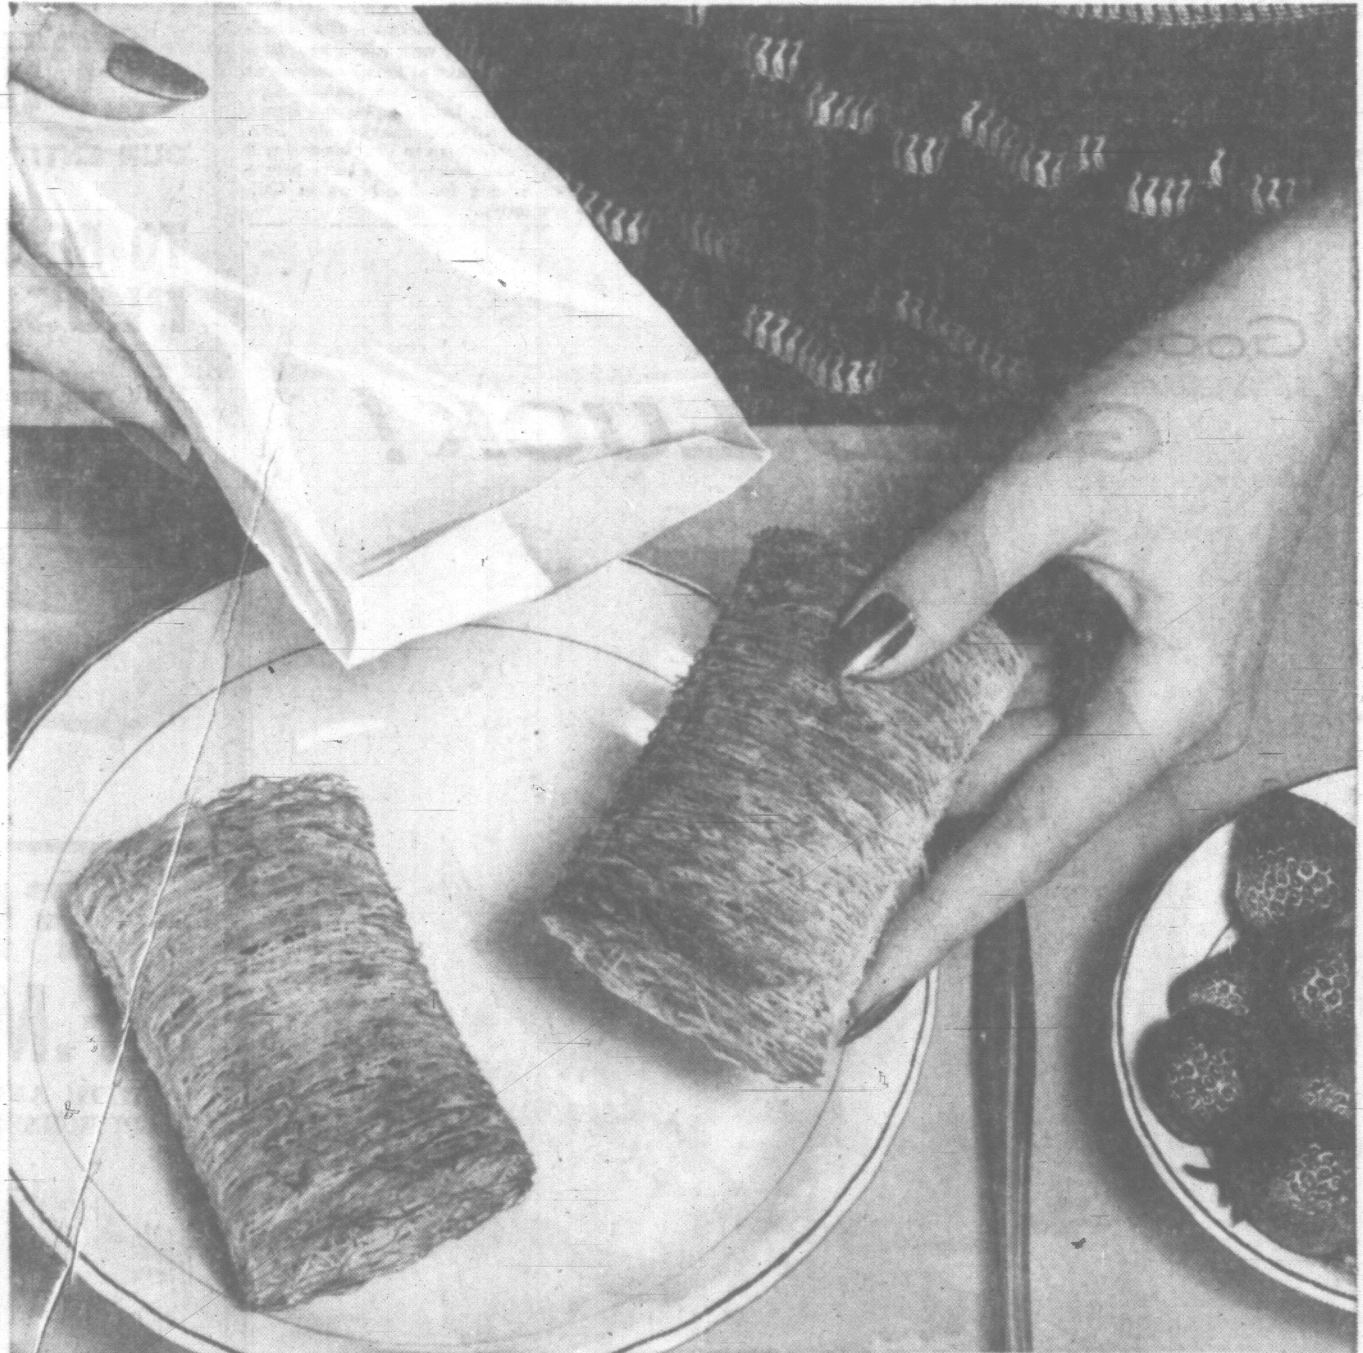

GOING TO EUROPE THIS SUMMER? Drop into your nearest BANK OF MONTREAL branch and ask for your free copy of the new Currency Guide. Small enough to fit snugly into pocket or purse, it tells you at a glance the dollar equivalents of no less than 11 European currencies. I'm going to be in London and the Continent next month, and I know my Currency Guide is going to be tremendously helpful. It also lists the addresses of the B of M offices in London and Paris, and I'm looking forward to taking advantage of their many travel services. Perhaps I'll meet you in one of these offices of "MY BANK" this summer.

ENJOY THE BOUNTY of the fresh fruits and vegetables now—with delectable Minute Mayonnaise made quick-as-quick with Borden's EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk . . . either plain, or with Borden's Sour Cream added. Here's how:

Minute Mayonnaise:
2 1/2 cups Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk, 1 egg yolk — 1/2 tsp. salt — 1 tsp. dry mustard — 1/2 cup vinegar — 1/2 cup salad oil — few grains cayenne. Place all ingredients in mixing bowl, beat with rotary beater until mixture thickens. If you'd like a thicker consistency chill before serving. Takes 2 cups.

One of the dozens of delectable variations in — add 1/4 cup Borden's Sour Cream to 1 cup of Minute Mayonnaise. Just made to complement fresh or jellied fruit salads!

THESE ARE THE DOG DAYS . . . that every dog enjoys . . . if he is lucky enough to be thriving on DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD, a veterinary diet which contains all the nutrients your trusting pet needs. Every tin of Dr. Ballard's contains the necessary energy body-builders which give your dog a shiny coat, bright eyes and abounding good spirits . . . come in three flavors: Chicken, Liver and Regular. Your pet deserves a scientifically health-giving balanced nourishment through these dog days, and every day . . . Dr. Ballard's Champion Dog Food, of course!

NOW! Shredded Wheat flavor and freshness sealed in for breakfast!

You get all the flavor Nature put in—all the nutrition, too, with the new TRIPAK inner wrap. And all the fresh, delicious toastiness just as if Nabisco Shredded Wheat came straight from the ovens to you!

It's fresher for longer! The four convenient TRIPAK envelopes each contain three delicious biscuits. Just unseal each envelope as you need it—the rest of the biscuits stay flavor-fresh!

Campbell River Planning Two Days of Celebration

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two days of celebrations have been planned here to mark Dominion Day, with a parade, regatta, salmon barbecue, and children's sports listed as top features.

The program will start Monday, with a parade, scheduled to start off along the Island Highway at 11 a.m. for Lane Field, where prizes will be presented.

Island Coal Meets Needs For Coking

COURTENAY — Coal from this area meets Japanese requirements for coking coal, officials checking on the possibility of sending coal from here to Japan have announced.

They add, though, that costs are too high compared to other coal sources available to Japan, but that with a government subsidy the plan would be feasible.

If such a scheme is undertaken, it will not begin before 1959 at the earliest, and will depend on a thorough review of prices, quality, amount of coal available, and shipping facilities.

It would mean an increase in the 250-man working force at the Campbell River Mine of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., only producing mine in the area.

Entries indicate good support from service clubs, commercial firms, children's groups, lodges, and Indian bands.

Music will be provided by Nanaimo Pipe Band, Sea Scouts, Campbell River High School orchestra, Manson's Landing school band, and the Comox Valley band.

Two divisions from the naval vessels Skeena and Fraser also will take part in the parade.

Children's sports at Lane Field in the afternoon will be directed by Campbell River Rotary Club, and an evening dance at the Community Hall will be sponsored by Rotarians and the Campbell River Boating Association.

More than 70 entries have been received for the power boat regatta to be held at the John Hart Dam head pond Tuesday from noon to 5 p.m., under sponsorship of Campbell River Boating Association.

In the early evening the Kinsmen Club will stage a barbecue on the beach north of the fire

Sawmill Operators

Inspect New Carriage

CHEMAINUS — M and B sawmill night foreman George McLeod and sawyers George Robinson, Gil Southam and Elmer Hart travelled to Vancouver this week to inspect the automatic log carriage in use at Fraser Mills.

This type of automatic carriage is soon to be installed in the Chemainus mill, to replace the present pony rig.

Chemainus Beach Lifeguard Rehired By Kinsmen Club

CHEMAINUS — The Kinsmen Club announced today that Allan Goldie has been hired again as lifeguard for the Chemainus beach. Mr. Goldie served as lifeguard at the beach last year.

He will take up his duties at the beach July 1, and will be on hand from noon to 8 p.m. seven days a week 'until the end of August.

In addition to his regular lifeguard chores, Mr. Goldie will conduct swimming and water safety classes. The first of these, for beginners, will start July 3. Classes for juniors, intermediates and seniors will follow.

The Kinsmen Lifeguard Fund now stands at $316. A total of $750 will be needed.

James Islander Medalist In CGA Graduating Class

Gold medal winner in the 1958 graduating class of the Certified General Accountants' Association of B.C. is Donovan W. Ruffie, cost accountant with Canadian Industries Ltd. at James Island.

He took the last two years of his five-year course by correspondence, and was leading student of the fifth-year graduating class.

Nelson Wallace, Victoria, who came first in his second year, this year led the fourth-year class. He works with the B.C.H.S. as hospital accounting inspector.

Other Victoria and Vancouver Island men who passed examinations are:

Graduated—J. Butcher, D. E. Campbell, S. S. Goss, all of Victoria; R. H. McDougall, Port Alice.

Passed fourth year: P. J. Kelly, P. Lawton, W. J. Robertson, Miss C. W. Spillie, N. S. Wallace, and L. A. Wright of Victoria.

Passed third year: T. A. House of Victoria and A. VandeCasteen of Duncan.

Passed second year: P. J. Smith and I. Valen of Victoria.

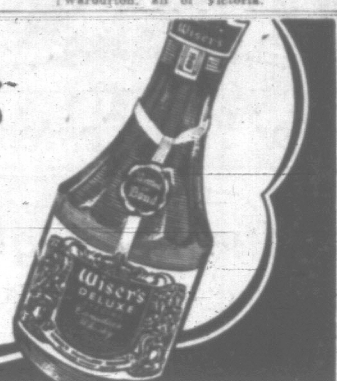

DONALD W. RUFFIE

Passed first year: J. H. Bennett, M. C. Creech, E. A. Hodges, L. Holm, J. V. Martin, K. J. Stokes and H. O. M. Warburton, all of Victoria.

97 Craft Take Part In Tofino 'Fly-in'

TOFINO — A total of 97 aircraft, ranging in size from Piper Cubs to a Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-6B, took part in a Sunday "fly-in" here sponsored by Vancouver's Aero Club of B.C.

The aircraft, including those from other B.C. and Seattle clubs, took off from Sea Island at Vancouver at 10:30, and arrived here at noon.

The CPA craft had been chartered by the Aero Club to take 70 passengers from the mainland, including special guests of the club.

On arrival the visitors were taken to a picnic ground on Long Beach, close to the airstrip, for a feast of fresh crab provided by Long Beach, Tofino and Ucluelet residents.

CANSO SHEPHERD

Shepherding the small aircraft was an RCAF Canso, that was ready to help any flyer in trouble, and which accepted flight plans for those returning to Vancouver.

The visitors, some of whom landed on the hard sand of Long Beach while the tide was out, started taking off for home at 4 p.m.

Victoria pilots who took part in the fly-in were H. B. Oldfield, Mel Price, Brian Ross, Gordon Bolley, Wes Colebank and Richard Nash, all of whom operate their aircraft from the Butler-Howroyd field in Central Saanich.

Church Acts To Prevent Road Mishaps

COURTENAY — United Church here, roused by a series of fatal accidents, has adopted a resolution asking for action between local groups for increased highway safety.

Its resolution, passed at a meeting of more than 100 church members, is as follows: Whereas the members of this congregation are alarmed and distressed at the high rate of traffic accidents in this area, be it resolved we request the minister and session to co-operate with other groups in effective measures to protect the citizens from needless hazards on the roads."

Reception Set For Departing Church Pastor

Rev. Douglas Pitkey, minister at Esquimalt United Church the past four years, leaves Sunday to take a new post at a United Church in Mitchell, Ont., on July 13.

A congregational farewell reception will be held at 8 o'clock.

His successor here will be Rev. Howard Turpin, now minister of Shawnigan Lake United Church.

Mr. Pitkey's last sermon, Sunday at 11 a.m., will be on the subject "What It Means To Be a Christian."

Suspect Held After Aged Woman Axed

NANAIMO — RCMP are holding a suspect in connection with an axe attack on Mrs. Mary Romero, 87, at her Irwin Street home Tuesday evening.

No charges have been laid pending medical examination of the suspect, who was found in Georgia Park.

Mrs. Romero, now reported in good condition, ran to a neighbor for assistance after the attack. She was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital by ambulance.

First Drive-in Station Here

By TONY DICKASON
Victoria can claim having had the world's first drive-in gas filling station.

And Vancouver can claim having the world's first gasoline service station (non-drive in).

Two retired stalwarts of the trade are authority for this. J. M. Henderson, 730 Vancouver, and John MacDonald, 2557 Vancouver.

The Victoria station was opened in 1914 and the Vancouver station in 1908.

These "firsts" were brought to light when Mr. Henderson saw a small item, which came from U.S. sources in the Times which said:

"The world's first automobile filling station dealing exclusively in gasoline and petroleum products was opened in Columbus, Ohio, in 1917."

"Incorrect," said Mr. Henderson, resident manager for Imperial Oil here until retirement in 1953. "Mr. MacDonald operated the first station long before 1917."

Mr. MacDonald said it was in 1914.

"Those were the days when gasoline was 16 cents a gallon and oil 30 cents a quart. It cost almost as much to keep a car in oil as in gas."

The "drive-in" station was on the northwest corner of Broughton and Douglas.

Mr. MacDonald retired in 1950. He is aged 80 today.

Mr. Henderson recalls that it was in 1908 that the late C. M.

Rolston, B.C. manager for Imperial Oil, originated the service station idea. It operated in Vancouver at the corner of Cambie and Smythe Streets.

Equipment consisted of an iron water tank, painted red with a glass gauge and a length of rubber hose. Gasoline was supplied to the "water" tank from a storage tank in the company's yard.

The Victoria unit was under a bright canopy. Equipment included a one-gallon hand-operated pump, controlled by metre, underground storage tanks, bulk motor oils serviced on "tap" like beer, a rest room, and free air and water.

There are 25 Imperial stations in Victoria today, and close to 10,000 in Canada.

U.S. Plans Big Bomber Base at Churchill

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—A $10,000,000 U.S. Strategic Air Command bomber refueling base will be built at Churchill, with tenders to be called within the next two weeks, it was learned here Wednesday.

The base will include buildings, long runways and storage tanks for bomber fuel. Air tankers will be located at the base and take off to rendezvous with the SAC bombers in flight across the north.

Defence Construction Limited, a Canadian Crown Company, will call the tenders within a week or 10 days for the Churchill base, it was learned.

A total of four bases will be located in the north at a cost of around $50,000,000. Tenders have already been called for building such a base at Frobisher on Baffin Island off Canada's northeast coast.

The other two bases will be located at Cold Lake in northern Alberta, near Lloydminster close to the Saskatchewan border and at Naman, the air centre just outside of Edmonton.

Jazz Cellar Session
From June 27 to 30

Victoria's new jazz cellar, The Scene, Wharf Street, will be open for four nights immediately prior to the Dominion Day holiday.

Reason for the extra sessions is the Ray Sikora Quintet at the club, June 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Trombonist Sikora hails from California's Westlake College of Music where he took first place in Downbeat's college band awards.

Accompanying him will be Vancouver's top jazz drummer, Bill Boyle and bass boy Bob Miller; also alto man Bob Sitka from eastern Canada.

Friday and Saturday sessions will commence at 10 p.m. Sunday will feature a special 8.30 starting time with a silver collection at the door. Monday night's session incidentally will continue well into the holiday small hours.

In Cinemascope and color. The outdoor scenes of this romantic drama were filmed in Jamaica, British West Indies; the interior scenes in England. Richard Burton, the Welshman and great Shakespearean actor, stars with other British stars Joan Collins and Basil Sydney. The story is adapted from J. M. Scott's best-selling novel "Sea Wife and Kinship." (Note: sea wife is the old salt's name for mermaid.) A compelling story of faith, beautifully acted. Also good shorts and news. By Oswald Jacoby
With today's hand I take leave of Watson's book on play for a while.

87 FUEL
As Watson points out, the man who trumps his partner's ace is seldom regarded favorably in bridge circles but there is a time and place for every play; even that one.

88 FUEL
West opens the ace of diamonds against the five-heart contract, and if East is up on his toes he must trump that ace.

89 FUEL
West had bid five diamonds all by himself and is vulnerable. Surely he holds an eight-card suit. Also he ought to have the spade ace on the side.

TV Satellite Relay Studied for Trail

TRAIL — British Columbia's first low-power television transmitter, relaying programs off the CBC microwave network service may be located at Trail.

Engineers now are in the Trail-Rossland area making preliminary surveys. Kenneth Caple, CBC director for B.C., said the CBC proposes to build low-power relay TV transmitters in some of the larger centres of population along the route of the trans-Canada microwave where surveys indicated this is feasible.

He said the major determining factors would be concentration of population and proximity to the network. The proposed low-power repeater station would not originate local programs.

TUNE WAS CALLED
PORT MOODY — The Port Moody centennial committee will protest a bill from the provincial government for $13.10 and a penalty of $1.31 for amusement tax for a dance the committee sponsored. It says the government asked that centennial events be held—and besides, the dance lost $250 at the door.

CPR SALVAGES LINE
VANCOUVER — Canadian Pacific Railway's transcontinental line was back in working order Wednesday night after 33 mudslides had ripped the track in the Kamloops area. Today CPR equipment began recovering four diesel engines, valued at $1,000,000 and seven freight cars that slid down a 150-foot embankment at Squilax, 42 miles east of Kamloops.

LAWYERS MEET
PENTICTON — The vanguard

of 200 delegates to the annual conventions of the Law Society of British Columbia and the Canadian Bar Association, B.C. branch, started to arrive here Wednesday. The two-day meeting being today.

POLICE VOTE URGED
VANCOUVER — Proposals for a larger B.C. police control board and elected police commissions are included in resolutions to be presented at the three-day convention of B.C. and Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce which opened here Wednesday.

Among other resolutions to be considered by the delegates are suggestions for increasing the speed limit on B.C. highways to 60 miles an hour in suitable sections, introduction of a Hansard report for the B.C. legislature and licensing of beer and cocktail lounges for live music.

BOY DROWNED
FERNIE — Sharelle Verag, 12, playing on a make-shift raft with two young friends, fell into a quiet backwater of the Elkwater River Wednesday and was drowned.

Credit Union Income From Interest Up

Interest income increased by $742,000 for a total of $3,599,000 in 1957, the B.C. Credit Union League in convention here today was told by the president, A. Rod Glenn of Nanaimo.

Membership, he said, in presenting the report of the board of directors, increased by 21,237, for a total 161,596.

"It can be conservatively estimated that credit union members saved themselves something over $3,000,000 in interest charges by borrowing from their credit unions rather than from other sources," he said.

Assets had increased to $11,564,000 during the year for a total of $62,413,000.

From mid-June to the present, 12 new credit unions were organized in B.C., three credit unions were dissolved and seven amalgamations took place.

B.C. HIGHER

Statistics were quoted which showed B.C. per capita and family savings were higher than average in credit unions, while loans were less.

Average saving per capita per year was $104; in credit unions, $106. Average savings per family were $353, and in credit unions, $360. Average loans for a family was $640 and in credit unions, $266.

Total claims paid for the year were, fidelity $15,538; burglary $3,873; theft $49, and adjustment fees, $382, for a total of $19,844. Credit unions pledged $1,250 for the UBC development fund, to be paid the university over a five-year period.

Grid Clubs Benefit From Legal Judgment

VANCOUVER (CP) — A judgment was entered in Supreme Court of British Columbia Tuesday by Mr. Justice F. K. Collins for $38,000 for B.C. Lions and Edmonton Esquimos of the Western Inter-provincial Football Union.

The judgment was against A. Forbes Crawford of Vancouver and the General Casualty and the General Insurance Companies of America.

It represents Crawford's guarantee of $21,000 to the Eskimos and $17,000 to the Lions for their exhibition games in San Francisco and Portland last August.

Money A-Plenty Now

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The fund to send Ernestine Russell, 20-year-old, gymnast, to the world gymnastic championships in Moscow next month, went over the top Wednesday. Coach, Bernard Newman said $3,200 has been collected and he and the blonde Canadian and North American champion leave Saturday for the July 6-11 competition.

Tim Tam's Leg Responding Well

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Tim Tam is making a satisfactory recovery from an operation eight days ago on his injured right foreleg, a spokesman for the University of Pennsylvania school of veterinary medicine said Wednesday.

Tim Tam, who injured the leg in the Belmont Stakes, has been taking daily exercise since the removal of 14 chips from the sesamoid bone in the injured leg.

Even Irish Have A Silky Sullivan

THE CURRAGH, Ireland (AP) — Sindon, a colt who never had won a race, captured the Irish Derby Wednesday by a head over favored Paddy's Point.

Sindon, owned by Ann Bullitt Biddle of Philadelphia, barely fought off Paddy's Point's challenge in the stretch.

Paddy's Point came on in the stretch like a Silky Sullivan to make up a dozen lengths in the mud on the front-running Sindon.

Royal Highway finished third, another four lengths back, in the mile and a half classic.

Phenom Fizzles

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Baumann, husky southpaw pitcher said to have been paid a $100,000 bonus by Boston Red Sox, headed back to the minor leagues today. The former St. Louis schoolboy phenom, sent to Memphis in the Class AA Southern Association on recall, had a 2-2 record and his earned-run average was an unimposing 4.47.

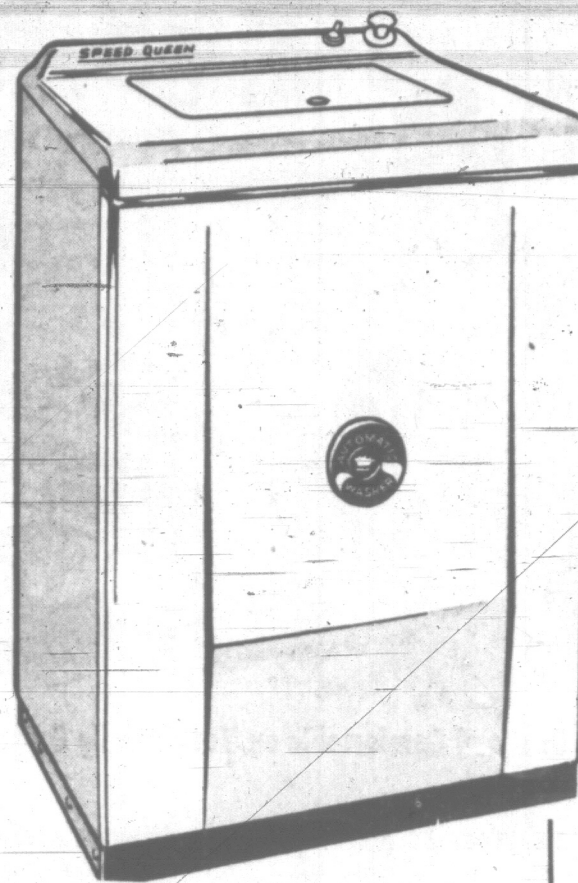

Drope Joins Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran first baseman Walt Drope, American League rookie of the year in 1950, was sold by Chicago White Sox to Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday in a waiver deal.

Mediator Consults CPR and Unions

Federal mediator Eric Taylor hoped to meet this afternoon in Vancouver with representatives of both sides in the CPR shipping strike.

The meeting was to be the first known conference of the mediator and union and company officials since Mr. Taylor was appointed.

This morning Mr. Taylor met with CPR officials. Outcome of the meeting was not made public at press time.

Monday, Mr. Taylor announced he was returning immediately to Ottawa. His decision to remain for further talks indicates a further step may be taken toward ending the six-week-old strike of Seamen's International Union members.

"FLAT OUT"

Prior to the meeting with CPR officials today, Mr. Taylor said he was going "flat out" for settlement.

He reaffirmed July 1 as a target date for steaming-up 10 "Princess" vessels, which are now out of service.

"Any arrangement, no matter how novel, which results in getting the boats running, will be explored," he said. At present the company and unions are far apart. The union has asked a 25 per cent increase over two years, while the company has offered eight per cent.

Mr. Taylor met Wednesday with union officials, including representatives of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the National Association of Marine Engineers.

The two professional guilds began a strike against the CPR

Tuesday, the same day they were to strike against Black Ball Ferries.

The latter strike was averted when the B.C. government declared an emergency would result if both major shipping lines serving Vancouver Island were out of operation. To avoid this, under power of the Civil Defence Act, the government took over operations of the Black Ball Line. The striking employees were enlisted to operate the service until settlement of negotiations.

SUPPORT PROMISED

The Merchant Service Guild and the Marine Engineers are asking a 19 per cent increase over two years, from both CPR and Black Ball lines. Both companies have offered eight per cent.

Observers believe if any settlement is reached with the CPR, the unions would be willing to settle on the same basis with Black Ball.

Mr. Taylor said Wednesday he would support any move toward a temporary agreement.

"There are various ways of escape open to both parties. It's up to them to decide," he said.

Five Hurt As Plane Crashes In Field

MONTREAL (CP)—Five persons were injured, three seriously, Wednesday night when a twin-engine Grumman Goose amphibian plane plunged into a barren field two miles from Montreal airport.

Names of the injured were not immediately released.

HERE 60 YEARS

Famed Singer Gideon Hicks 90 This Week

Gideon Hicks, for many years an outstanding personality in Victoria's musical community, celebrated his 90th birthday at his home, 1520 Cold Harbor Road, this week.

He was distinguished as teacher, choir conductor and singer.

Born in Cornwall, Eng., Mr. Hicks came to Victoria in 1898 and became choir leader at the Metropolitan Church.

For nine years he conducted the Metropolitan choir as well as the Victoria Choral Society, presenting many fine oratorios and frequently singing the bass solo.

In 1902 he conducted the first Victoria performance of Haydn's "Creation." Many internationally famous soloists sang in oratorios he conducted, including Madame Albani and Watkin Mills.

For more than 40 years Mr. Hicks was in great demand as a soloist, appearing in many cities of western Canada and the United States. One of his last appearances was as soloist in a Red Cross performance of The Messiah in North Vancouver during the Second World War.

In 1920 Mr. Hicks resigned his position as Victoria manager for the Heintzman Piano Co. in Victoria to devote his whole time to teaching and singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks retired to Metcosh in 1949.

CANADA'S 'HAPPY WARRIOR' UP FOR SALE BY ROYAL NAVY

OTTAWA (CP)—Warrior, one of six Royal Navy aircraft carriers up for disposal, was known to Canadian sailors as "the happy Warrior."

"She was a happy ship," a navy man recalled today.

The Warrior was commissioned in the Canadian Navy, on loan from the Royal Navy, early in 1946. It was returned to the RN in 1948, to be replaced by HMCS Magnificent.

Canada's first all-Canadian aircraft carrier, the Warrior made training cruises to the Canadian west coast via the Panama Canal and to Hudson Strait.

In London Wednesday night, the Warrior was listed as one of six RN aircraft carriers slated to be sold or scrapped as outmoded. The others are the Unicorn, Perseus, Theseus, Ocean and Glory.

Telephone officials will meet this week and next with municipal and other public bodies in the Sidney and Keating telephone-exchange areas to discuss the matter of including the whole Saanich peninsula in Greater Victoria's "free calling" area.

E. L. Mallett, division commercial manager, and J. A. Mackintosh, district commercial manager, will meet with the Sidney Village Commission, the Central Saanich Council and other interested groups, such as chambers of commerce, to outline the telephone company's proposals.

These proposals, briefly, are as follows:

When Sidney and Keating exchanges "go dial" early next year, subscribers in the areas would pay the same rates as subscribers in Victoria, Albion, Belmont and Colquitz, and would be able to dial, free of charge, any number in the whole area. The reverse would also be true, whereby all Victoria telephone subscribers would have free access to all Sidney and Keating telephones.

It would not be necessary to call an operator to complete the call, as the subscriber would dial the number himself.

This arrangement, according to Mr. Mallett, is exactly the same as that which went into effect when Albion, Belmont and Colquitz manual exchanges were converted to automatic operation several years ago.

The land rescue party, that includes a doctor, found he had suffered serious but undetermined injuries in a fall into a canyon.

APPEAL SENT

Deciding he was too badly hurt to be moved by land, he was taken from the canyon to a temporary shelter, and word was sent to Zeballos for assistance in flying him out.

Air-Sea Rescue sent a helicopter and Cariboo flying boat away from Sea Island at 8 a.m. Schedule called for the helicopter to refuel at Zeballos, then find its way to the injured man and his rescuers.

He will be taken to Zeballos, transferred to the Canso, and then taken to hospital either at Port Alberni or Vancouver, depending on the extent of his injuries and treatment required.

Copter Trying Rescue of Hurt, Old Prospector

An RCAF Air-Sea Rescue team from Sea Island today was probing mountainous country west of Zeballos to give aid to Samuel Norman Ray, injured 74-year-old prospector.

With Ray as members of a ground party that went in search of him after he had been reported missing Sunday. At that time it was noted that he had not been at his camp since June 12.

The land rescue party, that includes a doctor, found he had suffered serious but undetermined injuries in a fall into a canyon.

Rescue Teams Compete Here

Four leading B.C. mine rescue teams will compete for a mine department trophy here Saturday in provincial championships in "mock" mine disasters to be conducted in the rocky area behind the Memorial Arena starting at 8:30 a.m.

At the same time, six leading B.C. first aid teams will compete for provincial championship in the arena.

The competitions are jointly sponsored by the mines department and the Workmen's Compensation Board, and are being held for the first time in Victoria.

Three Vancouver Island teams will take part: Canadian Collieries mine rescue team; a Comox Logging Co. first aid team, and the HMC Dockyard fire department first aid team.

Prices Hit Upswing For Second Session

The market at Toronto moved down from its high today in moderate mid-afternoon trading but prices were still generally higher for the second straight day.

Refining oils and pipelines and foods were strong among industrials but most changes were fractional. Trans Mountain Pipe Line, however, jumped 2 1/2 points to 52, while Anthes Imperial added a point at 30.

Rails led the New York market higher today in moderately active trading. Selected industries showed numerous gains running to a point or more.

Du Pont and Eastman Kodak up a point or more each. Chrysler was up around a point in a firm auto section. Eastern Stainless Steel ran up around 3 points at its high. However, most of the steel leaders lost small fractions.

AT MONTREAL prices showed strength in modest trading today on the stock exchange.

Miscellaneous issues, utilities and oils and pipelines all gained ground.

AT LONDON steady conditions developed on the stock market today. Business was still limited, however, with operators cautious because of the delicate Middle East situation.

Gilt-edged securities opened firm but best prices were not always fully held. German bonds were firm in a quiet foreign market.

Dollar stocks advanced in response to the overnight improvement on Wall Street.

There was a renewed demand for South African gold shares which were firmer.

AT VANCOUVER trading was spotty with prices off slightly during the forenoon.

Basco sold 4,000 at 47. Royal Canadian Vickers moved 13-500 at 56. York Oils traded 6-000 at 7. New Hamill moved 4,000 at 34.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lack of important moisture in the western Canadian grain belt stimulated further aggressive demand in feed grains today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all five-eighths cent higher.

RCMP Death Boat Overloaded

PEPPERLAW, Ont. (CP)—An inquest jury ruled Wednesday that the 14-foot launch in which five RCMP men were carried to their deaths on wind-swept Lake Simcoe June 7 was overcrowded and overloaded.

The three-day inquest was held specifically in the death of RCMP Cpl. Herbert Smart, 34, of Toronto, whose body was the only one recovered.

The jury said he died by accidental drowning "due to rough sea caused by storm, failure of motor causing boat to swamp."

Drowned with Cpl. Smart were Constables Glen Farough, 21, of Brandon, Man.; Morris Melnychuk, 21, of Foam Lake, Sask.; George Hanson, 36, of Coronach, Sask.; and David Terry, 21, of Vancouver.

Eric Silk, deputy assistant attorney-general of Ontario, called it a splendid verdict.

The jury also found that transport department standard lifejackets and department-approved life cushions were unsatisfactory.

A local policeman and four Mounties yesterday re-enacted the boat mishap for the coroner's jury.

Two men in the boat threw life jackets and pillow-type life preservers into the lake, then dived after them.

The men reported they could not tie the life jackets about them while struggling in the water. The lake was mirror-calm.

There were both kinds of life preservers in the ill-fated boat.

The jury reported the vest type is more satisfactory. It also recommended all boats operating at night have compasses, that more common sense be used in operating boats and that a transport department pamphlet, "Safety Afloat," be readily available to the boating public.

In another test the boat shipped a small amount of water each time the 35-horsepower motor was suddenly turned off.

"This is not a safe boat," said Dr. C. S. Noble, coroner, after the test.

Testimony was that five men, their equipment and the motor weighed a total of 1,109 pounds.

Supt. George Ragen of Toronto harbor police testified he believed the boat was "overcrowded."

Canada to Share Jets for NORAD

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF's nine jet interceptor squadrons will be allocated to the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD), as soon as Parliament ratifies the Canada-U.S. agreement establishing the command, Defence Minister Peckes said Wednesday.

One jet squadron involved is located at Comox, B.C.

The Commons has already approved the agreement and the Senate may do so this week.

Mr. Peckes was speaking before the Senate external relations committee which approved the agreement and sent it to the Senate, where quick ratification is expected.

Mr. Peckes made these other points during committee questioning:

1. No decision has been reached on whether the U.S. would make atomic warheads available to Canada.

2. Defence expenditures will remain "very high for a number of years yet."

3. If Canada didn't spend money for North American defence, the U.S. would take over the entire job and Canada would lose its sovereignty and become "no more than a servant" of the U.S.

4. Not a week goes by but that some unidentified plane flies over Canada. No hostile plane had ever actually been found, however.

5. There are only 17 Canadians serving at NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., in contrast to "many hundreds" of American personnel.

6. A "general plan" by NORAD for air defence has been approved but a "tremendous" amount of detailed planning remains to be done.

7. He would like to see some American squadrons use the Canadian-developed Arrow jet interceptor. However, this was a matter for U.S. government decision.

Senator David Croll (L. Ontario) clashed with Mr. Peckes on the subject of atomic weapons.

He began by asking the minister whether Canada had the same defensive weapons as the U.S.

Mr. Peckes said: "Not at the present time." U.S. squadrons had air-to-air missiles with nuclear warheads but Canada had no atomic weapons of any kind.

NO ATOM ARMS

Mr. Peckes added that no decision has been reached on whether the U.S. will make atomic warheads available to Canada.

Senator Croll said he could not understand this when Canada and the U.S. were supposed to have a common defence.

Mr. Peckes said U.S. squadrons have atomic weapons and would be available to attack hostile planes in Canadian skies in event of war.

Senator Croll said the U.S. "might" turn over atomic warheads to Canada but "you don't learn the use of them overnight."

Senator Norman Lambert (L. Ontario) asked whether the Arrow, supersonic interceptor being developed by Avro Aircraft Limited, Malton, Ont., might be adopted by NORAD.

Mr. Peckes said he would "like to see" some U.S. squadrons use the Arrow. NORAD might recommend a certain aircraft but the decision would be up to the respective governments.

New Study Urged On Amalgamation

Mayor Scurrah to Recommend Probe
By One-Man Board; 'Not Sold Yet'

Appointment of a one-man commission to study amalgamation between the city and Saanich will be recommended by Mayor Percy Scurrah at an inter-municipal amalgamation committee meeting at 4 p.m. Friday.

Mayor Scurrah said he favored a complete investigation by a commission because he was "not sold on amalgamation."

"I've looked into the problem and I don't know if it would be a good thing for Victoria at the present time," he said. "But before making a decision I want to know the facts."

He proposed that an expert be appointed to conduct the investigation.

Coun. George Chatterton, Saanich representative with acting reeve George Austin, said he was not so "keen" on appointing one man to conduct the investigation unless it was certain he was "unbiased."

"It is always possible that one man can be biased," he said.

"What we want is an unbiased report so that the people of Saanich can vote intelligently on the subject," he said.

... HERE
AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

In a ringing introduction to Health Minister Eric Martin, at the 12th annual meeting of the B.C. Credit Union conference, Erith Edmonds said:

"It is now my great privilege to call on the Honorable Eric Charles Fitzgerald Martin, Minister of Health for the Province of British Columbia, to speak to you."

Answered Mr. Martin: "After that, I can hardly wait to hear myself speak."

"Of all the people born since the dawn of history, those living today represent one tenth" — W. C. Mainwaring, B.C. Electric vice-president in a talk to the B.C. Office Managers' Association in Victoria.

Back from Quebec City comes Pat Dunn, immediate past-president of Victoria's Canadian Club.

Pat flew east to represent Victoria at the biennial conference of the Association of Canadian Clubs and found it "stimulating and informative."

"It was the biggest biennial conference we have ever had," he said.

At the conference, B.C. Electric solicitor Douglas Patterson was elected regional director for Victoria.

Further to my note about Mr. Good Evening, the famous B.C. broadcaster, R. J. Hillyer of Foul Bay Road recalls the night he wished a restful evening to "all those who work with edge tools, AND their families."

Mr. Good Evening died 10 years ago but his radio whimsies are still chuckled over.

When Brigadier General "Shortie" Colquhoun returned to Victoria's Veterans' Hospital last week, he found the alert staff all ready for him.

They had set up the special seven-foot bed required by this towering officer whose six feet four inches belies his popular nickname.

A U.S. visitor now staying at the Empress Hotel says Californians are the most glib people in the world.

He recalls a two-line advertisement published in a Los Angeles paper. It said simply: "Send your dollars to Box 1234."

The dollars rolled in but nothing came back—not even a receipt. The indignant donors called at the newspaper office to inquire what they could expect for their money.

They learned that the advertiser had collected his dollars and skipped the city.

"He only asked you to send your dollars," the advertising manager pointed out. "He did not offer anything."

MIXED-UP MAIL BOX BACK AGAIN

Post office crewmen today re-installed a letter box at the corner of Elliott and Douglas and Douglas Building employees are happy again.

For two years homebound stenographers and secretaries have used the box despite a mud puddle that appeared beneath it on wet days.

Last week, works department crews finally built a cement apron to keep the girls' feet dry.

Then Monday the PO moved the letter box "... because of the puddle."

Today it was moved back, this time mounted on its own pole. The post office is progressively moving its boxes from power poles.

BOTTLE-FED BABY

Colt Foal Arrives Complete Surprise

His mother is a working woman, so Quiz is a bottle-fed baby.

Quiz is a six-week-old colt, gangling, long-legged, frisky, the picture of perfect health.

He thrived on a baby formula similar to that used by human offspring—for more than two weeks. Quiz inhaled three gallons of it daily.

His owner—and foster-feeder—is Roy Jewell, who operates a horse-breaking establishment on Beaver Lake Road, and is one of the few farriers in this district.

Roy acquired Quiz for the simple reason the colt's mother had to go back to work.

The reason for the name "Quiz"?

Nobody is quite sure who daddy was, or what strain he carries. But Roy thinks there may be "quarter horse blood in him. When Quiz is turned loose in the paddock, he shows an amazing speed."

Quiz forgot all about his hard-working mama the minute Roy introduced him to the nipped-bottle. Now he regards Roy as his mother, follows him around, whinnies lonesomely if Roy walks away.

And, for a six-week-old colt, he has a wonderfully assured future.

"He'll be right here with us as long as we're here," Mr. and Mrs. Sewell agree.

PLENTY OF WORK

She is a lead horse owned by Norman Leaver of Victoria, and as such has heavy responsibilities. She is used in training, gentling, and generally reassuring high-strung racehorses.

As proof that the colt's mother takes her duties seriously, she worked out with three racehorses one afternoon, then returned to the barn and produced Quiz.

When the youngster was a week old, he was given to Roy, who brought him here from the mainland and set Mrs. Jewell to making up vast quantities of baby formula.

Ceremony Sunday For Dedication Of New Flagpole

A new flagpole erected beside the southwest tower of Christ Church Cathedral will be dedicated at a special ceremony Sunday, Dean Brian Whitlow announced today.

The regular 11 a.m. service will be a little shorter than usual, he said, to permit the outdoor ceremony to go ahead promptly. The choir will be in attendance, and a public address system will be in operation.

"We will raise the new Anglican Church flag for the first time," Dean Whitlow said. "We are anxious to have the pole properly dedicated in time for Princess Margaret's visit."

Idea of the flagpole was first put forward by Mrs. Harold Sandell, in memory of her husband, Hector Stone of Duncan, president of Hillcrest Lumber Co. Ltd., donated the 80-foot pole, and Cmdr. and Mrs. L. Mansfield-Robinson donated the flag in memory of their son, who was killed abroad.

HUNTER HURT

Elevator Fall Brings Lawsuit To City Hotel

A big game hunter's guide from northern British Columbia claimed damages from the Strathcona Hotel in Victoria today because of injuries he said were sustained in the fall of an elevator from the fourth to the ground floor.

The guide — Ronald John Craker of Houston, B.C. — told the B.C. Supreme Court he was hurled into a corner of the elevator when it fell.

"It was a free fall," he said. "I have been in aircraft many times and I know what a free fall is."

Mr. Craker, now living in Victoria, is represented by W. Berkeley Monteith while George Gregory is appearing for the Strathcona Hotel.

A dark, thick-set man in a grey suit, Mr. Craker said as the result of injuries to his shoulder he suffered pains in the neck and head which prevented him from working as a guide to big game hunters in northern B.C.

The accident occurred on Sept. 8 last when he was staying in Victoria on holiday.

ON FOURTH FLOOR

Answering Mr. Monteith, Mr. Craker said he left his room in the hotel about 10 in the morning and rang for the elevator which came up to the fourth floor.

On the descent something went wrong with the mechanism.

"As the operator moved his lever, the elevator fell. It dropped about two and a half floors, then stopped with a sudden jolt and I was thrown into the corner ...

"I was just getting up from the corner when the elevator let go again and dropped to the ground floor."

Mr. Craker said he called a doctor and after examination went to bed. He was suffering from a sharp pain in his shoulder, and violent headaches followed.

STRENGTH NEEDED

Describing his work as a guide, Mr. Craker said he operated in the general vicinity of Houston which is about 600 miles north of Victoria, near Prince Rupert. He escorted big game hunters by jeep, boat and on foot to a base camp.

Sometimes he carried 100-pound loads on his back for four or five hours at a stretch.

When Mr. Gregory asked if that could be considered a heavy load, Mr. Monteith replied:

"Perhaps my learned friend would like to carry 100 pounds on his back all day."

"It is a nice job," remarked Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, who is hearing the case. "I did a lot of it about 50 years ago."

Dr. John Edgar Harvey of Victoria said he examined Mr. Craker some while after the accident. He complained of pains in the back of his neck extending over the head, and said the pains were aggravated when he moved his head.

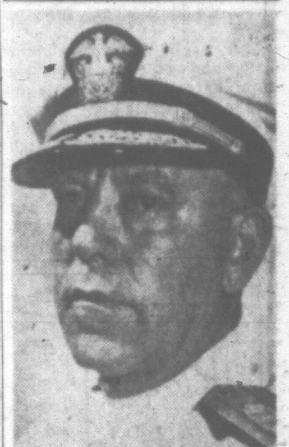

Mr. Craker attributed these pains to the elevator accident, since he had never had them before.

"Was this examination within your speciality?" Mr. Gregory asked the doctor.

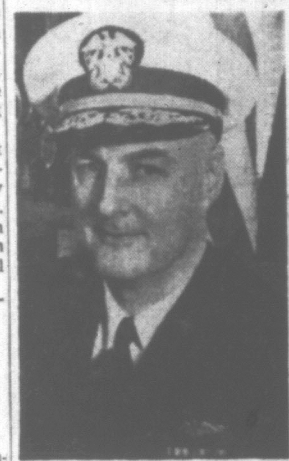

"Yes it was," he replied. The hearing continued this afternoon.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Charles R. Kuster, Duncan, $15 for speeding over 30 and $10 for failing to heed a siren. Glenn L. Standen, 1603 Derby, $25 for speeding over 30.

Former President Of Women's Club, Mrs. Farr Dead

Former president of the Canadian Women's Club, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Farr, 70, died Wednesday at her home, 2771 Burdick Avenue.

Widow of the late E. Stanley Farr, a professor at Stanley College, Mrs. Farr was a Victoria resident for 37 years.

Born in Warwick, Ont., Mrs. Farr was B.C. representative on the C.B.C. board of governors for several years and a former member of the PEO sisterhood, Chapter N.

She was a member of the United Church for 25 years and head of the Sunday school chadle roll for 18 years.

She is survived by three daughters, Grace, 2271 Burdick; Mrs. Jessie Patrick, Riverside, Conn., and Mrs. Mary Hardy, Vancouver; two sisters, Misses Jessie and Grace MacKenzie, Detroit, and a brother, Dr. W. J. MacKenzie, Vancouver.

Private Prober Assaults Woman, Pays Fine of $25

Private investigator Robert James Adrian, 5229 Cordova Bay, was fined $25 in city police court today for the common assault of a client's wife May 10.

The detective pleaded not guilty to assaulting Mrs. Edith Vera Lanchick, in her room at the Albany Hotel, 1021 Government.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said in view of the evidence and the fact Mrs. Lanchick apparently did not view the matter seriously enough to swear a complaint until May 27, he was not prepared to treat the charge as a serious matter.

Complainant said Adrian had told her at his midnight visit to her hotel room, where, she said, the assault had taken place, that he had been employed by her husband.

The manager of the hotel told the court he had run to Mrs. Lanchick's room when he heard cries for help.

$2,000 Donated To Help Family Struck By Fire

Upwards of $2,000 has been donated by the public in aid of Mrs. Helen Beckman who lost her husband, home and possessions in a fire at 3292 Rutledge early Sunday.

The fund, co-ordinated by Saanich municipality, continues to swell, but an accurate figure was unavailable by noon today.

Clothing, furniture and household items also have been given and are being looked after by Saanich welfare department.

Arrangements are being made to provide the family with a new home.

Clothes Damaged In Fire Blast At City Laundry

Minor explosion in a steam drier at Standard Steam Laundry, 841 View, caused damage to a quantity of clothing at 10.46 a.m. today.

Firemen were unable to ascertain exact cause of the blast, but believe it may have been due to static electricity in the clothing touching off dry cleaning solvent fumes.

At 11.30 a.m. firemen attended at Burnside and Francis where a light delivery truck owned by E. Nixon, 1296 Hastings, sustained about $100 damage when spilled gasoline was touched off by hot metal from a welding job.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I intend to purchase a small sailing vessel in England and sail it to Canada. What costs would be involved in changing the British registry to Canadian?—N.O.

A. Your vessel will be subject to Canadian duty and taxes on arrival, and these change from time to time. Transfer of registry is based on tonnage. Up to a vessel of 10 tons the fee is only 50 cents; up to and including 40 tons the fee is $1.50.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, sitting in Supreme Court today, declined a request from W. Berkeley Monteith that the court should sit late in order to complete a case.

"No, I can't do that," he said. "I have been sitting every day and working every Sunday for weeks. ... It is too much. There isn't time to complete judgments and then there is criticism on that score."

The Victoria Amateur Movie Club will meet Monday at 7.45 p.m. in the Art Gallery, Moss Street.

A conciliation officer was named today to act in a salary contract dispute between Canada Safeway Ltd. and 1,000 retail clerks in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster areas.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks announced appointment of conciliator R. G. Clements of Vancouver. The employees are members of Retail Grocery and Food Clerks' Union, Local No. 1518.

A 16-year-old Langford boy was placed on six months probation Wednesday in Colwood juvenile court for theft of a car at Langford recently.

There will be no city and rural mail delivery Dominion Day, Tuesday, the Post Office announced today.

Normal service will be maintained for Special Delivery, mail receipts and dispatches, but there will be an evening collection only from street letter boxes.

The public lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., wicket service available from 10 a.m. to noon, and the money order and savings bank windows will be closed.

Greater Victoria Lions clubs Wednesday turned over a $2,500 cheque to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, proceeds of the Easter seal campaign.

Campaign chairman was L. K. O'Neill.

Rumors of an outbreak of the highly infectious "strep throat" in the Victoria area were quashed today by city health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffey.

She said that for the week ending June 23 reports showed no cases in Victoria-Esquamalt and only one in Saanich.

"To my knowledge we haven't had any cases," she said, "in the schools or anywhere else."

A Vancouver electrical contractor has been awarded a $67,990 contract for installation of the new Government House, Public Works Minister W. N. Chant today announced the award to Ricketts, Sewell Electric Ltd.

Mrs. Reno Poulsen today reported an oddity.

The housewife, who lives at 533 Comerford, had telephoned a friend in Saanich. The line went dead and she found herself in touch with two other housewives speaking in the Foul Bay area.

"I didn't really mind, because one of them was my sister-in-law," she said.

Annual meeting of the Victoria Symphony Society will be held Thursday, July 3 at 7.30 p.m. in the society's office, Pandora Avenue at Oak Bay Junction.

The executive hopes for a good attendance of all those interested in the welfare and activities of the orchestra.

PRESERVATION OF OLD LAND CULTURES HIT

Judge Warns Group of New Citizens

Many new Canadians who take the oath of allegiance to Canada do not mean what they say, Judge J. B. Clearhue said here today in administering the oath in the courthouse to 22 persons from 12 countries.

"They are not prepared" to renounce countries of origin, he said, and the oath of allegiance to Canada "is taken too lightly."

Certain things had happened that convinced him of this, he said, such as the recent arrival in Vancouver of a giant Russian plane.

"Russian-Canadians met this plane, clad in national costumes, and bowed to the pilot. These Canadians were expressing loyalty to Russia in no uncertain terms."

For those who took part in this Vancouver ceremony, the oath of allegiance is "worthless" the judge declared.

He added that "only a few months ago" the Dutch settlers in Canada did the same thing in "flocking" to honor Prince Bernhard.

"I wish more of you," he told the group, "would join Canadian societies rather than nationalistic societies which tend to preserve native customs and loyalties to native countries."

COULD BE CALLED UP

Judge Clearhue explained that by taking the oath of allegiance to Canada, those present could be called upon in an emergency to fight even brothers and sisters in the native land.

Those taking the oath were Mrs. Pauline J. Beauchemin, 1175 Turner; Mrs. Margaret Bohlscheid, 619 Nelson; Mrs. Agnes Bouz, 1014 Park; Svend W. L. Christensen, 462 Goward; Vincent Chu, 1806 Government; Paul Chin, 1051 Queens; Irena Janik, 433 Quebec; Arnold Larsen and Inga Larsen, 1528 Elford; Leonardus and Elizabeth Notenboom, 1957 Fairfield; Mrs. Gemma Simmeoni, 2509 Prior.

Mrs. Hertha Hermine von Barloewen, 1551 Brooke; Antonius H. van de Mortel and Johanna T. van de Mortel, 2951 Cooke; Pieter and Aartze Schoeman, 1411 Mitchell; Rolf L. Stebeck, 1430 Pembroke; Mrs. Magdalena Turje, 3836 Wilkinson; Conrad J. Cervin, 270 Homer; Romain L. Verbeke, 1407 Fort, and Cornelius De Jong, HMCS Crescent.

PM Asks Retraction of Strike Words

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today took exception to a Commons remark that he had "deliberately contorted" a question put to him about the possibility of compulsory arbitration in the Canadian Pacific Steamship strike in B.C.

He was not a man of "eggshell sensibility," he told the House, but he thought that Frank Howard CCF-Skeena should be made to withdraw the words.

NEW YORK (AP)—A fairly strong earthquake occurring 6,200 miles from here in an undetermined direction was recorded Thursday by the Fortham University seismograph.

Army Deserts to Yemen With Treasury

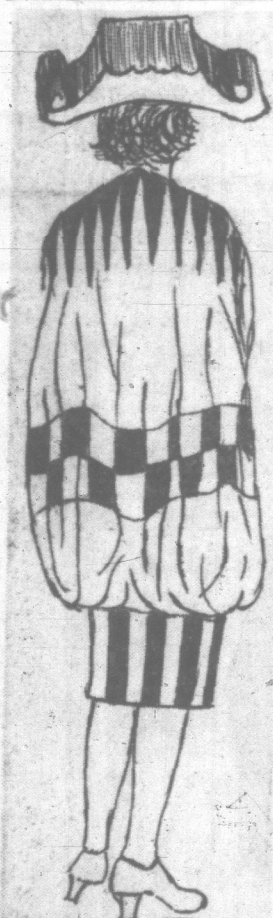

ADEN (UPI)—The Lahej state regular army of 600 officers and men has deserted to the Yemen, it was reported here today. Reports said the army had deserted complete with its equipment, and 100,000 pounds (sterling)—from the Lahej state treasury.

16th Body Found Beneath Bridge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fire department skindivers have recovered a 16th body from the wreckage of the Second Narrows Bridge here. It was identified as that of Rudolph Holz, 25, who came to Canada four years ago from Judenburg, Austria.

Women's Favorites Win at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (CP)—Defending champion Althea Gibson and her most dangerous rival, Britain's Christine Truman, advanced today to the fourth round of the Wimbledon tennis championships. Althea beat Mexico's Yolanda Ramirez 9-7, 6-2, while Miss Truman defeated Jill Rook, 6-3, 6-1.

Lackadaisical Balloons Set Fashion Trend

Interest in Victoria's centennial balloons is ballooning... even if the balloons aren't.

Wednesday the Times launched a contest asking for suggestions from citizens on what to do with the mainly deflated street decorations which were purchased through B.C. house in London for $6,000 plus cost of transportation here, and of putting, and keeping, them up.

City merchants footed the bill. First entry in the Times contest was from Lorne Elves, 737 Bank Street, who has a keen eye for current fashions, and believes one picture does the work of 10,000 words—as his drawing above indicates.

On the more serious side of the ledger, Greater Victoria centennial committee will meet tonight to decide the fate of the

Forest Travel Ban Likely Lifted Today

It is almost certain a travel ban in the Vancouver Forest District will be lifted later today or Friday, a government forestry official said at noon.

"The situation looks hopeful. If the overcast continues, travel restrictions will almost certainly be removed. Restricted industrial closure is expected to remain in effect, however," he stated.

The industrial restrictions require that men may only be employed in forest industries in the woods between midnight and 1 p.m. daily.

Vancouver Island and Vancouver Forest District generally has had 48 hours of scattered rain. Both Comox Logging Company and MacMillan and Bloedel have returned all but a few of their logging crews back to work on the early shift.

There are still eight fires burning in the Vancouver Fire District, including a new one in the Fraser Valley which was started by lightning, but all are under control. The largest fire, at Gold River on the Island, is reported "quiet" and the sky overcast in the vicinity.

Prince George Fire District, most seriously hit by forest fires this year, received a slight amount of aid from scattered light rains. Fairly heavy rains fell in the Lower Post region near the Yukon border but the major blaze in that area is still uncontrolled on three sides.

Defence Lawyers Launch New Bid To Quash Charges

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—"Fire when ready," said Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson at noon today to start four days of legal argument on whether the Sommers case should be thrown out.

The debate, involving two alternative moves by the defence to quash the charges or dismiss the case for want of evidence, started after Judge Wilson ruled that 24 amended counts alleging specific acts of bribery would stand. A count of conspiracy was upheld Wednesday.

Jurors were excused until 11 a.m. Thursday next week as the debate was expected to run through today, Friday, Monday and Wednesday. However, jurors were told they could listen in if they wished. None stayed.

In today's ruling on the amended counts, Judge Wilson held that the switch from the new Criminal Code to the old one, in effect at the time of the alleged offences, was permissible.

The old code carried a two-year time limit which defence counsel argued Wednesday barred the Crown from making the amendments because the time already had elapsed.

In a written ruling, Judge Wilson agreed with the prosecution contention that the time limit was a matter of procedure only—that is, it governed the method of presenting the case and had no effect on the substance (or guilt and innocence) of the case.

"I can see no answer to the arguments of Crown counsel. Therefore all amendments asked for by the Crown are allowed," the ruling said.

Valid Under New Criminal Code

It continued that the transition section of the new code, which carries no time limits, was applicable.

"The procedural law created by the new code shall govern. The substantive law remains intact, the procedural is altered."

In verbal comments, Judge Wilson said he would be willing to reconsider his ruling if necessary at a later time. He also told the jury that the switch made no change in the evidence presented during the trial, now in its 32nd day.

"This is one ruling that I have made in this trial which, though I am compelled by the law, I do not like," he said as the written ruling was distributed among lawyers.

"But I am not afraid to reverse myself and it in the later stages of this trial I see some aspect that affects it and I am wrong I will say so."

"I am not, apologizing. I am bound by the law."

Willing to Reconsider Ruling

Judge Wilson said he had no doubts that his ruling was the correct one "but it is the sort of thing that I am willing to reconsider if necessary."

After a 10-minute adjournment, Crown prosecutor Victor Dryer formally closed his case against defendants Robert Sommers, John and H. W. Gray, Charles Schultz, B.C. Forest Products Ltd., C. D. Schultz Ltd., Pacific Coast Services and Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd.

All four accused men read the written ruling avidly and returned to the dock with expressionless faces.

Addressing the jury to explain what happened as a result of a day-long legal debate Wednesday which the jurors missed at their own wish, Judge Wilson said the original charges were "wrongly laid" under the new code.

"The present condition is this: although we are confronted with new charges, all the evidence you have heard so far is still applicable."

"These new charges are like the original charges, substantially charges of corruption and bribery."

"Insofar as you are concerned, it makes little difference because all the evidence you have heard is relevant."

(From Times News Service)

WASHINGTON—The United States informed Russia today that so far as the Western allies are concerned the projected July 1 conference at Geneva on nuclear tests detection problems "will proceed as agreed."

A note delivered on orders of President Eisenhower also advised the Soviet government—following Wednesday's Russian turnabout—that "the United States considers the aims of the conference" to be precisely what Moscow and Washington already have agreed on.

The U.S. note was delivered by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow today.

Releasing the text here, state department spokesman Lincoln

White announced that the U.S. delegates for the Geneva conference were leaving from New York for Geneva in mid-afternoon.

NEW LEBANON BATTLE

Rebels May Hit Before UN Acts

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Cairo Radio reported today that "strong" rebel forces were marching on the port city of Tripoli and the Lebanese government braced itself for fierce new attacks before the United Nations can act in the current crisis.

(The Associated Press reported today that hard fighting raged for four hours in Tripoli and at least six persons were killed and 20 injured.)

Shooting broke out late Wednesday between the rebels and the army on the edges of Beirut's rebel-held Basta quarter just a few hours after UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld took off for New York and meetings with the Security Council.

Government sources expressed fear the rebel attacks were simply a test of army strength, perhaps for larger attacks later. They said the rebel offensive against pro-Western President Camille Chamoun could come today, start of the Moslem feast of Abha.

Cairo broadcasts said two anti-government units were on the move toward Tripoli—where the anti-government movement began nearly two months ago—and that they were meeting with no resistance. It quoted rebel leader Rashid Karami in Tripoli as saying "final victory is at hand."

Rebel forces in Tripoli have demanded the surrender of the American hospital there, but George Azar, a Lebanese doctor on duty there, said it would not be given up. All Americans have left, but 15 soldiers are on guard.

Bank Bandits Get $12,000 At Terrace

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Two young men held up a Royal Bank of Canada branch here today and escaped with an estimated $12,000.

RCMP said they believed the bandits were hiding out in a heavily wooded area about three-quarters of a mile south of this northern B.C. city.

A posse was searching the area and a private airplane flew overhead in hopes of spotting the wanted men.

The men were reported to have smashed a rear window to escape from the bank after obtaining the money. They then fled on foot down an alley and across the Canadian National Railway tracks to the wooded area.

Citizens and members of the Terrace volunteer fire department joined RCMP in forming a posse which quickly went in pursuit of the holdup men. They were reported to have found a revolver in the area being searched.

Little Rock Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today was asked to hold a special session to rule on a lower court order delaying school integration in Little Rock, Ark., for 2½ years.

Bandit Flees Scene In Boat

A lone gunman escaped with $1,200 in cash early today after a brazen holdup at Kelsey Bay, 50 miles north of Campbell River, according to reports relayed to RCMP headquarters here this afternoon.

Victim of the holdup was Len Harding, proprietor of the Salmon River Hotel, who was cleaning up the beer parlor of the hotel when he was accosted at 12:30 a.m.

The man, about five feet, eight inches tall and dark of complexion, ordered Harding to "hand over the cash." He was carrying what was believed to be a .38 calibre gun.

RCMP said the man was a guest at the lodge and that his description is known. It is presumed he made good his escape by boat, but a land and air search is under way. A police tracking dog from Parksville also is being used in the search.

Police from Campbell River detachment and Victoria headquarters are taking part in the investigation.

82 Per Cent Of Loggers Vote Strike

A strike that would tie up B.C.'s big coast forest industry would be a step closer today when it was announced International Woodworkers of America members have voted 82 per cent in favor of strike action in a union-taken vote.

Next step will be a government-supervised strike vote under the Labor Relations Act which will start Friday.

The union vote empowers the executive to call a strike if negotiations with the lumber operators are not reopened.

The IWA has rejected a conciliation board majority report recommending against a any wage increase this year.

The vote in Victoria local 1-118 was 92 per cent in favor of striking if necessary.

Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., bargaining body for the employers, today warned it would not back down.

Boats Hunt Lost Diver

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of three skin divers searching the scene of the June 17 collapse of the new Second Narrows Bridge was missing today and feared drowned. Identity of the man was not disclosed.

The frogmen were searching for the bodies of two of the 18 victims of the collapse of the partially completed bridge when one of them failed to surface on schedule at 11:30 a.m.

Tugs and other boats immediately began a search of the water east of the bridge, and an RCAF search-and-rescue unit dispatched an Otter aircraft to the scene.

The plane spotted a rubber diving suit of the type used by the frogmen in the water east of the bridge wreckage, but it was not immediately known if it was the missing man.

Baby Twisters Slap Ontario

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two pocket tornadoes crashed into two towns in the Windsor district Wednesday. There were no injuries, but damage was counted in the hundreds of thousands.

The first hit La Salle, eight miles southwest of here, in early afternoon. Hundreds watched it tear up trees, toss roofs about and damage greenhouses.

The second struck later at Leamington, 34 miles southeast of here, and caused damage of more than $50,000 to one of the largest groups of greenhouses in Canada.

Torrential rains and 65-mile-an-hour winds that accompanied the twisters were believed to have caused heavy crop damage, but no official estimates were made.

Sam Shostack, owner of the Leamington greenhouses, said half the roof of a service station smashed through nine of his 21 greenhouses. Others were damaged by hail. The remaining half of the roof landed in a cemetery adjoining his property.

The La Salle tornado capsized several boats, felled trees and threw one boat the equivalent of three city blocks. One resident said the boat was hurled over a house before it crashed down on Highway 18.

The town, despite memories of a tornado which on June 17, 1946, killed 17, injured an equal number and did millions of dollars damage, took the tornado in its stride.

School children were ordered into basements. Those on the streets hurried into shops.

A number of residents in streets and cars fled to ditches when they saw the three-pronged twister, but civil defence authorities said most remained calm.

Only one prong touched the ground. It curved out from the Detroit River and back again, skipping at rooftop level over the town's outskirts.

preparations for East-West talks in Geneva next week on policing a nuclear test ban despite Soviet threats to withdraw, a foreign office spokesman said in London.

The spokesman said the talks are "necessary, and we want them to be successful."

And Gen. Charles de Gaulle's government has also decided to send technical experts to the talks.

Meanwhile, informed diplomats believed today that objections by Red China may have forced Russia's sudden withdrawal from the conference.

Today, the Soviet Union loosed a new blast, accusing the United Nations of being a tool in the hands of the United States and an organization that merely recorded passive events.

The attack strengthened Western fears the cold war had entered a new phase with the tactics of the late Josef Stalin taking over again in international diplomacy.

Speculation that Red China had objected strenuously to the Geneva meeting arose partly because Red China had not been invited to participate in the conference.

An FIR bulletin issued to all workers states:

"Not in any way as a threat, but as a simple statement of fact to which you as an employee are entitled, the industry wants you to know that it will stand by the recommendations of the board."

"Therefore a strike vote this year will not strengthen your negotiating committee to carry on last-minute bargaining."

The bulletin was released today by J. M. Billings, FIR president at Vancouver.

The forest operators' letter was described today by Fred Fieber, secretary of the union's district policy committee, as an attempt to "stampede" the woodworkers into refusing to strike.

Mr. Fieber said it indicated the employers are "shaking a big stick" at the IWA.

Strike action would mean work stoppage by 28,000 coast lumber workers. The union has asked a 10 per cent wage increase. Basic rate now is $1.72 an hour.

decorations, which are often down even when they are up.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today he favored selling them, because repairs would cost too much money.

He said city engineer J. C. Garnett informed him it would cost $5,000 to buy new bladders to keep them inflated, and that it would take 45 days to deliver them.

"They would get here too late for the visit of Princess Margaret," the mayor said. "I'm told there is a party interested in buying the balloons," he added. "More suitable decorations could be bought with the money."

Mr. Garnett said the present bladders are too thin to stand the heat of the sun.

But Cyril Cliff, 1561 Burnside Road, believes he has a constructive solution to the problem.

"If they are inflated with helium gas instead of air, the balloons won't go down," he said today.

"Helium is taken from the sun, and the sun, in some mysterious manner, can't have any effect on itself."

The Times' Contest, incidentally, is still open. It is hoped the first prize for the best balloon suggestion will be, of course, a balloon—if the committee can donate one.

Death Sentence

BARRINGTON, N.S. (UPI)—Robert Boudreau, 16, today was convicted and sentenced to be hanged Sept. 4 for the murder of Wilfred Crouse Jr., March 14, Saturday.

17-year-old Eugene Blades was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on the same date for his part in the slaying.

Israel-Syria Clash

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—An Israeli patrol and a group of Syrians exchanged fire near the Dan settlement in northeast Israel, an Israeli spokesman said today. One Israeli was reported slightly wounded.

SOMMERS

Allowing the jurors the option of leaving until Thursday, Judge Wilson told them, "I'm sure you are wondering when this will be over."

"I'm doing my best. I'm sorry for you but you also might be sorry for me because I am not having any holiday."

Turning to defence counsel after the jury filed out, Judge Wilson said "Fire when ready."

Angelo Branca, counsel for Sommers, was the first to launch a motion to quash the case on the grounds of a defective charge.

Earlier, defence counsel had indicated their stand will be that under the old code section, the bribery charges can only be preferred in the case of a government "official" or employee. Defence lawyers have suggested this did not cover Sommers as the former lands and forests minister.

After disposal of the argument on the motion to quash (if it is rejected by Judge Wilson), the defence lawyers will take another legal tack open to them on closing of the Crown's case.

"This is a motion to dismiss all or some of the counts on the grounds of insufficient evidence. In effect, the argument will be that the case should be taken away from the jury and dismissed by the bench because there is no evidence of an offence."

REBELS

hospital in a brief fight Wednesday night. No one was hurt.

Other major Lebanese developments:

• The U.S. Sixth Fleet, fully manned and 50 per cent above normal strength, was believed poised to supply the initial American portion of any UN military force sent into Lebanon. The fleet, which now has three aircraft carriers, has an amphibious force of 3,500 marines.

• The Soviet Union stepped up its propaganda campaign against U.S. "intervention" and called it "part of a broad plan for complicating the international situation by interfering in the internal affairs of other countries and attacking the national liberation movements of the Afro-Asian peoples."

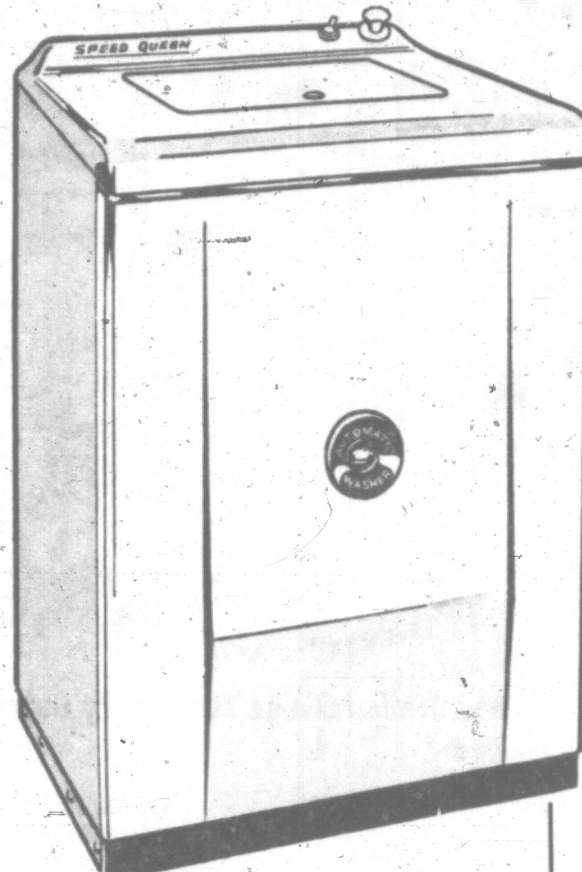

• The British government was reported keeping open the possibility of British military intervention in Lebanon if the Chamoun government requests it. Such help would be given only under the United Nations charter. Britain has 6,000 paratroops on Cyprus.

• The U.S. state department said it expected the United Nations to succeed in preserving Lebanon's independence but refused to say what would happen if the UN failed. A spokesman brushed aside suggestions that sending in a UN police force would amount to "aggression."
